THE SCHOOL AND THE CITY

FOREWORD

The school and the city are two interrelated elements in society. Although the school is the background of a student's thoughts and activities, it is only a part of the city. The city, on the other hand, represents one's entire environment. It includes homes, churches, factories, libraries, museums, schools, parks, theaters. The school's main function is to teach students to live in and to take charge of the city.

Because of this function, the city is dependent upon the school. From schools come future citizens of the city with whatever knowledge, ambitions, and ideas they have accumulated during their school life. A city can be only as good as the students who graduate from its schools.

Recognizing the importance of the relationship between the school and the city, the Kyote Annual Staff illustrates the affinity between the two through the pages of this book.

The Kyote Portrays BHS

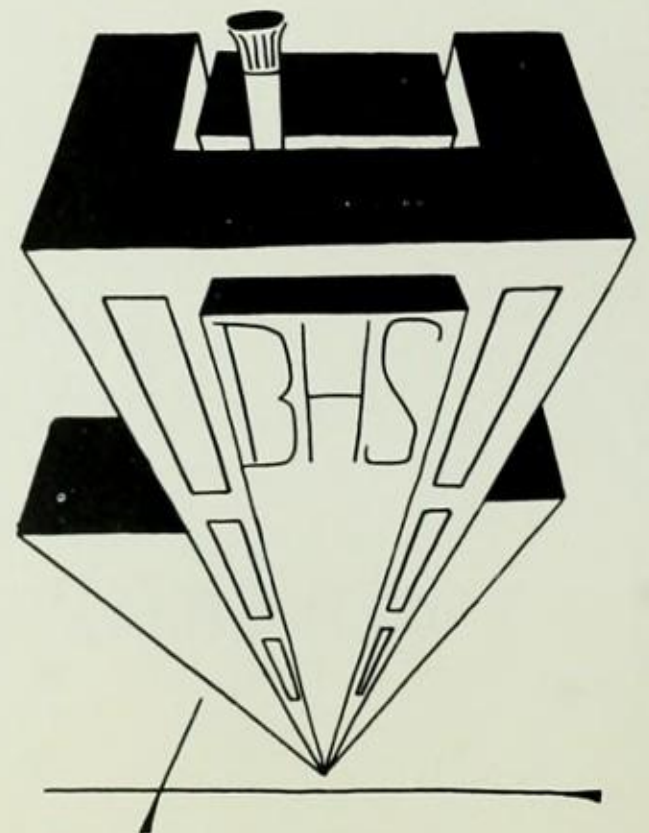

This walk is used by almost every student at BHS. Mornings, majorettes run to practice. Friday nights, boisterous groups amble along on their way to a basketball game. On special evenings, couples stroll up the walk to attend a dance. These students will someday cross this pavement for the last time --- some quickly, some slowly; but all regretfully, for they will never return.

This is the school. On some days things run smoothly. A student gets 100 on a chapter test, or an "A" on a report he whipped up the night before. His English class, the only class for which he did not do his homework, has a movie; and the teacher says, "Same assignment for tomorrow." He has no homework or meetings one night, so he can go for a walk in the park, watch TV, or rummage through the attic.

But on other days, everything goes wrong. In biology class, tenderly clipping a frog's liver loose, the student rips it. In band, he hits a sour note while playing a solo. He leaves math papers and civics books at home. He forgets his lunch on the sauerkraut-and-leftover-stew day in the cafeteria.

Daily events blend with seasonal changes in forming a picture of school life. In autumn, students scuffle through dry leaves on their way round from school. Every window on the third floor frames billows of orange tree-tops under a blue, cloud-ridden sky. In winter, students sweater in the over-heated school while the 10° cold probes at windows and doors. In spring, hikes and bike rides replace skiing and basketball. In summer, there is no school life, for most students scatter and become a part of the life of the city.

The Kyote Portrays Billings

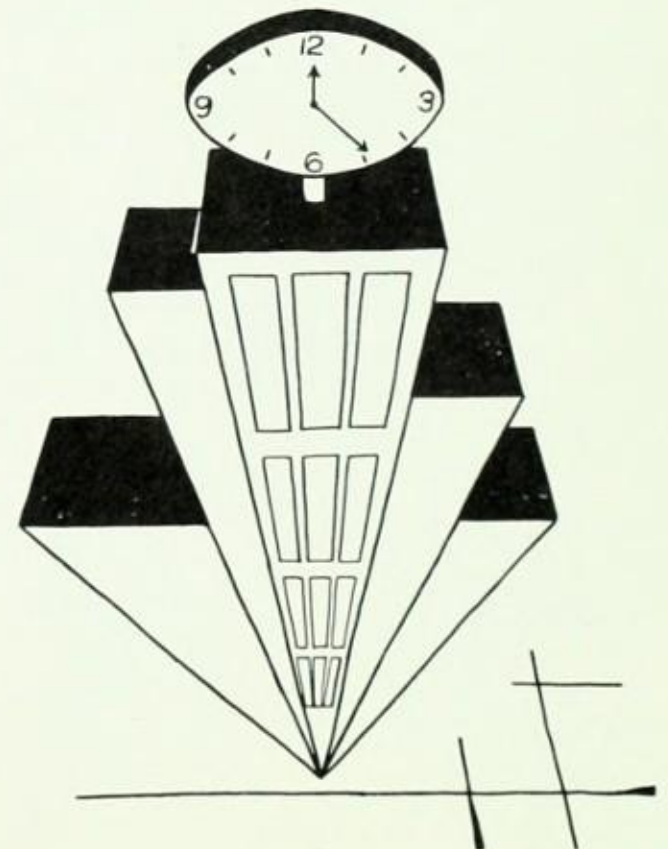

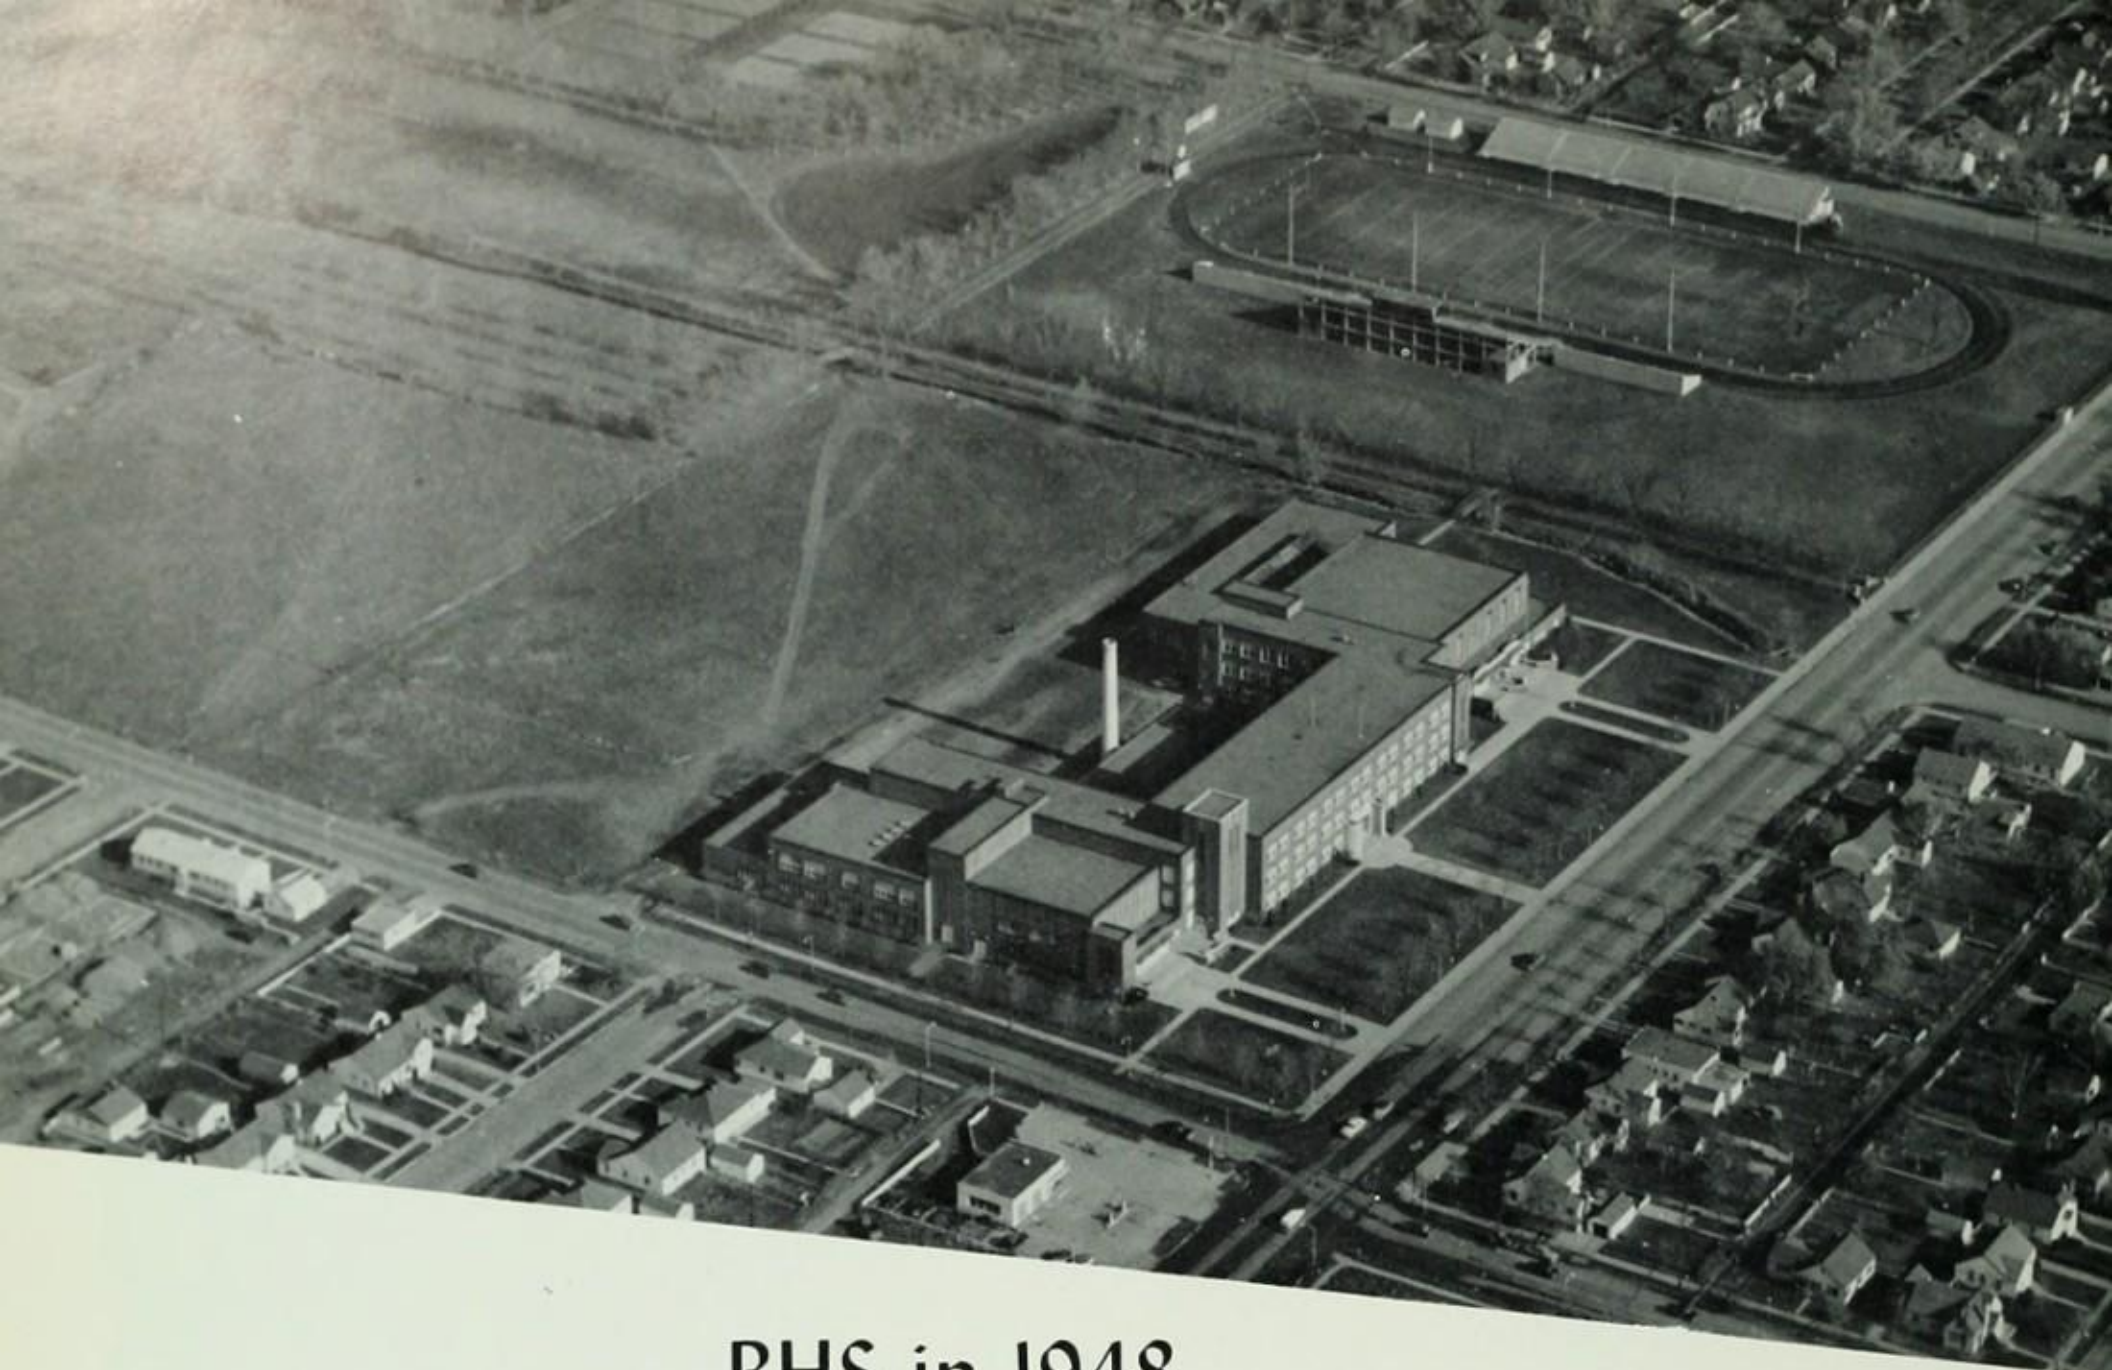

The Parmly Billings Library, the second largest library in Montana, serves students from colleges, high schools, and junior high schools, as well as adults living in Billings and the surrounding area. If you are an ambitious person, why not read all the books in the library? The librarians have estimated that it would take 239 years, 3 months and 14 days if you read one book a day.

This is the city. We notice many scenes other than the ones pictured on these pages --- bits of paper scuttling across sidewalks, lumbering buses roaring around corners and screeching protestingly at stoplights. In fall, young boys in football uniforms flash by on well-worn bikes from Little Guy scrimmage. Black branches, veining clouds of orange and red leaves, arch over Poly Drive. In winter, cars creep cautiously up the icy Grand Avenue Hill. Red-nosed children, padded in layers of wool, fly down the hills of Pioneer Park. The weather tower above the Midland Bank flashes white against a gloomy sky. In spring, the sun coats the ground with mud, frosts the trees with a film of green, and fills the gutters with slush. Daffodils bloom in store windows. Men with trucks clog the streets as they fill chuck holes and repaint stripes. In summer, hopscotch patterns cover sidewalks and driveways. Little girls carry jump ropes and boys' pockets bulge with marbles. The city looks, from the rims, like a green froth of tree-tops with glimpses of roofs or white walls peeping through.

Time passes in the city; houses and swimming pools replace grasshopper and weed-filled empty lots. Mailmen putt from house to house in miniature trucks with handlebars instead of steering wheels. The city itself creeps up the rims, advances farther into the farmlands on the west, and moves a little closer to the Yellowstone River. This pattern of changing scenes and new developments is a part of the life of the city and of our lives.

BHS in 1948

In many ways the school in 1948 differed little from the school today. Physically, of course, the school has changed. The annex has been built; trees and shrubs have grown; families have built houses closer to the school; murals cover part of the school walls; desks display newer, smoother surfaces; a few more scuff marks and dents scar the floors; indentations in the stairs are worn deeper. There are different organizations and activities, more subjects, new teachers.

Basically, however, the school remains unchanged. The fundamental function of the school endures --- that of education. Today's students resemble the students of 1948: some like to study, some are preoccupied with sports, some are concerned only with clothes or dates. School language clubs, service clubs, and music and dramatics departments are as active now as in 1948. Through the Broncs and intramurals, the school still plays football and basketball, still participates in track, still carries on its wrestling program. Physical changes brought about by the passage of time have not affected the heart of the school.

Dear Mo -

I'm signing this under BHS in 1948 because sometime I'm sure we've been it since '48! Hub!

We've done mucho things this year - some of which I won't mention -

Mo dear - I always remember as the Two Biggest Old Maids in the Class of 03. Right.

I guess the good old days are gone - when we could have crushes on central boys - have parties at Big Rans house - get in trouble. But we did win the trophy - we did have a wonderful time and I'll be seeing you Senior week. OK?

Love,
Diane

ACTIVITIES

The city forms an opinion of the school and its students from what the citizens of the city know about that school's activities. Much of what it does know is learned through extracurricular affairs --- dances, speech meets, band and orchestra concerts, B-Day, Project X, majorette half-times, plays.

Although activities are not the most vital part of school life, they play an important role because they present the school to the community. Represented on the pages that follow are some of the important school events of the year.

A Sophomore Comes to BHS

Each fall a new class of sophomores apprehensively enters the doors of Senior High. This year there were 617 sophomores, most of whom felt bewildered and strange. Only three months before, these newcomers had been "top dogs," respected and known by younger students. With the arrival of September 4, they lost their status and became unknown quantities. Few of them knew any juniors or seniors. Few of them, in fact, knew very many sophomores. But as the year progressed, they enlarged their circles of friends and acquaintances, gained confidence, showed their worth, and matured into the juniors of 1963-64.

A sophomore must know where she is going. Jean Cochrane consults the chart posted on the doors at the main entrance.

Before school begins in the fall, she shops for essential school supplies.

She buys the new school clothes she will need for her sophomore year.

She adds a few non-essential items to her shopping list.

After school starts, there may not be time for this kind of fun.

She might be discussing teachers or first-day-of-school clothes or planning another shopping trip.

The Quiet Before

Majorette practice is one of many ways in which students prepare for school. Boys are already out for football; musicians are tuning up their instruments.

This is the first day of school --- probably the last day of no books, no problems.

Jean tries the Deca Store for supplies.

She'll never get her schedule changed at this rate.

The Scene Changes

This will be her home for three years. It does look kind of small.

That first day is always confusing.

The mosaic and the student are both new --- the fountain isn't.

Advise

Meet Mrs. Hutton, Dean of Girls---confidante, unofficial nurse, and advisor of every girl at Senior High. She bandages scrapes, takes temperatures, and recommends ointments for poison ivy. She provides needles and thread for girls with split seams or dangling hems. She listens to problems and gives advice. She reprimands girls who cut classes or skip school. She is the person girls come to when they are tired, sick, depressed, discouraged, elated, or when they just feel like talking. She's the right person for a girl to know.

Mrs. Hutton and Cheryl Schock might be discussing personal, school, or world problems.

This is a familiar pose. Don't let that expression of innocent belief fool you. She knows what you're thinking.

She's always busy --- checking records, typing, talking over a problem with one of her girls.

Mrs. Hutton's office is a popular meeting place during lunch or other free periods.

And Consent

This is Mr. Nash, friend, critic, and advisor of the boys of BHS. Mr. Nash understands when a fellow's car breaks down and makes him late for school, or when it is absolutely necessary for a boy to go hunting. His office is usually decorated with boys lounging in the chairs facing his desk or standing in the doorway. He answers their questions, discusses their problems, gives them advice. That's his job.

Boys aren't the only people who stop in to visit Mr. Nash. Betsy Brown brings a memo from the office.

The expression on Gari Coatsworth's face denotes a problem. Mr. Nash will probably help him solve it.

Meet Mr. Nash. He's the man with the answers.

"Let's see ... Your excuse says you've been sick. Weren't you at the game last night?"

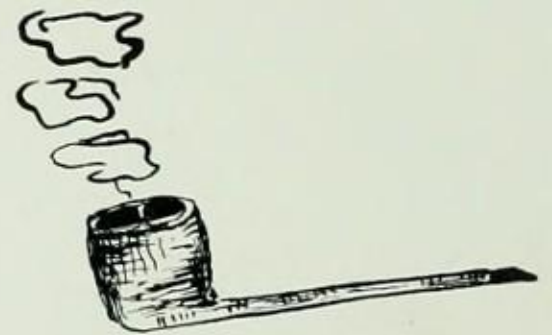

"The Black Hole of Calcutta"

By Betty Hartung

There is a door, an ordinary door, that few students notice as they walk the halls of BHS. Some look at it, shrug their shoulders, and then walk off. Others who are more curious take a peek inside; then they, too, walk on, laughing to one another as though they'd seen something extremely humorous. Still others just stand there and say, "I'll go in if you will." But no one will make the first move.

This particular door is between the Main Office and the office of the Dean of Girls. Because the door is not very important to students, they have no reason for entering it. But if you would like to know what is behind the door, the Kyote will take you on an exclusive tour. The following are directions for the tour.

Upon entering, turn to your right (unless you prefer climbing the ladder propped against the wall) and descend a flight of steep, narrow stairs. The room you are now in is full of generators and pipes. Most of the pipes are covered with white insulation which is turning yellow near the edges. The ceiling is a mass of pipes going in all directions. Reflected on the floor are red lights from a hidden control panel. Flung over the pipes, dust mops hang limp and lifeless as though they will never be used again.

Following the main pipe, pass through a long hall and enter the boiler room. Scattered around the tank are a number of antique chairs. Only one ash-tray can be seen. Notice the sign that reads, "Ash trays are for ashes; we walk on our floors!" Men teachers are lounging, talking with other teachers, or relaxing and smoking a cigarette.

Observe quietly and reverently. This is the men's faculty lounge.

These six are the "upper echelon" of BHS. They are the ones who send out the call slips, who decide whether an absence should be excused, who tell a student whether or not he can graduate. Mr. Bills and Mrs. Peters (third from right), guidance counselors, keep records of each student's tests, interests, abilities. They can recommend suitable courses of study, give advice for futures. Mrs. Hutton, dean of girls, and Mr. Nash (second from right), dean of boys, watch the performances of all BHS students and try to keep them working up to but not over their capacities. Mr. Borberg, principal, makes the final decision, within the school, on matters of school policy. Mr. Collins, assistant principal, organizes schedules and effects schedule changes.

Curriculum Plays Vital Part

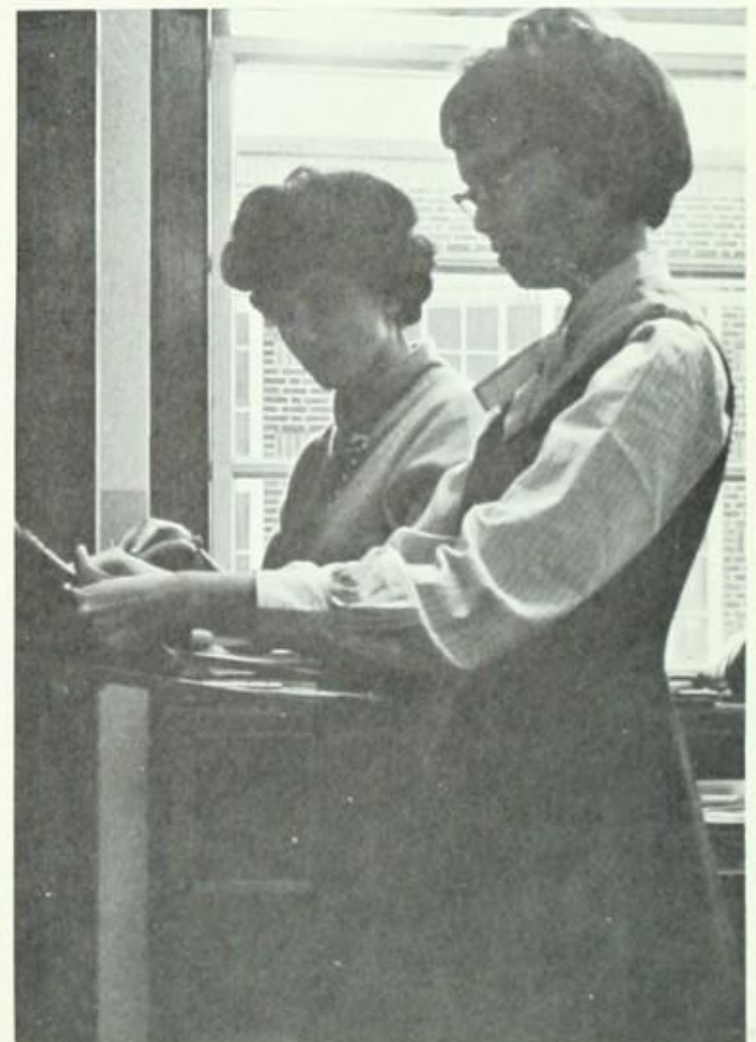

By Karen Johnson

To graduate, every BHS student must meet certain requirements. He must have earned a minimum of seventeen credits in grades nine through twelve--at least thirteen credits in grades nine, ten, and eleven, and four credits in grade twelve. He must have four credits in English, one in American history, one in civics, one in physical education and health, two in math, one in science.

Otherwise, his selection of subjects is left primarily to his interests and to his parents' or counselors' advice. He may decide to concentrate on math and science; he may take all the history courses available. Perhaps he enjoys bookkeeping or has a natural ability for woodworking or machines. Whatever he decides, he is expected to leave high school prepared for the future, whether that future is in college or in a job, and prepared to accept his responsibilities as a citizen.

This could be almost any one of the approximately fifty classes at BHS in any period of the school day.

Celie Freeman and Georgine Mavrakis check the cards of students absent from school. The school files records of each student's schedule, grades, past record, character, home, and jobs. Advisors and counselors usually consult these files when asked to recommend a student for college or a job.

English is the only course required for four years. As ninth graders, students are supposed to learn grammar fundamentals and read a few short stories and well-known epics such as the ILIAD or the ODYSSEY. As tenth graders, they should concentrate on modern literature--lyric poetry, plays, short stories, at least one novel--and practice writing and public speaking. When they reach their junior year, they study American literature for one semester, review and refinement of grammar and usage for the other. In their senior year, students are required to review "utilitarian writing," such as business letters and news reports, write a term paper, study English literature. Here, one of Mr. Nesbit's classes reads William Shakespeare's MACBETH in class.

Required and . . .

American history and civics are the only required history and social studies courses. Students may, however, take World history, Montana history, and Modern World history. By taking all available courses, a student should theoretically cover ancient European history through the Middle Ages through the Age of Enlightenment through Colonial American times up to present-day political and economic problems. At left, civics students work on 1040 income tax forms in conjunction with their unit on government.

Gym classes go through calisthenics and physical fitness tests before regular sessions. This half-credit course is required for all sophomores, who learn health concepts and the rules and histories of such sports as basketball, baseball, badminton, and volleyball.

Most students select general science to fulfill the one-credit science requirement. Many go on into biology. In biology, amateur scientists study the divisions of plant and animal life through books, lectures, microscopes, and dissection. Students learn about cell construction and functioning and the progression from amoeba to human body. Below, Marlin Powell studies a slide showing lung tissue.

Jim Stordahl shapes a wooden bowl during woodshop, one of the vocational classes at BHS. Other such classes include machine shop, vocational agriculture, work experience.

Elective Classes

Classes listed as "activities" form a vital part of school life. Library, band, orchestra, chorus, AVA, office work, journalism, majorettes are all activities, although many students spend more time on them than on regular homework. For this reason, a student is limited to one activity a year and can count no more than three credits earned in activities toward graduation. Students in these activities are responsible for the smooth production of THE MUSIC MAN and for the publication of the Kyote paper and annual.

Art student Larry Gonzales works with slate. Art classes study art history, design, composition and learn to apply techniques of painting and drawing.

Physics, chemistry, biology, and physical science comprise the science department at Senior High. In chemistry, a student can study the nature of matter and the changes it undergoes, conducting experiments to discover chemical composition of a substance or to alter the composition. Physical science does not fulfill college entrance requirements, but offers an introduction to astronomy, geology, chemistry, and physics. Physics is a laboratory course which emphasizes a mathematical application to mechanics, sound, heat, light, electricity, and electromagnetic radiations. Students have the opportunity to visit the atomic reactor plant in Arco, Idaho. Above, Bob Everson and Fred Dunn determine resultant forces in physics class.

A Capella (above), "honor society" of the choirs, rehearses "Seventy-six Trombones" from THE MUSIC MAN. (Below), band members go over music for their tournament halftime performance. Members of the music department spend hours in and outside of school practicing for special performances.

Homecoming Royalty Crowned

The royal couple, Betsy Brown and Charlie Price, parade down the red carpet to their thrones to reign for one homecoming evening.

B-Day was ushered in with the election of Queen Betsy Brown and King Charles Price. Queen Candidates, selected by Lettermen's Club, were Miss Brown, Linda Eames, Phyllis Fair, Liza Hart, and Sue Marquardt. King candidates, nominated by Pep Club, were Dick Brickley, Pete Egge, Steve Hudgens, Rick Neill, and Price.

The candidates were announced at the B-Day Pep assembly, November 1, and were voted on during third period of the same day.

At the dance, November 2, tension mounted when M.C. Burley Packwood asked that the floor be cleared. The candidates were escorted by members of Pep and Lettermen's Clubs to positions next to the throne. As soon as Burley announced the results of the voting, Queen Betsy and King Charles were crowned by their escorts, Steve Randak and Diane Leach. Although the king had some trouble keeping the royal crown on his head, most spectators felt that the ceremony ran smoothly.

BHS Parades

Z Club's float won first place and fifty dollars. The money was donated by Pep Club.

The 1962 B-Day parade began Saturday morning, November 3. The day, unlike many in the past, was warm and sunny. A large crowd, including many people with cameras, watched the parade.

Z Club won fifty dollars for the best float; AK came in second.

For many, the B-Day parade began weeks before the actual event in unheated garages and warehouses. It was a long and tedious task transforming a common, ugly truck into a beautiful and unique float. The first step was to decide upon the theme and to plan the layout of the float in detail. After the design had been approved, construction started with the erection of a rough wooden frame covered with chicken wire. The framework completed, students spent the week before the parade stuffing paper napkins into the chicken-wire forms. At last, the floats were driven to the staging area. At each float, someone had to trim a final piece of wire or insert a final napkin. Then the parade began and the weeks of work came to an end.

The parade was judged by a panel of businessmen. Results of the judging were announced during the homecoming game.

Kinetic Sponsors Christmas Formal

Couples danced from nine to midnight in the gym to the music of Art Pepper's Band.

White Christmas

Approximately 150 couples attended Kinetic's 1962-63 Christmas formal. They danced from nine until midnight to the music of Art Pepper's band. The theme of the dance was White Christmas and the decorations were green and white. Two large paper-napkin snowmen "greeted" couples at the door. Kinetic rented the false ceiling from Student Council, and used green and white crepe paper streamers to decorate the gym walls. During intermission, the BHS Sixteen-Voice Ensemble entertained couples with several Christmas songs. Judy Jeffers, chairman of the formal, asked Kathy Brastrup, Jane Jeffers, Georgine Cantrell, Donna Connor, and Laurie Cooper, ninth-graders at Lincoln, to serve refreshments. After the formal, Karyl Keup, president of Kinetic, reflected, "Although we had a difficult time with the last-minute decorating, the formal was quite successful." *

Under the direction of Mr. Wilson, BHS sales and work experience advisor, the BHS foyer is decorated every year. He has been in charge of this decorating since 1952. Originally, a 10-foot Christmas tree was erected. However, the fire department declared the trees a fire hazard, and the school board ruled that Christmas lights could not be used for decoration in the school. When these rulings were made, Christmas trees were abolished. Now Mr. Wilson is trying to collect permanent decorations so they can be used year after year. Rodney Dahlgren was chairman of the decoration committee.

BHS'ers Prepare for Christmas

Christmas decorations form steps which mount to Christmas spirit. KOB members displayed Christmas books in the main hall showcase (left, bottom). They also decorated the library. Many teachers hung wreaths on their doors and windows. Others decorated artificial Christmas trees. Still others combined school work and Christmas preparations in making attractive bulletin boards. To complement these decorations, some teachers read Christmas stories or poems. Language classes sang Christmas songs in foreign languages. In typing classes, students learned how to "type" pictures that depicted some aspect of Christmas.

Holiday Mood

Various choruses in the music department infused much of the Christmas spirit into BHS students with their practices, caroling in the halls, and Christmas Concert.

More than a month before Christmas vacation, chorus students started humming carols in the halls between classes. Classes near room 221-C heard choruses rehearsing their enunciation, harmony, rhythm. The last week before Christmas vacation, three choirs caroled through BHS halls during their chorus periods. But the main event of choral Christmas preparations was the Christmas Concert in which Concert Choir, Prep Chorus and A Capella Choir participated.

The concert presented many traditional arrangements and effects. A narrator, Steve Hudgens, read the Biblical Christmas story to tie the carols together. Special scenery and tableaux illustrated the songs. Choirs sang antiphonally, a group in the balcony echoing one on-stage. Alumni were asked to sing one number with the A Capella choir.

The most spectacular event of the program, however, was the Christmas tree formed by 56 A Capella choir members. Each student carried a pine bough and a blinking Christmas tree light and wore a gold garland around his neck.

Caroling Enlivens Christmas Spirit

A Capella choristers carol in BHS halls during third period. Concert Choir and Prep Chorus also sang through the halls during their own chorus periods on one day of the last week before Christmas vacation.

Mr. Brandvold leads Concert Choir members through one of their Christmas Concert numbers. The choir is a stepping-stone to membership in A Capella; students with ability and conscientiousness may here gain experience.

The pep assembly, sponsored by Student Council, for the West High basketball game on December 14 started off with a bang as mad scientist Ken Tolliver and announcer Steve Hudgens sent BHS students eleven hours into the future for the night's game (left). Three "West High cheerleaders" (above), Bob Borberg, Bob Greenleaf, and Lee Hurt, cheered the Yellow Bears to a spectacular defeat. Student Council also sponsored the West High exchange assembly. (Below right) Lana Richards and Drinda Drake practice their act just before trying out.

Student Council Sparks City,

The girls below wearing victory vests display results of just one Student Council project. Besides the vests, Student Council sold BHS sweatshirts, class pins, class rings, and Bronc decals. The council rented the false ceiling to clubs who wanted to camouflage the gym for special dances.

Student Council, however, did not spend the entire year playing salesman. It sponsored Open-House and the Welcome Ali dance during AFS Week in the fall. It presented four BHS PRESENTS radio programs, highlighting special school events (THE MUSIC MAN, B-Day, Christmas preparations). It originated the ideas for a snow-sculpture contest and a Spring Carnival. On the whole, students felt that this year's Student Council has been one of the most active in the school's history.

There's no percentage in bringing an apple to your teacher anymore—Student Council has a monopoly on that sort of thing with its Teacher Appreciation Day, a year-old tradition at BHS. The council started several new projects this year, too: a new ring design (above) which will be used for the next three years, or the Student Council bulletin board (left), displaying official minutes of the meetings and announcements or special advertisements.

School Events

President Burley Packwood called the meetings to order every first and third Tuesday, first period, in the auditorium. After Secretary Betsy Brown read the minutes, the council settled down to business. Committee chairmen reported on the progress of the point system or the winter carnival. Representatives requested clocks and new numbers on classroom doors for their homerooms, and asked why the cafeteria couldn't offer coke and coffee. Problems raised during the year varied from mandatory activity tickets to serving mustard with hot-dogs in the cafeteria.

Money-raising Jobs

Sponsor Miss Vandersloot, Bonnie Carpenter, and Marilyn Myhre survey their supply of pastries at the AK bake sale at West Park Plaza.

The sale was planned to pay for Miss Broncette expenses. The club made an unexpected profit of about $15.

Club projects--from special referendum elections to JO popcorn sales--make up most of the year's activities.

Elphadonk, after a request by Student Council, sponsored a referendum on mandatory activity tickets.

Junior Optimist popcorn and YKC programs add enjoyment to Bronc games.

Physics Club members traveled to Arco to visit the atomic reactor there.

BKC took on a do-it-yourself project; members refinished and re-numbered seats in the auditorium. The club also painted new numbers on classroom doors.

In addition clubs sponsored social activities such as Thespian's Project X and Z Club's AFS Follies and Mr. Preferred.

The clubs' main activities are money-raising projects which range from the traditional bake sale to handling the concessions at football and basketball games. Funds are used for operating expenses or donations to special funds, such as AFS and the Rick Hutton Fund.

Elphadonk is the political club at BHS. This year members conducted a special referendum on the mandatory activity ticket question. The club handles all the election activities at BHS.

Clubs Show Varied Activities

Physics Club took a bus trip to Arco to examine the reactors there. Visitors are only allowed on the Arco site on this special visitors' day.

BHS Brings River City to Billings

"We got trouble--right here in River City!" and "Professor" Harold Hill is just the one to capitalize on it. He proposes to replace the pool hall, a danger to the youth of River City, with a boys' band. He makes only one mistake. Harold falls in love with Marian, the spinster librarian. When the band does not appear after four weeks, the town becomes suspicious. Mayor Shinn has the "professor" arrested. But Harold is saved by Tommy Djilas's quick thinking and River City's Boys' Band makes its debut.

THE MUSIC MAN, which played February 7, 8, 9, 12, and 13, called for many scene changes. Art 12 was in charge of painting the sets that Mr. Elliot designed. Behind the scenes BHS students worked on costumes, dancing, make-up, ushering, props, and lighting. The efforts of about 170 people combined to make this play a success.

The play opens with traveling salesmen discussing business to the rhythm of their train. According to one, a town is no good once "Professor" Hill has been there. Charlie Cowell brags he'll fix Hill, not realizing Hill is on the train.

Marian, Mrs. Paroo, and Winthrop listen as Harold explains the evils of the pool table. Winthrop is one of the first to join the band which the "Professor" suggests. Being in the band helps Winthrop overcome his lisp. The children in the play were from Rose Park School. Mrs. Brandvold directed them and also worked on costuming.

The school board poses no problem for "Professor" Harold Hill. Although they bicker constantly, he forms them into a singing group, the School Board Four.

The mayor's wife, Lulie Shinn, is appointed chairman of the classic dance committee. Besides the "It's You" ballet, the ladies represent "two Grecian urns and a fountain."

Mayor Shinn opposes Harold's plan for the boys' band, partly because his pool hall suffers. But when Harold matches Zaneeta and Tommy, the mayor really takes a stand. He starts the chase that ends in Harold's capture.

Although the library was left to the town, Mr. Madison left the books to Marian. Because of this, the women of the town boycott the library. Marian ignores them and considers them uncultured.

"Professor" Harold Hill, the smooth-talking music salesman, convinces River City'ers they need a boys' band. Harold plans to skip town after all the money has been collected, but he stays and begins a new, respectable life.

"Yee, gods!" is Zaneeta's favorite saying. Combined with Tommy's "Geely Cly," it makes them a perfect pair.

All ends well for the town of River City. The band is formed, and the danger from the pool table ends. Harold is forgiven, and he and Marian find each other.

To make any play a success, there must be behind-the-scene workers. Here they apply make-up to the actors before the curtain goes up.

Behind scenes . . .

Hours of work by Mr. Elliot and Art 12 helped to create River City. Under Mr. Elliot's supervision, stage crew members apply the final touches to a flat.

THE MUSIC MAN could not have been presented by the dramatic or art department alone. The orchestra must provide the music. Although Mr. Young trains the orchestra, Mr. Brandvold directs the orchestra during the play. To create a band effect, several band members played with the orchestra.

Action Continues after the Game

Mike Griffin takes the connotation of "The Stripper" to heart at an after-game dance last fall.

BHS students perform one of the good-old-fashioned dances they had not done since junior high gym classes, the Hokey Pokey.

At the Z Club dance, Bob Hardy "twists again like he did last summer."

"American Field Service" is more than three words for me. While I was completing my application form and having interviews, it was a mixed feeling of hope for a wonderful year in the U.S.A. and fear of rejection. Throughout the journey, it was the cheerful company of young, strange, but friendly faces which kept my spirits high even in terrible seasickness. In Billings it was the love of a new family, the company of new friends, the fun of trying new things, and the pleasure of being everybody's friend. And when I go back to my home, it will be sweet memories and understanding of good American friends.

By Ali Raza Memon

Although the American Field Service deals with thousands of students each year, the experience is personal--its greatest value is the personal learning, understanding, and broadening of the people directly involved. The closeness and importance of this type of experience in the lives of the students and the families can not be completely expressed in talks, slides, and articles. But part of the program, a very important part, is the attempt to share the experience with as many other people as possible. And even though a person may try all his life to give back as much as has been given to him, he will always feel indebted.

AFS'ers Share Experiences

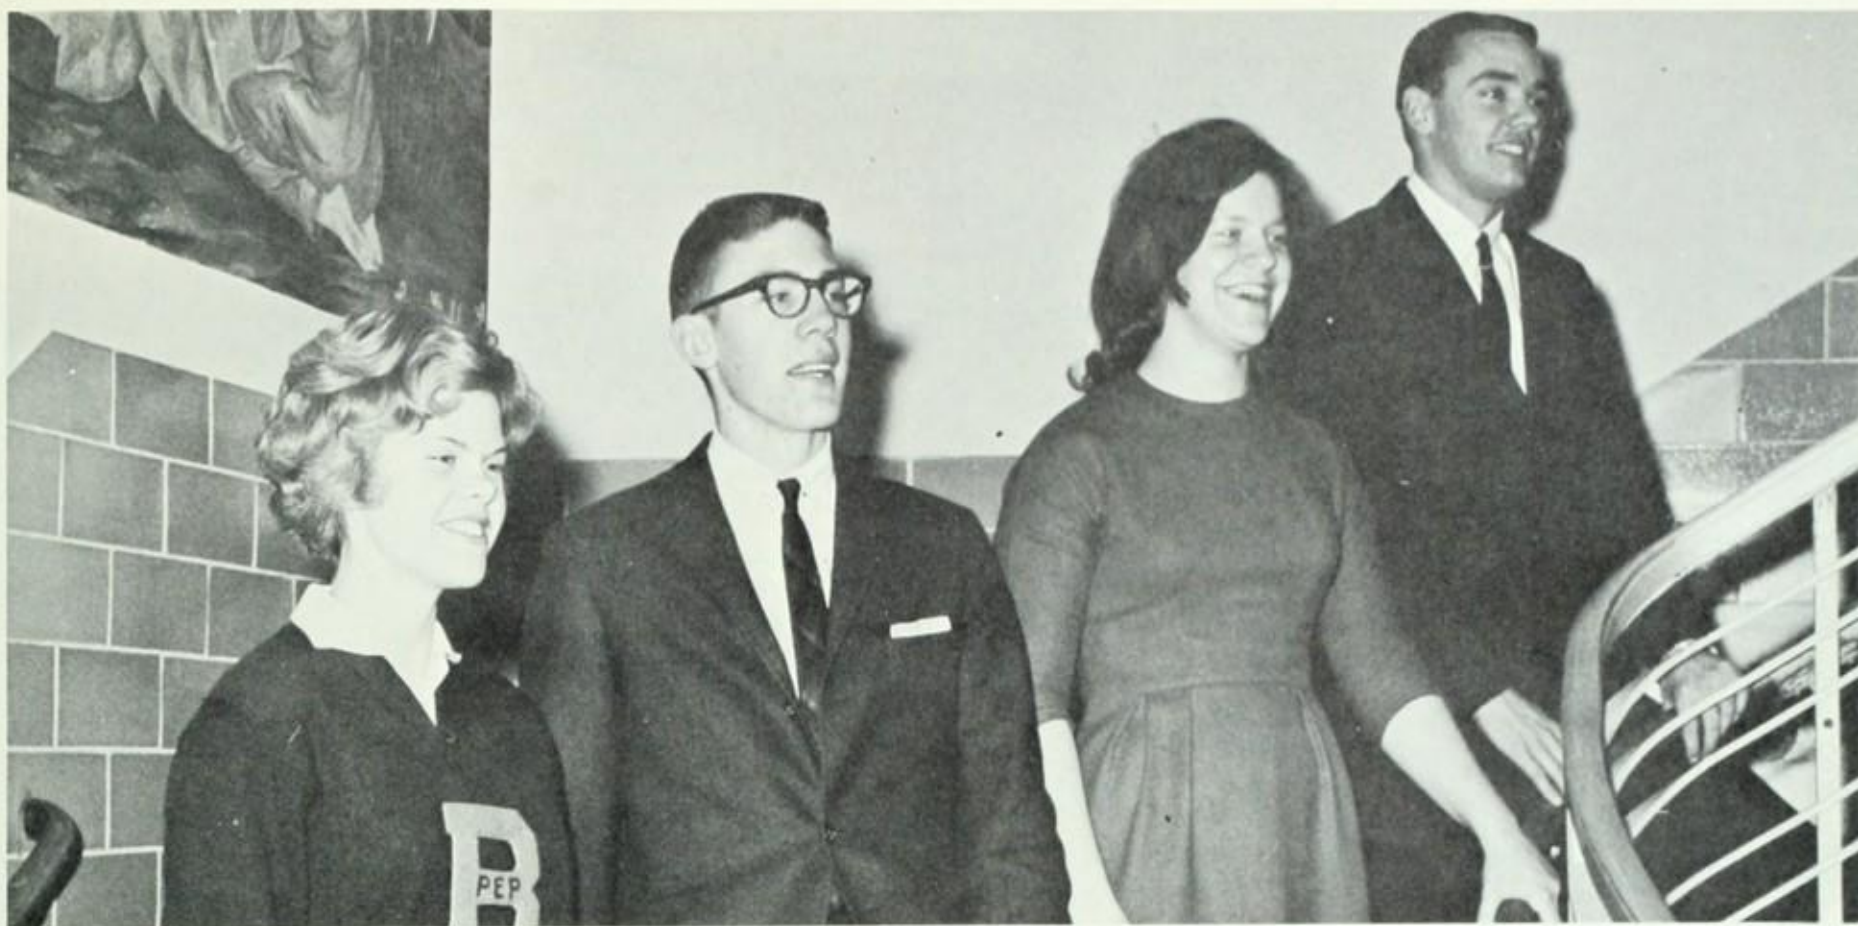

Senior Counselors turn in money from sales of "Welcome Ali" buttons during AFS Week. The buttons entitled the wearer to see Susan Hutton's assembly about Finland, and the project officially welcomed Ali Memon.

Rozzy Mullen and Ali Memon (above) were the two exchange students this year. Rozzy lived in Germany for half a year with a pastor and his family in Hannover-Linden. Ali, a Pakistani, spent the year with Tony Jackson and his family. Both were part of the world-wide American Field Service program, which yearly finds temporary homes for thousands of students in America and abroad.

Four BHS juniors became AFS semifinalists in the 1962-1963 school year. Kris Keup and Gary Day applied for the school program, Toby Green and Mack Anderson for the summer program. Any or all of them may be placed, depending on what homes are available in foreign countries.

AFS returnees and foreign students living with a BHS family are usually asked to present a special assembly for the school and to talk several times to clubs, classes, and out-of-school organizations. In this way, AFS provides an opportunity for first-hand knowledge of another country's politics, history, and people.

Each student sent abroad or brought to Billings needs several hundred dollars for travel costs, depending on his destination. Since BHS pays this portion of a student's expenses, a year-long project of many clubs is raising money to help support AFS. Kinetic Club, for instance, sponsors an AFS dance each year. DECA contributes $200 of its yearly earnings. Z Club, which sells spudnuts every other Thursday and sponsors the AFS Follies, sets a goal of $500 dollars a year. The AFS assemblies also bring in money--the one presented by Susan Hutton, 1961-1962 AFS'er to Finland, netted about $400.

AFS semifinalists are Toby Green, Gary Day, Kris Keup, and Mack Anderson. These four hope to be sent overseas, Toby and Mack for the summer, Kris and Gary for a semester or entire school year.

AFS Needs Support

Mr. Nash, Mrs. Hutton, and Mr. Borberg discuss qualifications of AFS applicants. The three, with Miss Jorgenson and several Billings citizens, make final decisions on semifinalists.

AFS student Roz Mullen sells a Z Club spudnut to Don Scheidecker.

Students watch The Swing-A-Longs play at the "Welcome Ali" dance during AFS Week. The dance was sponsored by Student Council.

Miss Broncette-Robyn Butler

The 1963 Miss Broncette, Robyn Butler, was crowned February 22. Her princesses were Phyllis Fair, Donna Zink, Sue Marquardt, and Rozzy Mullen. Rex Stratton was the Master of Ceremonies. He announced the princesses first, and then the queen. Robyn was crowned Miss Broncette by Patty Barnett, the 1962 Miss Broncette, and was given a rose scepter and an engraved bracelet. After the crowning, Robyn and her escort, Dick Brickley, danced the Queen's dance. Tom West then serenaded her with "The Way You Look Tonight."

The Miss Broncette activities this year consisted of a nominating vote Wednesday, an announcement assembly of the candidates and final vote Friday, and the coronation dance Friday night.

The Miss Broncette candidates were announced Friday morning at an assembly given by Activity Klub, assisted by Charles Nesbit. A photographer must not only snap the pictures assigned to him, trying to find new angles and approaches, he must also be on the alert for those unexpected shots which may prove useful.

In their efforts to snap pictures from unusual angles, photographers sometimes turn up in unexpected places. Here Larry Jensen tries a bird's-eye view of students in the parking lot.

Photographers Need Imagination

The Kyote Annual had two photographers on its staff. Their positions were probably the most demanding, and the most difficult to fill. They had to satisfy the photographic needs of everyone on the staff. When a picture was needed, one of the photographers was ordered to take it, regardless of time or place.

Ginger Pensis joined the staff when the journalism class started in the spring of 1962. She can be given credit for the pictures on the end sheets, pages two and three, and many other pages. Ginger started from scratch and learned the whole process of photography. She learned how to develop film, print pictures, and enlarge the finished photographs. (Pictured, she is working with a camera and the enlarger.)

Larry Jensen started work on the staff in the fall of 1962. Because he already had experience as a photographer, he did not have to go through a schooling period. The day he joined the staff he was assigned three pictures. Larry proved himself to be an outstanding photographer. At times, he worked as long as fifteen hours a day in his darkroom. In order to take pictures, he attended almost every game and dance.

Although Ginger and Larry were the only photographers, they had two assistants. Bruce McGinnis helped Ginger, while Richard Roach assisted Larry.

Burley Packwood, Karyl Keup, Doug McCelland, Dave Ulstad and Chuck Heyn participate in a pep assembly presented by Kinetic Club.

Coach Bill Lazetich speaks about student conduct and team promise at an assembly.

Assemblies-Billings to Pakistan

"You guys make me sick!" Robyn Butler, Cheer Queen, gives the student body a talk on school spirit. She feels the boys are sometimes hard to cope with.

Assembly programs sometimes include AFS students. Here Burley Packwood stands behind our Pakistani, Ali Raza Memon. Ali's shirt was given to him by the Student Council.

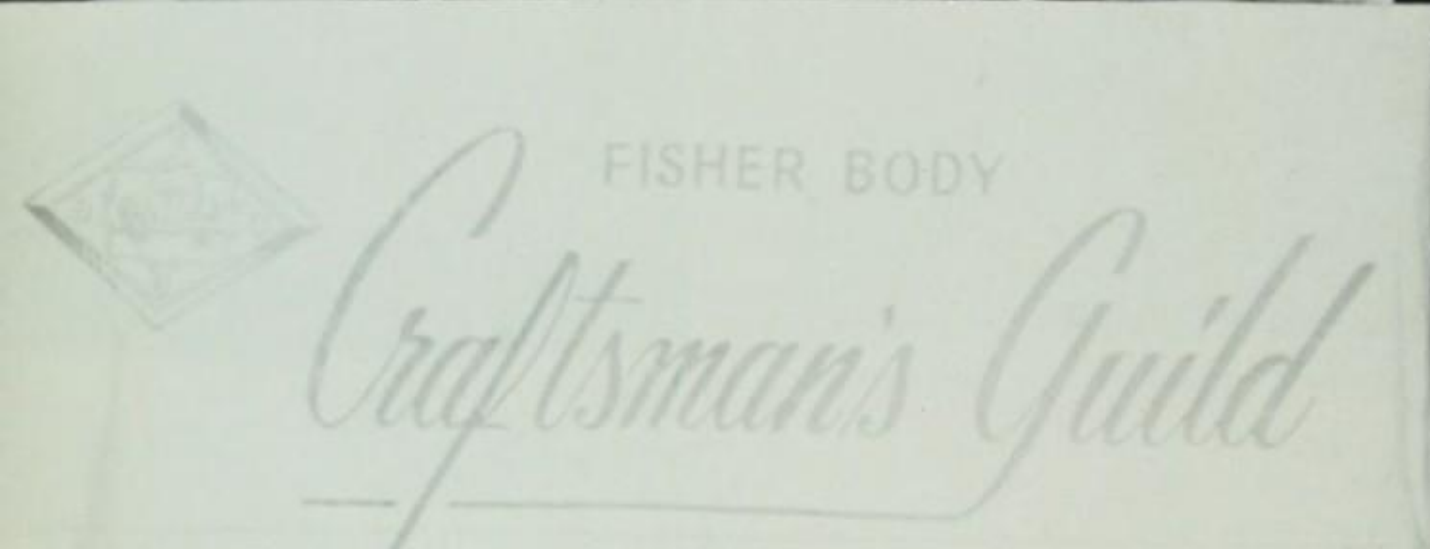

Every year BHS students have the opportunity to see a variety of assemblies. Some are directed toward vocational programs. The Fisher Body assembly was for boys only to present a scholarship program for those interested in automotive engineering.

The seniors had two assemblies. City officials, Willis Jones and William Fry, spoke to civics classes about the city's governmental operations. The other assembly was a program presented by the Armed Forces to inform students of their military obligations.

The most frequent assemblies are pep assemblies. The coaches are called upon to speak, and often there are skits that depict the Broncs winning over their opponent of that evening. Special speakers or entertainers are usually included in these programs. They range from our AFS students to special singing groups.

Although pep assemblies are the most numerous, students present many others, such as election assemblies for the students' campaign speeches, AFS assemblies and slides, and the Kyote Annual Sales assembly. Several National School programs and promotional assemblies are also given each year.

The Fisher Body assembly introduced a scholarship program to boys interested in automotive engineering.

William Fry and Willis Jones speak to the civics classes.

Representatives wait to tell BHS students about the advantages of their particular branch of the service.

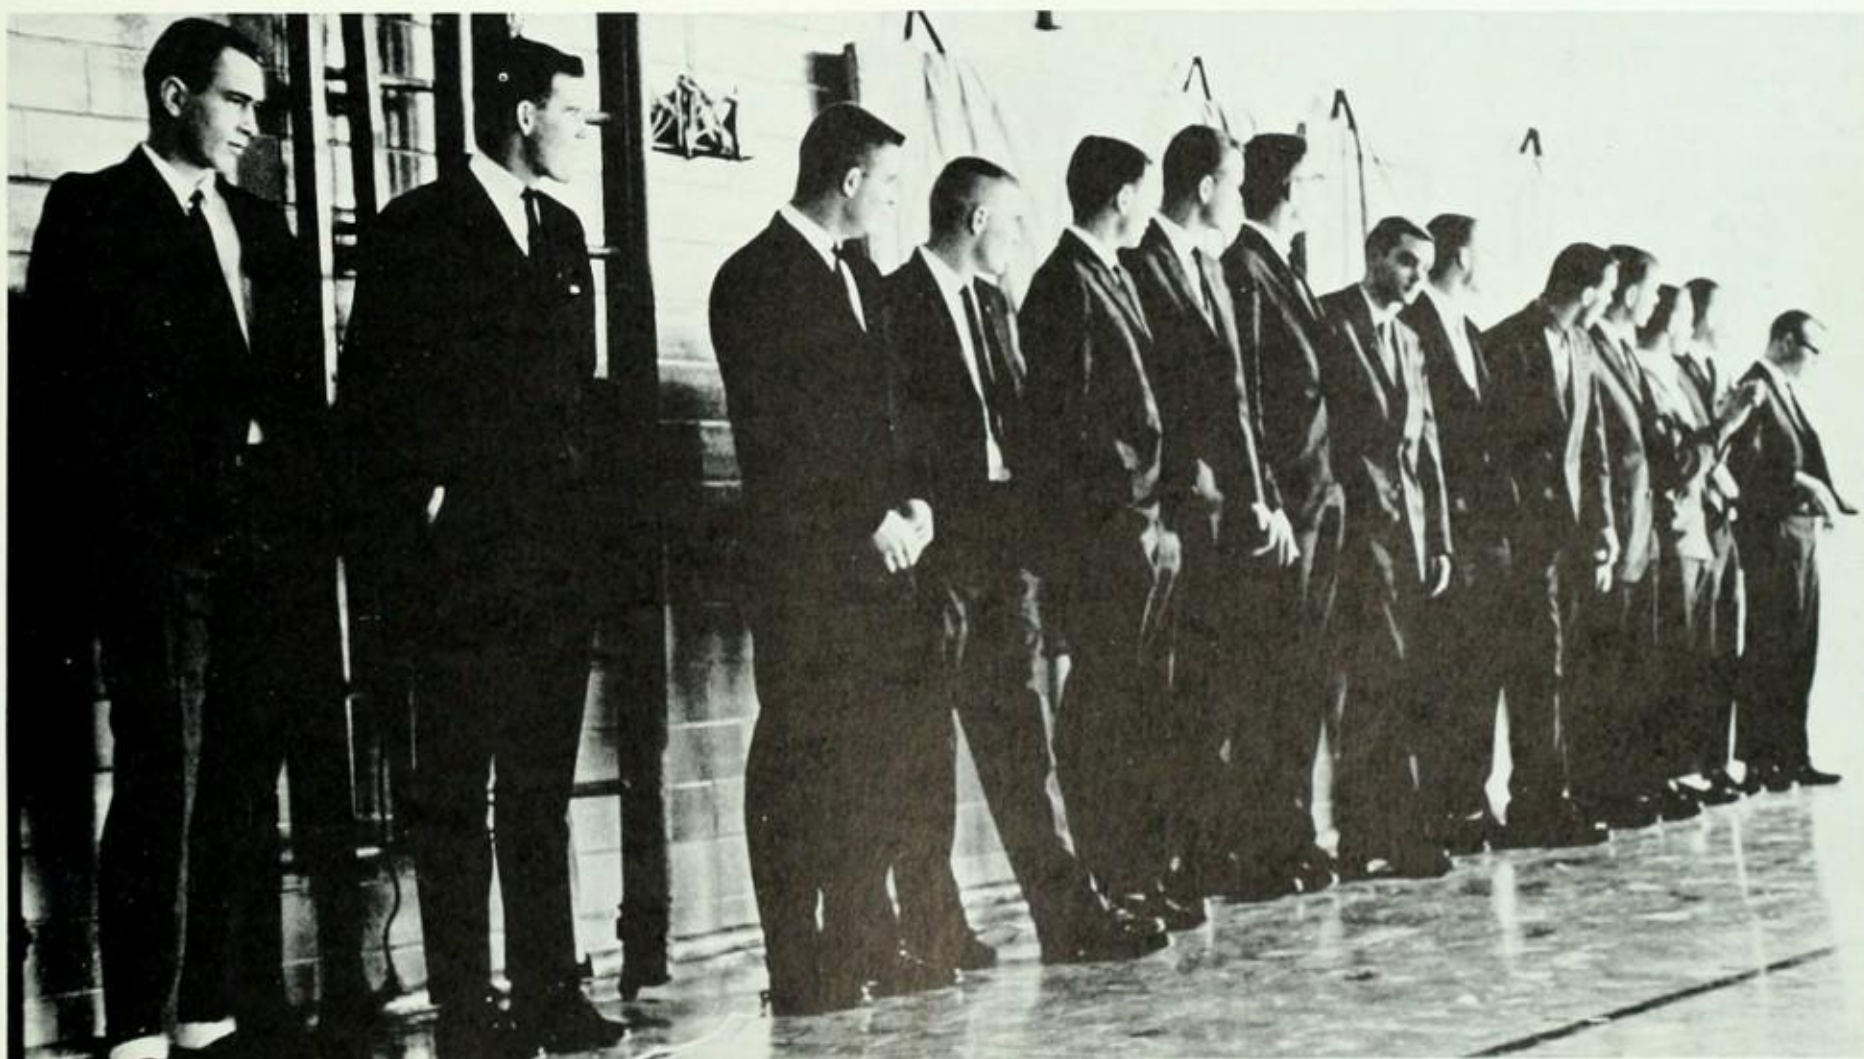

The class elections brought a campaign assembly, in one skit of which Barb Trott showed off her theatrical talents.

Tom West, Pinki Burton, Mike Wheeler, Steve Hudgens and Mike Fraser presented a lively rendition of popular folk songs, which fairly rocked the student body. This was the entertainment at a West-Senior pre-game assembly.

Pep Assemblies Support Team

At least once during each sports season, team members are introduced to BHS students. Here basketball players stand idly as they wait for their next teammate to be called from the stands.

Majorettes Conduct Many Projects

Hours and hours of practice are essential in producing successful halftimes. Every Thursday night the majorettes practiced for at least an hour and a half. Often they practiced in the morning before school and during first period.

All this expended time and energy was not wasted. Throughout the year each halftime or parade performance was a great success.

The majorette corps is composed of sophomore, junior, and senior girls. Each class must earn at least $100 for the corps' expenses. Therefore, members of the corps conduct many projects. Every member is expected to sell eight cans of candy. Each girl is assigned two teachers to contact. Then she sells the remaining cans to students or friends. Frequently, majorettes have bake sales which are usually conducted at the Hart-Albin Department Store or in the mall at West Park Plaza.

The majorettes sponsor several car washes throughout the year. Generally, they use the Senior High filling station. Only those who have jobs are excused from this project.

The main project this year was the selling of paper pompons. Annual projects include managing a concession stand during the football season, selling popcorn at basketball games, and having rummage sales.

The first big dance of the school year is sponsored by the majorettes. This year the theme of the Autumn Ball was "Under the Big Top." Pink and white were the predominant colors, and life-sized cardboard circus animals were placed around on the gym floor. The sophomore majorettes provided the entertainment during intermission.

Carol Frederick cheers about developments in the game. RIGHT: Linda Eames calls for show of spirit before the West High game.

Susi Barcroft rapturously watches a Bronc sink his second free throw. Minnie Jones, (right) shows that even cheerleaders forget the words to some cheers.

Cheerleaders Rouse School Spirit

It is true that pep assemblies tax the cheerleaders, for the steady pace they must maintain is tiring. But cheerleaders will agree that a really good basketball game leaves them even more exhausted. (Top right), Since she was so tired, Robyn Butler asked a friendly bystander to pick up her pompon.

After each game, a few groups of people linger to chat with the cheerleaders or just discuss the game. If the game was lost, most expressions show it. The congenial smiles on the faces of these cheerleaders (Susi Barcroft, Minnie Jones, Carol Frederick) show that the Broncs scored another victory.

B-Squad games are rarely attended by large crowds. Even though the turnout for these games is small, the cheerleaders usually prove faithful. Since the students who go to the JV games seldom cheer, it is up to the cheerleaders to make the noise. (Identified here are Susi Barcroft, Minnie Jones, Linda Eames, Karen Popelka, and Phyllis Fair.)

Most of the games are full of action, so the cheerleaders are almost always moving. But occasionally there is a lull in the game; this is often the only chance the cheerleaders get to the game. (Pictured are Phyllis Fair, Susi Barcroft, and Donna Zink.)

This year Billings Senior High School's drama department presented NIGHT OF JANUARY 16TH. The play took place in a courtroom in New York City. Karen Andre was accused of murdering her employer (and lover) Bjorn Faulkner. Although Defense Attorney Stevens and District Attorney Flint had a forceful courtroom battle, there was some humor in the play. Three character parts could be identified with this comedy; two Swedes, Madga Svenson and Sigurd Jungquist, and Elmer Sweeney (the rookie policeman).

THE NIGHT OF JANUARY 16TH was unusual in that the audience participated. Members of the jury were selected from those people in the audience who had registered for "jury duty." Since everyone in the audience stood when the judge entered or left the courtroom, each person had a part in the play.

Lloyd D. Mickelson directed the play with the help of Judy Petentler, the student director. Archie Elliot supervised the work done on the setting. The eagle (page 44) which took the students so many long, tedious hours to finish was the center attraction of the set.

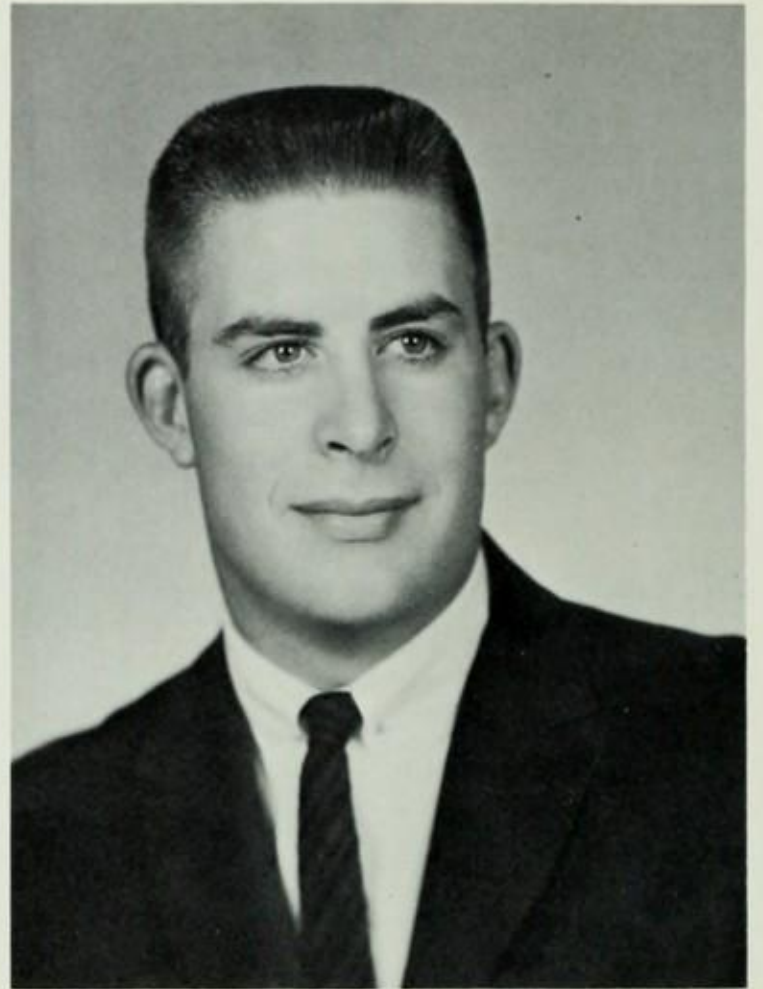

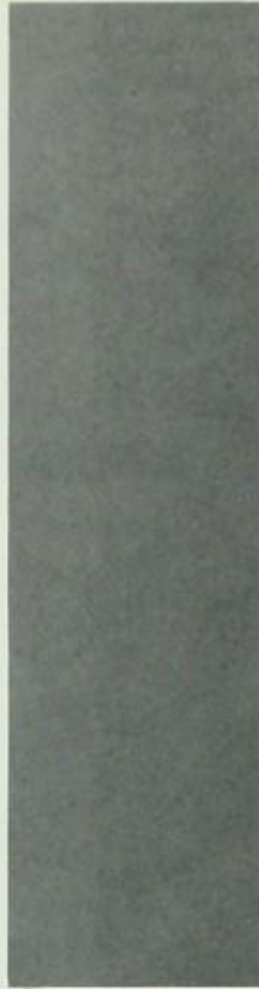

Committee chairmen were: Jacque Allen, Sandi Lockrem, costume committee; Judy Petentler, make-up committee; Nelsene Pearson, program committee; Debbie Smith, property committee; Pat Smith, publicity committee; and Karin Clift, ticket committee.

Clerk of the Court (Gary Card) reads the charges of murder against Karen Andre, and calls the jury from the audience.

Defense Attorney Stevens (Dave Large) returns to his desk, after stating his case for the defendant, Karen Andre.

District Attorney Flint (Ramsey Miller) questions the witness, Magda Svenson, about her employer.

DAR--Karyl Keup (above) was chosen for this award by the senior girls. They believed that throughout her highschool career, Karyl has shown outstanding qualities in leadership, service, and patriotism. She was president of Kinetic, president of German Club, vice-president of Quill and Scroll, a Senior Counselor, and a copy reader and stenographer on the Kyote Paper.

ATHLETE OF THE YEAR--Dick Brickley (left, above) was nominated by the BHS coaching staff as the most outstanding athlete of 1963. Throughout high school, Dick has actively participated in football, basketball, and track. He is a three-year letterman, an all-state football star, and is recognized by his school and community as a fine all-round athlete.

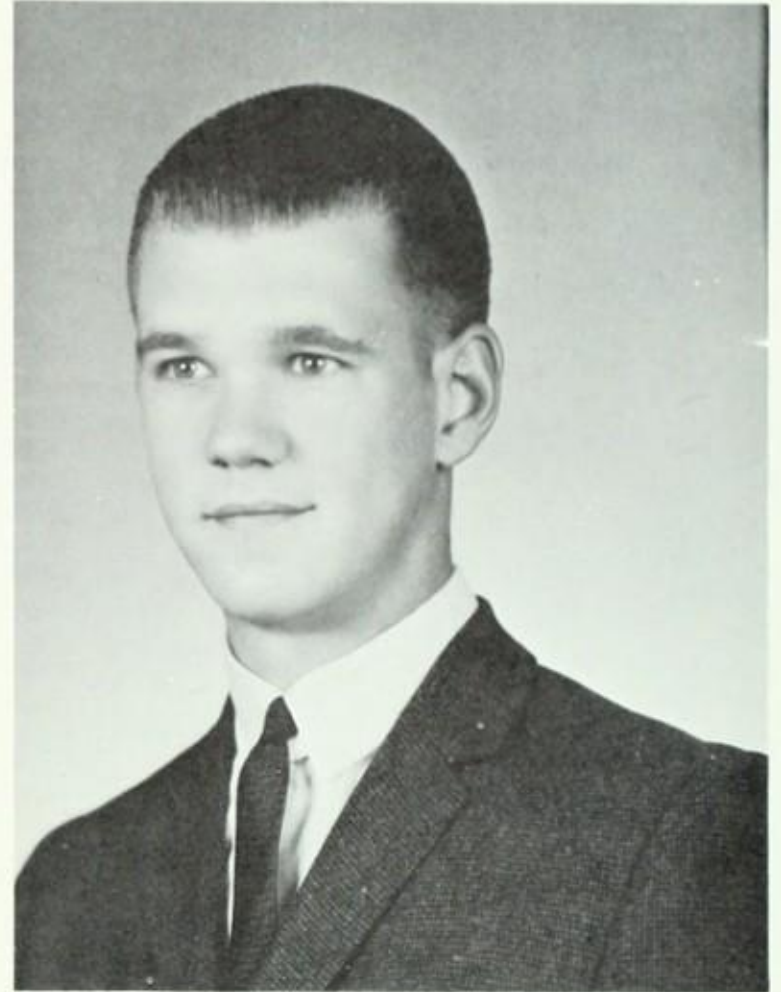

MUSICIAN OF THE YEAR--Carol Sirrine (above) was one of the three band members elected to the All-Northwestern Band in Casper, Wyoming, April 16-21. Previously, she received a scholarship to a summer music camp in Lawrence, Kansas. Carol has played the piano for eight years and the French horn for seven. In the BHS band, she is first horn. Carol was fortunate enough to study under William Hamilton, a 1959 BHS graduate, who is first horn in the Baltimore Symphony.

DRAMATIST OF THE YEAR--Judy Smalley (left) since her sophomore year, has actively participated in most of the BHS dramatic productions. She was Ethel Toffelmier in the MUSIC MAN, and appeared in THE NIGHT OF JANUARY SIXTEENTH and OKLAHOMA. Judy was president of Dramatics Club, and a Thespian in her sophomore year. Later, she became historian of Thespians.

Kyote Presents BHS Personalities

MOST VERSATILE GIRL--Robyn Butler was an outstanding member of her class. As an AFS Semifinalist, Cheer Queen, Worthy Advisor of Rainbow, Miss Broncette, a member of A Cappella and National Honor Society, she combines intelligence, talent, and personality.

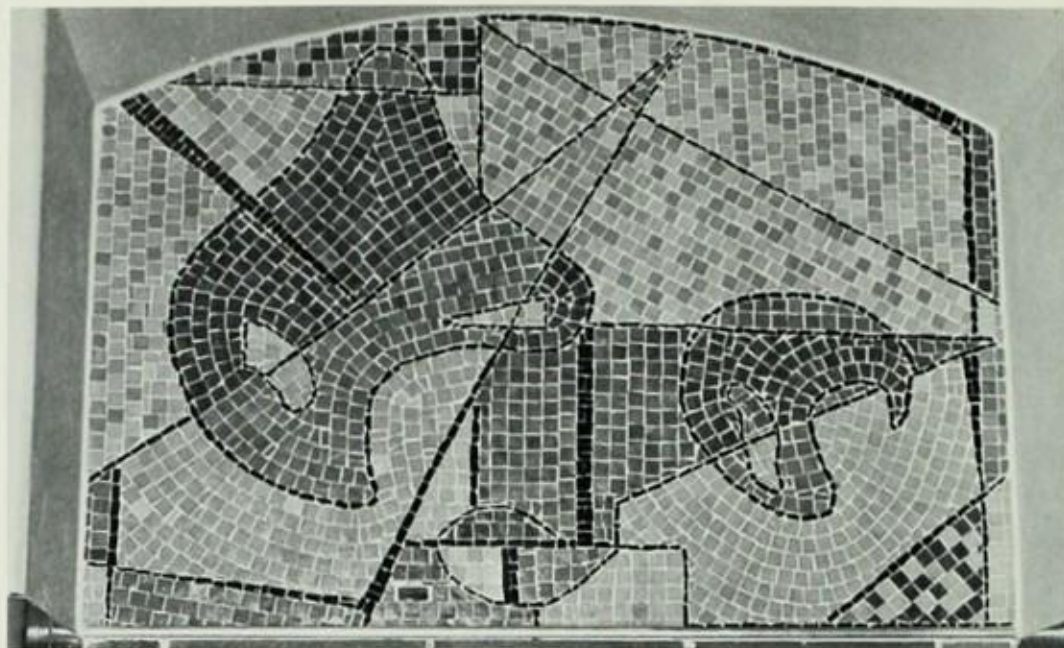

JOURNALISTS OF THE YEAR--Burley Packwood (above), editor-in-chief of the Kyote Paper, was chosen by Mr. Harsch for his excellent, conscientious work. He initiated "Letters to the Editor" to make the paper more expressive of the views of the BHS students. Karen Johnson (below), was chosen by the annual staff for her dependability and proficiency in all phases of journalistic work.

MOST VERSATILE BOY--Charles Price (left) was an all-state football star and excelled in track. He was an AFS Semifinalist, president of Junior Optimists, B-Day King, and the lead, Harold Hill, in the MUSIC MAN.

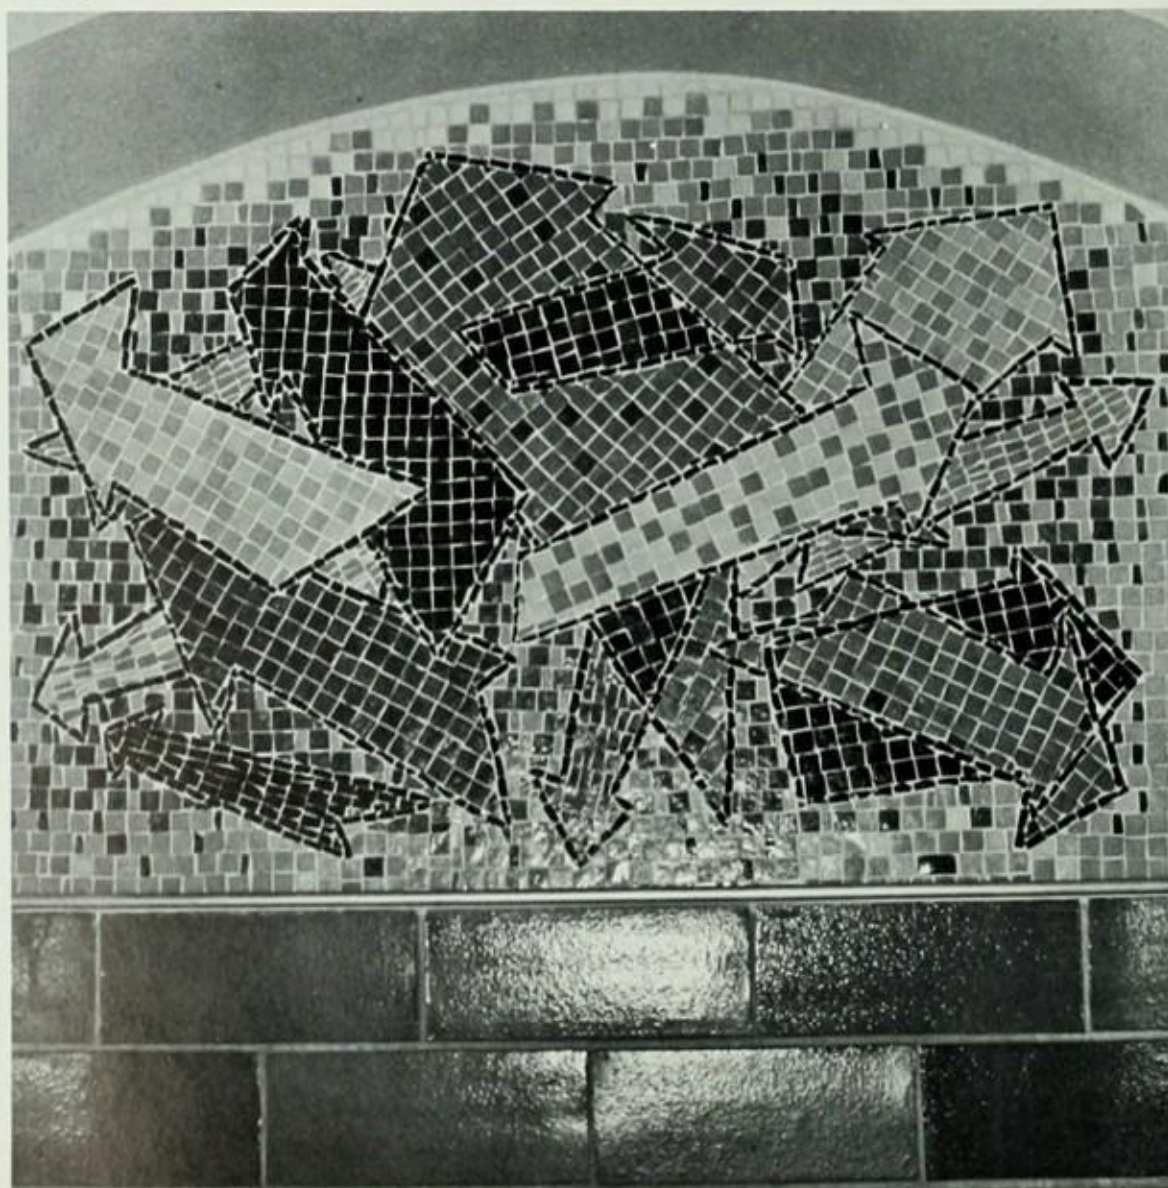

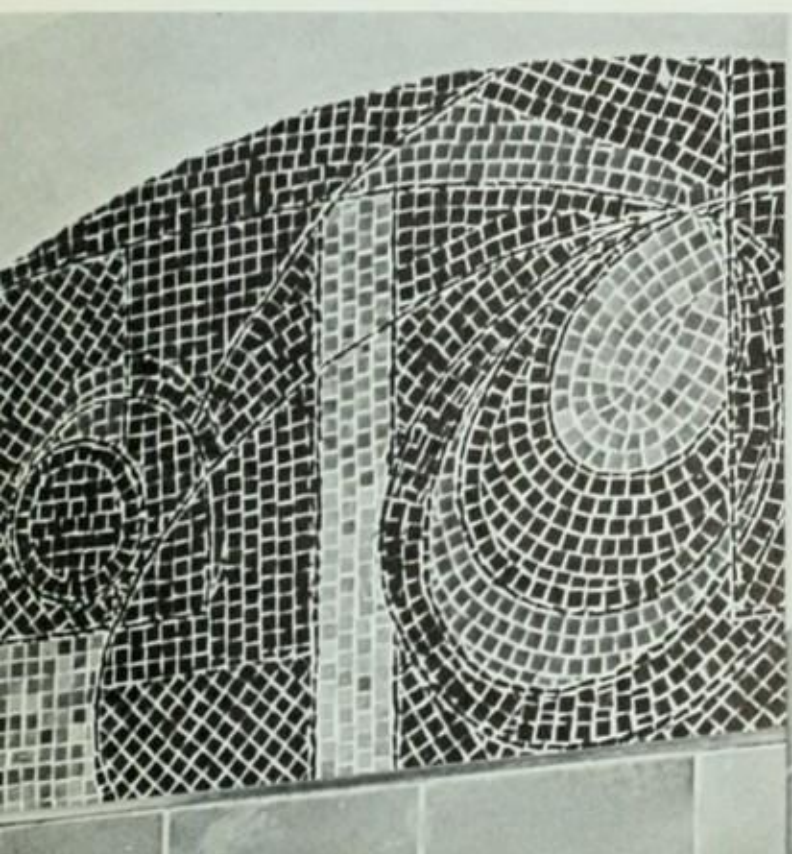

Art Enlivens Halls

In the spring of 1962, an epidemic of falling plaster and bits of broken brick swept over BHS drinking fountains. For several months, students watched the progress of four mosaics being created by Pinki Burton, Karen Glantz, Kathy McKee, and Ginger Schreiber. The mosaics, completed shortly after school closed for the year, cost the art department about $50 each.

The four artists designed their own mosaics and did all construction work. They used Italian tile cut in small squares. Since time was limited, the squares could not be cut to fit designs precisely. The final results, however, combined with murals to give BHS halls a unique personality.

ORGANIZATIONS

Organizations carry out most of the projects which attract the attention of the city to the school. When Student Council sponsors BHS PRESENTS, or the band buys new uniforms, or service clubs plan new projects, the city--parents and friends of students--become aware of the student activities at school and student participation in community life.

Just as adults show an interest in school life, so students follow city politics and programs. They discuss the resignation of a city engineer, problems involved in fencing or covering ditches running through the city, location of a new highway, the plastic surgery job on the rims.

In this section, the Kyote Annual staff introduces the organizations of BHS with their members and activities.

Marcia,

This year has really held some new experiences for all the Senior class. All the unhappiness ^{at B-day} was memorable, at least. Actuallly, where I think of the party - it was so much fun. I guess our class was jinxed.

Next year at A.S.U., we'll see what college life is like — imagine it will really be fun!

I've gotten really sad since the annuals came out. I start remembering: that night last spring with Liza, Sandi, you, & I; swimming in Athletic at night time; stuffing ballot boxes and winning Janzons; and Christmas formals and walks. What funny times! Take care - see you this summer.

Korns Heads Honor Society

New members are honored at the society's first initiation, October 30.

Being a member of National Honor Society is one of the highest scholastic honors a student may attain. The club was formed to give students an incentive to strive for scholastic excellence. It was first established in 1922 at a national convention and grew to more than 4000 societies in the United States. The first group of students at BHS was initiated in 1931.

Candidates for the society must be in the upper third of their class and have a B average. They must also have the four qualities of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. The members are chosen by a secret vote of the faculty.

Three initiations are conducted each year. In a candlelight ceremony, members are reminded of the four qualities they are supposed to possess. The club pin also bears the letters C, S, L, S.

Math Club, a relatively new club at BHS, was formed in 1956 under the name "Delta Club." The name was never officially changed, although the club has become known as "Math Club" through common usage. Membership is restricted to second and third year math students. The members investigate fields of mathematics which cannot be covered in the classroom.

Throughout the year guest speakers are invited to the meetings to speak about mathematics and its related fields. Members are also asked to give demonstrations and speeches at meetings.

On March 14, 1963, the club conducted the fourteenth annual mathematics contest in cooperation with the Mathematical Association of America and the Society of Actuaries.

Mr. Bernard Myers was the first sponsor of the club, but in 1961 Mr. Owen Nelson took charge of the club and has directed the club's activities ever since.

AVA Runs Films; Math Benefits

Because of the guidance of Mr. Gilmore, a staff of trained technicians solve any problems of movie projectors and lighting effects that may arise during the school year. Threading film strips, and setting up auditorium lights for programs put on either by the school or by community organizations are the primary duties of AVA workers.

AVA handles the P.A. system for Senior High, West High, Central High, and all other games played in Daylis Stadium. At every pep assembly, AVA has the P.A. system set up, ready to work. The club members operate almost all the movies in BHS. Every year, members of the club run the full-length movie sponsored by Elphadonk.

Something that is fairly new for BHS is the music in the cafeteria that was set up and run by AVA. This was started last year and was well received by the students; therefore, AVA continued to provide music in the cafeteria this year.

Members Help Educate Students

Go into the library anytime, on any school day, and a member of KOB will probably be there. KOB, Keepers of the Books, was formed early in 1961. Its chief responsibility is to aid the librarian. The members work one period a day in the library on jobs ranging from mending books or filing book cards and overdue notices, to shelving and checking out books.

During National Library Week, displays are placed in the main hallway showcase to advertise the library and the benefits which can be gained there.

Senior Counselors, sponsored by Mrs. Hutton and Mr. Nash, help to familiarize sophomores with school activities. Because the counselors are active in one or more phases of school life, they present a cross-section of the extracurricular activities at BHS.

These seniors must help sophomores become a component part of the school. During the first week of school, they present an assembly to help orientate the sophomores. Senior Counselors promote activity ticket sales, give a boost to annual sales, and increase support of games.

SENIOR COUNSELORS--SEATED: Vice President, B. Korns; President, S. Hudgens; Secretary, K. Marsh. SECOND ROW: L. Pederson, S. Llewellyn, S. Hopkins, D. Zink, R. Radford, J. Jeffers, C. Schock, C. Alpha Omega Prepares Nurses

Carol Sieler and Sheila Basso present a Kindergraph Kit to the Children's Village.

On Halloween, members of Alpha Omega took treats to and visited with the patients at the County Hospital. They plan to continue this project several times a year.

Alpha Omega sponsored a bake sale and a bazaar in December to raise money for equipment for Children's Village.

This year the members bought club pins and sweatshirts.

Alpha Omega welcomes girls interested in nursing and related fields. To promote this interest the club shows films, goes on tours, and holds lectures.

Alpha Omega was founded in 1946 with Mr. Ackerman as sponsor. The name Alpha Omega was chosen because it means the beginning and end--birth and death--indicating that nurses are usually needed at both occasions. Mrs. Sue Hutton followed Mr. Ackerman as sponsor until 1959, when the club was turned over to Mrs. Lillian Pfeifer, BHS school nurse.

Officers this year were: President, Cheri Goodrich; Vice President, Cheryl Galiardi; and Secretary, Marilyn Myhre.

FORENSICS--SEATED: Secretary, Rex Stratton; Vice President, Walter Kirkpatrick; President, Tony Jackson; Treasurer, Dave Large; Historian, Burley Packwood. SECOND ROW: Terri Barnett, Janet Tirrell, Nelsene Pearson, Rosanne Radford, Carlene Ames, Charles Leggate. THIRD ROW: Evelyn Miller, Diane Leach, Karen Johnson, Robert Barrett, Tom Romine, Judy Smalley. FOURTH ROW: Barbara Byars, Sue Marquardt, Bill McRae, Barry Bull, Dave Bergeson. FIFTH ROW: Ruthie Jacobsen, Ken Tolliver, Alan Hobbs, Frank Sparhawk, Dennis McIntyre.

In 1960 Forensic Club members decided to extend its membership to students interested in other types of speech such as extemporaneous, original oratory, humorous declamation, oratorical declamation. Originally, Forensics Club was called Debate Club.

In December the members took part in an invitational meet at Bozeman. They participated in an invitational meet at Eastern Montana College in September. The district meet in which they took part was also conducted at Eastern. Forensics Club had twelve members representing them at the State Speech Interscholastics in Missoula.

Besides attending speech meets, members took an active part in the radio programs that were presented by Billings Senior High and City-Wide Student Council. In addition, at least one member was on hand at all basketball games to take care of the P.A. system. Forensics is sponsored by Mr. Duecker, a very able director.

Debates and Politics Go Together

Elphadonk, the social studies club at BHS, has sponsored school elections since 1950. This fall and spring a registration booth, manned by club members, was located near the girls' gym. All prospective voters had to register before being allowed to vote in the elections, which were held a week later.

On the Monday before general elections, Elphadonk sponsored an assembly to introduce the candidates to registered voters. On election day the club members once again took charge. They checked registration, gave out ballots and tallied votes.

After the elections, the club settled down to every-day business. Club pins, and sweatshirts were discussed, and plans were made for future programs. Burley Packwood, Student Council president, spoke to the club on its role in the school. At another meeting a movie on Telstar was shown by a representative of the Bell Telephone Company.

This spring Elphadonk presented its annual movie, from which part of the proceeds go to support AFS. The last Elphadonk activity of the year was sponsoring the election of Student Council officers for next year.

ARGON--SEATED: Sponsor, Mr. Hoggatt; Vice President, Ron Pogue; President, Bill Philip; Secretary-Treasurer, Jacquie Backman. SECOND ROW: Judy Sparks, Mary Flanze, Dorothy Allman, Julie Christensen, Joy Beiswanger, Gay Darkenwald, Judy White. THIRD ROW: Jon Drake, Dick Gaines, Mary McDonald, Carol Tyrrell, Karen Johnson, Leon Hoffman, Mary Stephens, Ruth Travis. FOURTH ROW: Dave Armstrong, Sam Doll, Forrest Berg, Jay Murphy, Joe Farmer, Tom Romine, Paul McCabe. FIFTH ROW: Lew Kosich, Larry Krug, Gary Day, Kent Lauson, Larry Denton, Lucius Conrad, Robert Barrett, Scott Pike.

One of the school's most important duties in the community is training students for the technical jobs of the future. Argon Club, sponsored by Mr. Hoggatt prepares students for any phase of college chemistry they may enter.

Argon is a science club offering membership to junior students who demonstrate an interest in chemistry.

Argon took many tours during the school year. Members visited the sugar factory, a funeral parlor, the sulfur plant, the carbonic ice plant, and the Home Oxygen plant. During the year they saw films and heard several speakers. This year they had a speaker on medical technology, and Mr. Baron from Barons Jewelers gave a lecture on crystals.

The rest of the year was filled with experiments to broaden the members' knowledge of chemistry.

Officers this year were President, Bill Philip; Vice President, Ron Pogue; Secretary-Treasurer, Jacquie Backman.

Future Scientists Learn Today

PHYSICS--SEATED: Sponsor, Mr. Kaser; Secretary, Karen Johnson; President, Keith Senechal; Vice-President, Steve Hudgens. SECOND ROW: Fred Dunn, Carol Erickson, Donna Zink, Judy Roll, Jim Parker. THIRD ROW: Harold James, Bob Greenleaf, Dick Brickley, Davey Schmidt, Judy Smalley, Cliff Haun. FOURTH ROW: Larry Jensen, Charles Jensen, Harry Miller, Stan Ladd, Vicki Lineback. FIFTH ROW: Bob Everson, Ken Tolliver, Rich Roach, Jim Salsbury, Ali Memon.

Physics, with all the delicate and precise instruments involved, can be very interesting. The members of Physics Club further this interest by performing experiments, watching films, and sharing concepts and information gathered by the members.

Mr. Kaser, the club's sponsor, took the students through his backroom and showed them the countless instruments and parts which he has collected, many of which the club used during the year.

The club often had speakers who came to their meetings to talk about the practical applications of physics. A man from the Bell Telephone Company, for instance, gave a micro-wave demonstration, and President Keith Senechal and Vice President Steve Hudgens presented a program on oscilloscopes.

In the early part of February the club took a trip to Arco, Idaho, to tour the atomic reactor plant.

FFA Builds Fence

Future Farmers of America, advised by Mr. McCormick, provides a well-balanced program for boys interested in agriculture.

The agenda for 1962-63 included building a fence for the school parking lot, selecting the FFA sweetheart, sponsoring a parent and son banquet, and sending a delegation to the district convention

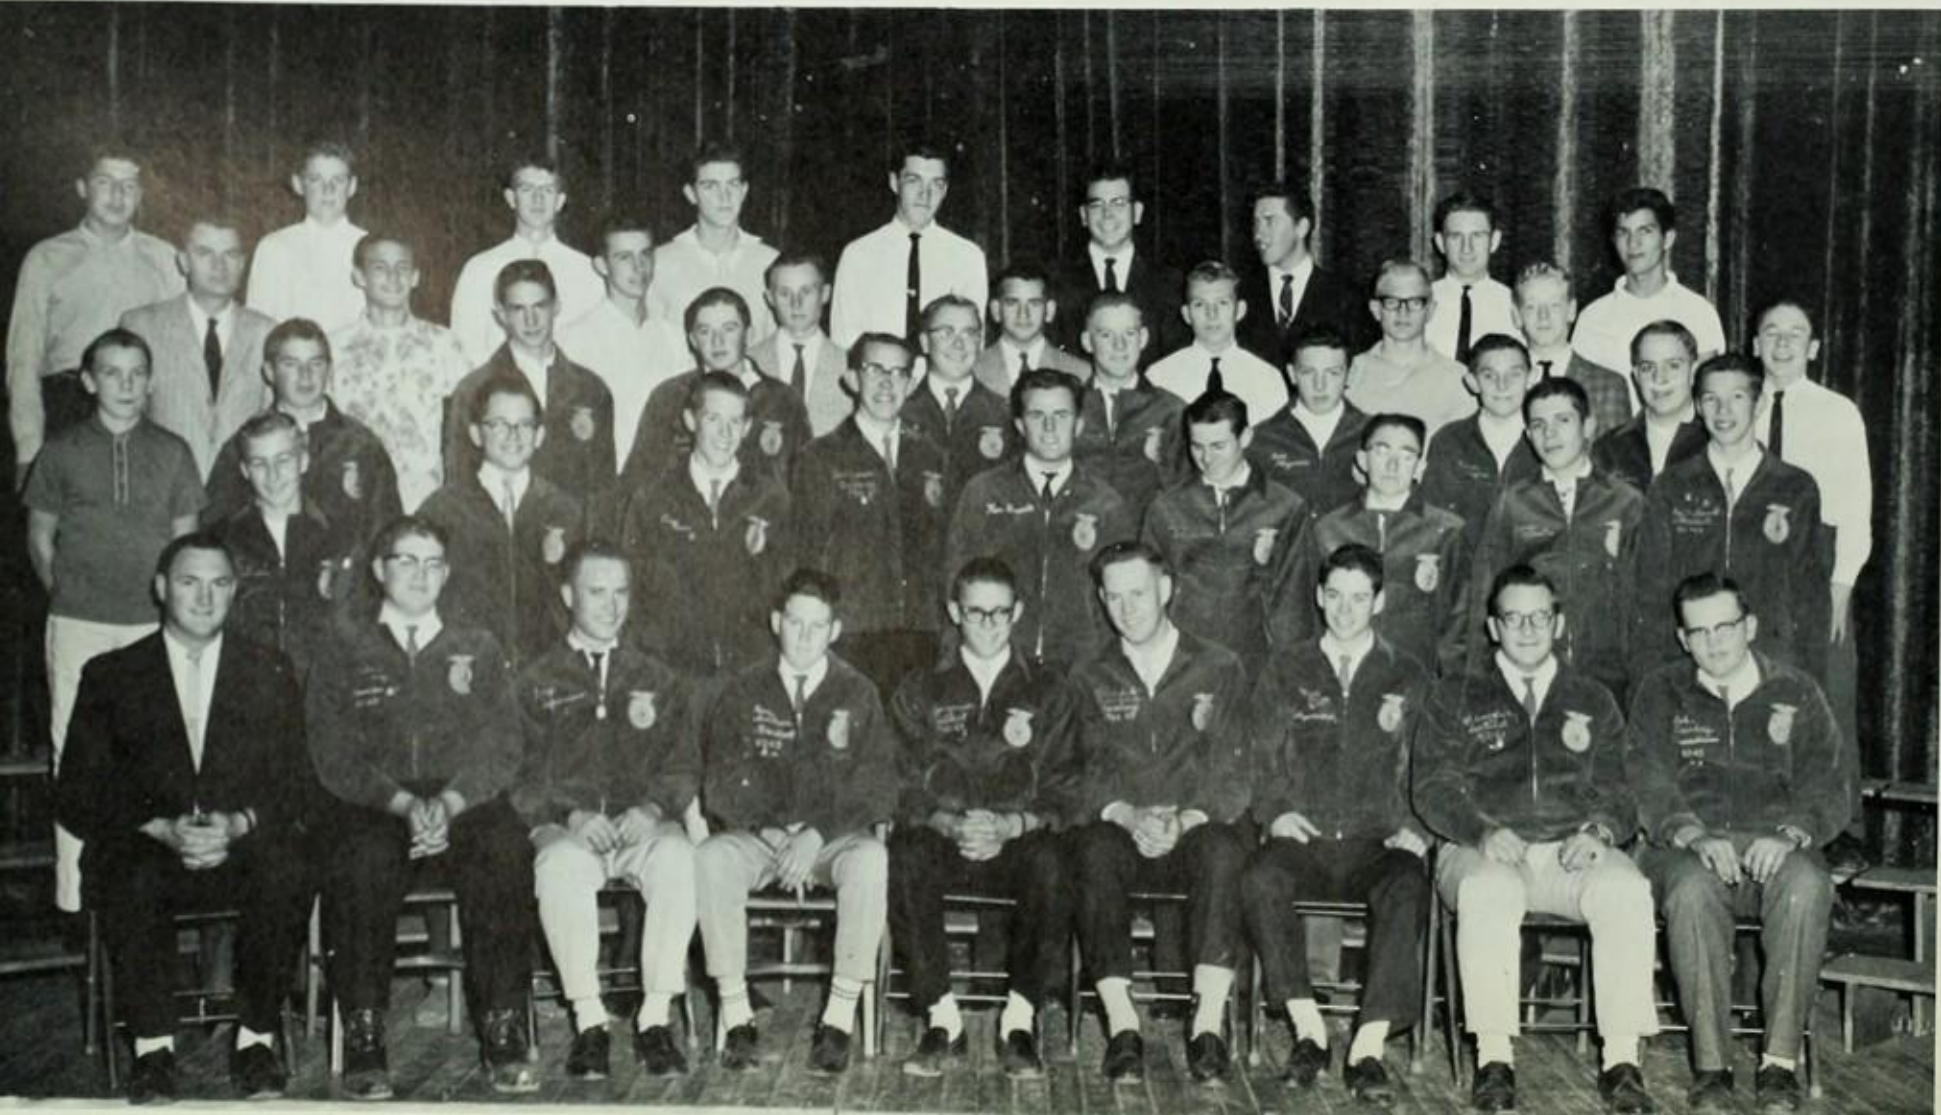

FFA boys, supervised by Mr. McCormick, build a steel fence around the school parking lot.

FBLA

Future Business Leaders of America, sponsored by Mrs. Vera Bruegger, consists of senior girls who have taken transcription. The club's objective is to give the girls a basic background for a career in any field of business.

Mr. Roybal, one of the guest speakers, explained the essential qualifications of a conscientious secretary.

Each month a member is chosen "Girl of the Month" and receives a gold pin for this honor. She is considered outstanding and highly ranked in her work.

The club, a branch of the National FBLA, was originated in 1952 by Mrs. Bruegger. Its colors are blue and silver.

Selling stationery was the foremost money-making project carried out by club members this year. Other projects were dittoing and mimeographing items for teachers, and giving a Hawaiian party to interest juniors in taking transcription.

FTA

The purpose of Future Teachers of America is to advise students who plan to become teachers, as well as to interest high school students in the teaching profession. Besides learning about the teaching profession, club members have a chance to find out whether or not they are suited for teaching. The officers are: President, Dominick Sillitti; Vice-president, Ronnie Janich; and Secretary, Joy Buck.

During 1962-1963, members attended the Secondary Education Association Convention where in order to become acquainted with better teaching methods. They also planned to participate in the FTA Convention. In addition, a tour of Eastern Montana College of Education was taken. Pat Shorey, a guest speaker, spoke about college courses, and told future teachers what to expect in college. Other guest speakers were Miss Elizabeth O'Donell and Mrs. Peters. Mrs. Peters informed members about tests that the club members could take to determine their fields of interest.

DECA Sells School Supplies

Carolyn Carpenter and Jim Muri sell DECA supplies to Sharon Nelson.

DECA is composed of members who are taking sales and work experience. The club's purpose is to stimulate professional attitudes toward work.

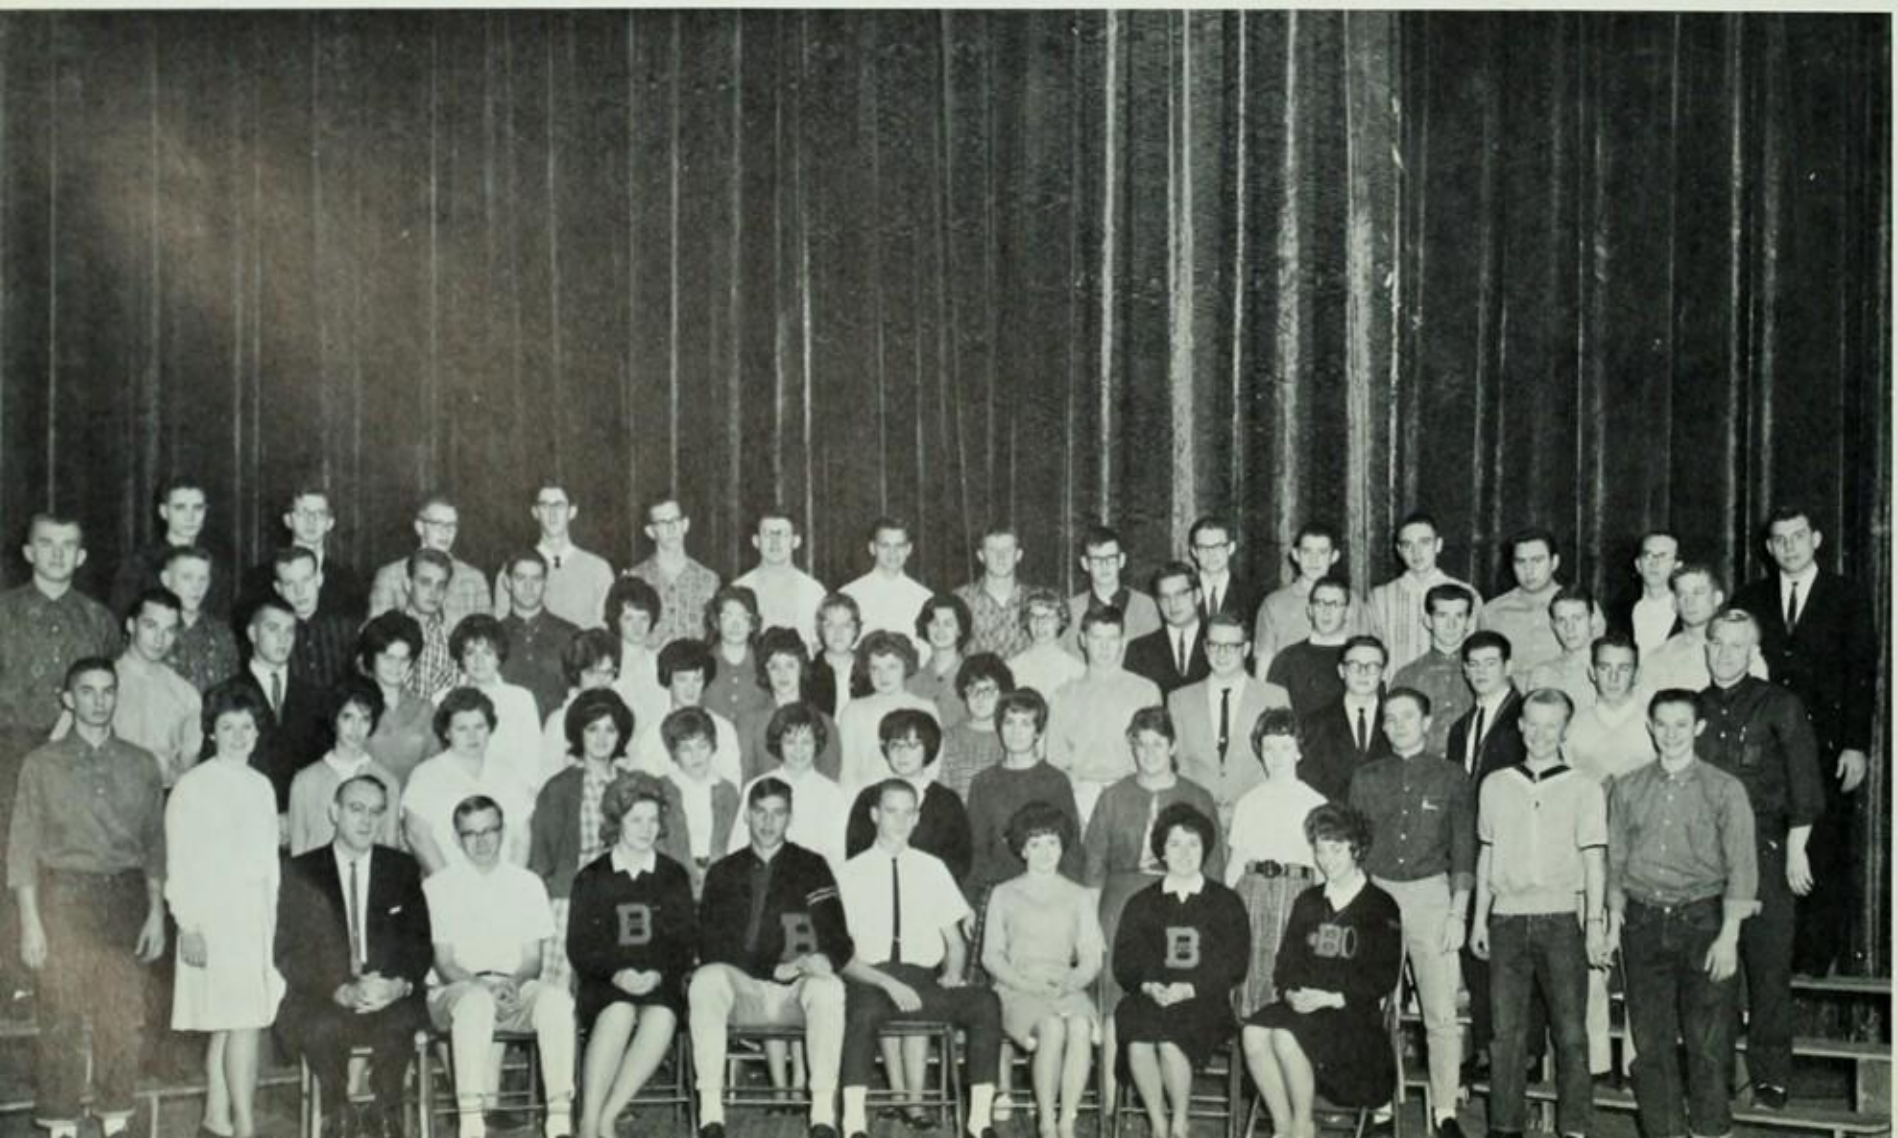

Members of the club must work certain days each week in the DECA store to sell school supplies to students.

DECA had many activities during the past year. Members gave an employer-employee appreciation dinner, they attended the State DECA Convention in Havre, Montana, and they took part in all the competitive events. They also sent delegates to the National DECA Convention in Chicago.

The show case next to the DECA Store is decorated by the members of the club. They also decorated the DECA room and the school lobby at Christmas. In addition, DECA members sold pencils with basketball schedules on them as well as Christmas cards, to raise money for AFS.

Mr. Wilson, the most experienced teacher-coordinator of DECA in the state, is the sponsor of this club.

OD's Keep Office Running Smoothly

OD Georgine Mavrakis assists Davey Schmidt while Dee White calls the absentees, one of the everyday jobs of an OD.

In order to carry on their work more efficiently, the deans, counselors, faculty, and office secretaries need the assistance of OD's.

Collecting attendance slips from teachers, keeping accurate attendance records, taking telephone messages, sorting mail and filing papers are duties that keep the OD's busy. Several girls can be found in the office each hour of the school day to assist students, visitors, or members of the faculty.

Although they do not receive a salary, the OD girls are expected to conduct themselves as they would on a regular job. Each girl works in the office one hour per day and receives one credit. In addition to this grade credit, she obtains valuable experience in office procedure. Cheerfulness, courtesy, efficiency, accuracy, and the willingness to work are important characteristics of OD girls.

Dorothy Morrison, Vera Swanson, and Mr. Collins are the people who are largely responsible for co-ordinating the work of the OD's.

Student Council Builds Better BHS

Vice President, Ken Tolliver; Secretary, Betsy Brown; and the other representatives wait for the meeting to begin.

More than ever, Student Council, sponsored by Mr. Cox, was an active club this year. At the first meeting, constitution folders and a table of parliamentary motions were handed out to each club member. To improve public relations, Student Council sponsored two radio programs and organized Open House.

Increasing school spirit was an important project of Student Council. Club members sold victory vests, gave an after-game dance, presented the assembly preceding the West High Game, and set up the intramurals and the intramural point system.

In order to further cooperation among the clubs, Ken Tolliver stepped up the functions of the President's Roundtable. This year clubs were required to submit to Student Council for a club charter. Student Council placed a bulletin board in the main hall for the use of clubs.

Class pins, Student Council pins, and school sweatshirts were ordered by Student Council. They also sold Bronc decals.

German Club

German Club's new advisor this year, Miss Patricia Gill, took up where Miss Jeanette Clark stopped last year in teaching members the customs and culture of Deutschland.

German Club is primarily a group of interested students who further explore Deutschland through lectures, films, and service projects.

The club raised money by a bake sale at Hart Albin's selling favorite German pastries.

German Club joined with Spanish Club and Latin Club to decorate a float for the B-Day parade.

The club had many speakers who lectured on the many phases of German culture. Often during the meetings, they played German records and sang German songs.

The annual banquet closed the year for German Club.

Officers for 1962-63 were President, Karyl Keup; Vice President, Susie Hopkins; and Secretary, Nancy Marsh.

Languages Broaden Knowledge

Spanish Club

Spanish Club's main purpose is to create interest in the Spanish-speaking countries and Spanish culture. The club is open to second and third year Spanish students only.

Several times during the year speakers addressed club members. Topics ranged from college Spanish courses to life in Mexico.

One of the first dances of the year was sponsored by Spanish Club. The breaking of a pinata, a tradition at Spanish fiestas, highlighted the evening. Mike Wheeler, senior, was chosen to break it with an old broom handle.

This year, for the first time, members bought club sweatshirts. White was selected as the basic color with "Circulo Espanol" and the design in green.

The club joined with two other language clubs to enter a float in the B-Day parade, using the song "Around the World" as the theme.

Latin Club Visits Ancient Rome

French Club

The purpose of Le Cercle Francais is to promote knowledge of French customs and languages. Members are busy throughout the year with guest speakers, films, and reports.

French Club, very active in school affairs, sponsored an after-game sock hop and a pep assembly.

Mrs. Larsen is the sponsor of French Club.

Latin Club

Latin Club, sponsored by Miss Colosky, has been in existence since 1950.

The club encourages among students an interest in and appreciation of the civilization, language, literature, and art of ancient Greece and Rome. It gives members some understanding of the debt our own culture owes to that of classical antiquity.

This year some Latin Club members attended the State Junior Classical League Convention at Conrad, Montana.

Club members decorate the bulletin board Latin style in Miss Colosky's room.

Bob Shoppe, Susan Enis, and Jane Nordlund pin Christmas illustrations on the bulletin board for Latin Club.

YKC Drowns BKC in Water Fight

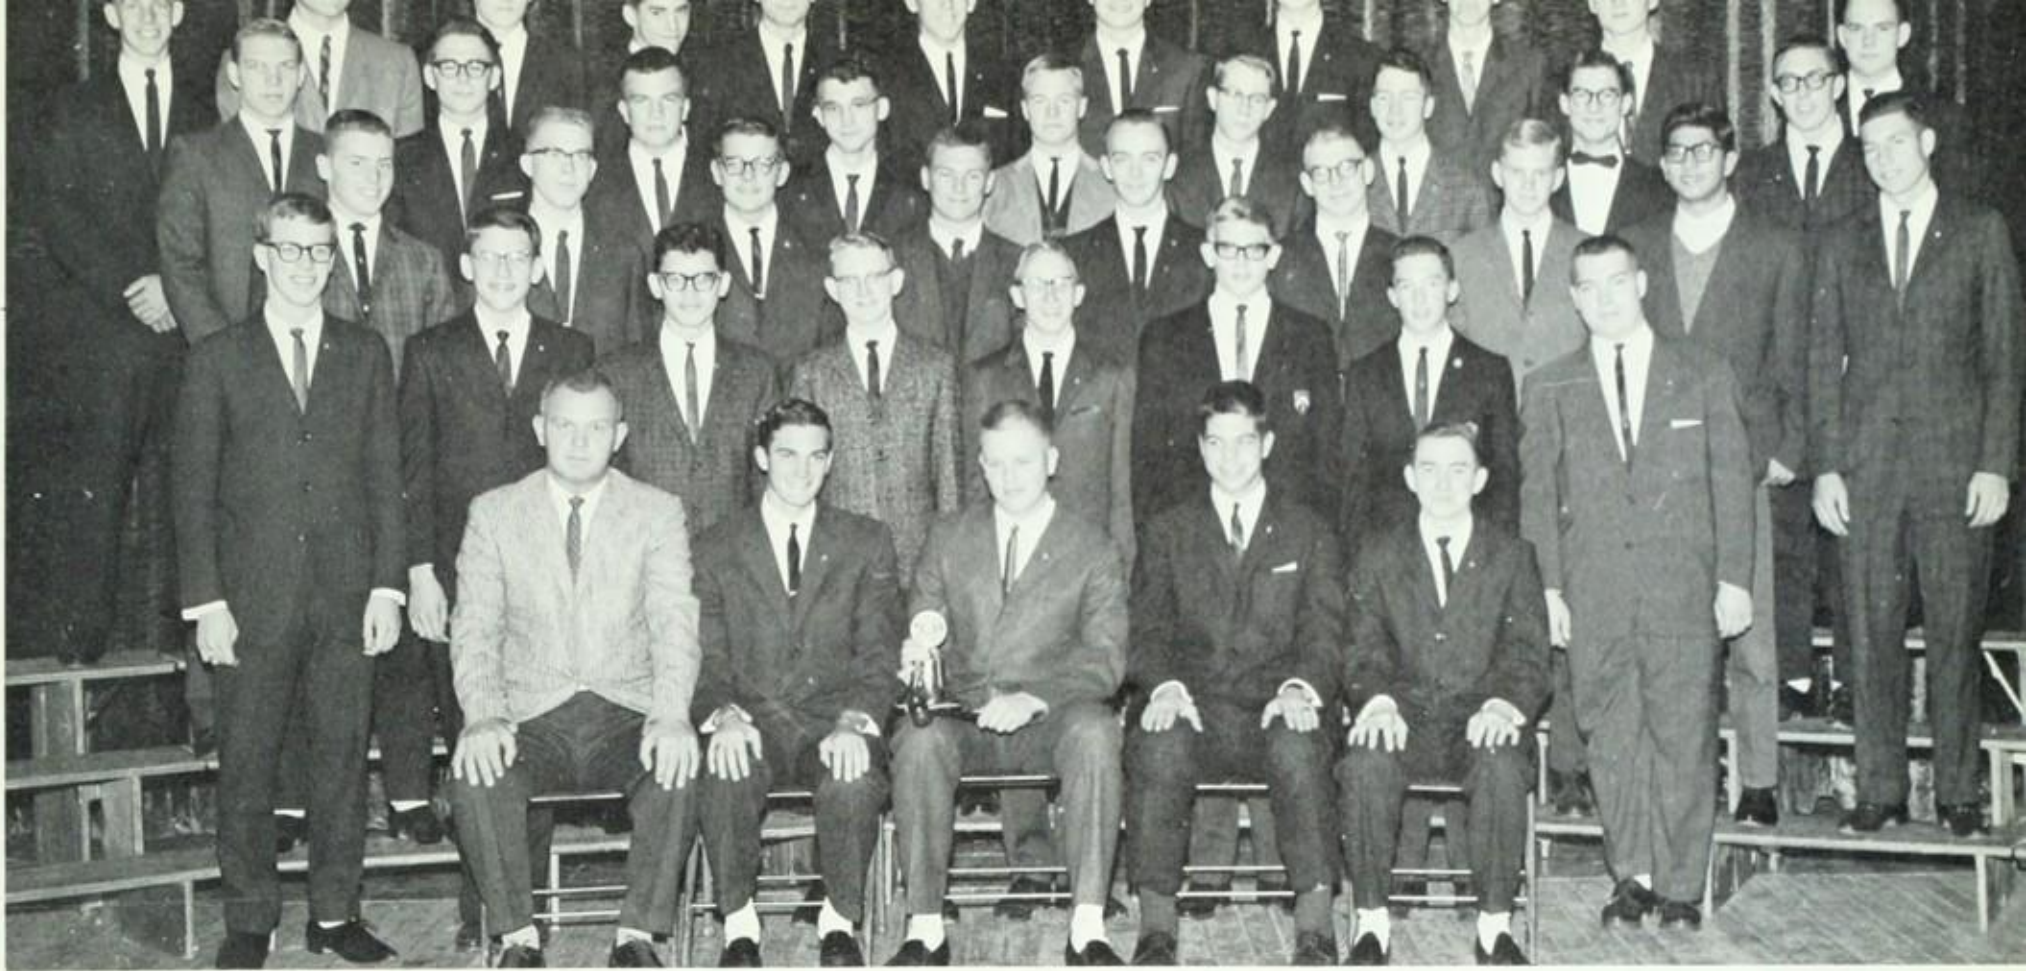

YKC stands firm while spraying down BKC to win the annual water fight in Pioneer Park.

Yellowstone Key Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Packer, has accomplished much this year in serving BHS and the Billings area.

For the community, YKC bought clothing for two children from a welfare family; it paid the transportation for a girl to Great Falls for heart surgery; the club purchased glasses for two people who could not otherwise afford them.

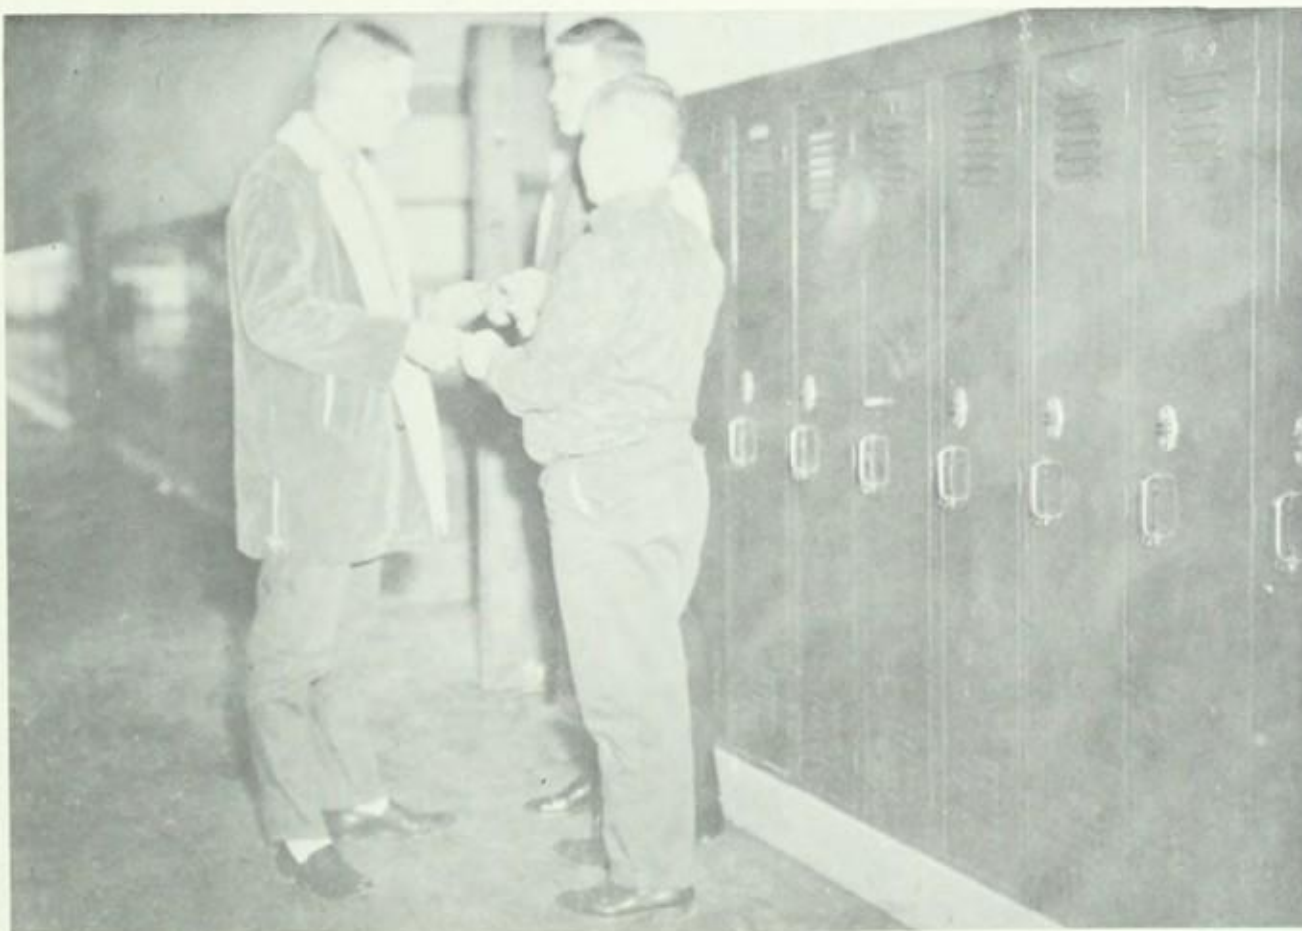

For BHS, the club planted a rose garden in front of the school; members sold football and basketball programs at games and donated the proceeds to the Rick Hutton Fund. Yearly activities of YKC are painting lines in the teachers' parking lot, cleaning the student parking lot every Friday, parking cars for football games, sponsoring murals, printing and selling the BHS literary magazine, and presenting name stamps with ink pads to the faculty.

BKC members, Bruce McGinnis and Doug Barnes, sell Jim Swenson a ticket to the Sneak Preview.

Billings Key Club, the young Billings Kiwanians of BHS, undertook several major projects during the past year. Choosing a select number of applicants for the club started off the year.

The money from the sneak preview which the club sponsored was given to the Rick Hutton fund. The show was No Man Is An Island, a war picture.

Parent's night was also held this year, following the tradition of past years.

Other activities throughout the year included the state convention, Key Club program for the Kiwanis Club, and the initiation banquet.

BKC was a busy club this year completing many assignments most of them having to do with social, school, and community service projects. They also went on a few field trips.

Sponsored by Mr. Eliason, Billings Key Club was the first Key Club in Montana. They have taken many awards for achievement, the last being runner-up in International Competition and winner of state achievement award, both in 1962.

XL Directs Traffic to Assemblies

Mike Griffin directs traffic to the gym for the pep assembly.

In 1949 a group of senior boys organized a pep club. The name GLE (Gentlemen's League of Enthusiasts) was adopted, but because it sounded like a music organization, the name was changed. The new name was XL, pronounced "excel." The club is sponsored by Mr. Nash, Dean of Boys.

In general, the XL boys did all the "dirty work." During the football season, they collected tickets and watched the fences to prevent illegal entries. They sold concessions at each football game. All profits made by XL were donated to the AFS program or the Rick Hutton Fund. During the pep assemblies they saw that students did not leave the school. Mr. Nash mentioned that the girls are the "sneakiest" when it comes to skipping; they hide in the girls' lavatories. Boys merely leave the school while en route to the assembly.

XL'ers promote school spirit and co-operate with the administration in the execution of school activities.

Z Club Sells Spudnuts

Pat Popelka and Claudia VanSteeland decorate the goal posts for B-Day.

Z Club, newest of the service clubs, was organized in 1956. It is sponsored by Zonta Club of Billings and is under the direction of Mrs. Marietta Peters, guidance counselor at BHS.

Every other Thursday during sixth period, Z Club girls sell spudnuts to students to support AFS. The annual AFS Follies, a demonstration of BHS talent, is also presented each year to support AFS.

The Z Club float won first place in the B-Day competition, with the song "Over the Rainbow" as its theme. A huge multi-colored rainbow arched over the truck, which was covered with white napkins. Z Club supported other football games by decorating the goal posts of the visiting and home teams.

Z Club assisted Zonta Club by helping with the Career Conference in December of 1962. In the same month Z Club members invited past members to their annual Alumnae Tea.

The third annual Twirp Dance, at which Mr. Preferred is crowned, was given by Z Club in April.

AK Invites Alumnae to Tea

This year an addition was made to the regular club apparel. AK members introduced white cardigan sweaters with blue emblems.

For the B-Day float theme, "BHS in Song," Activity Klub chose "The Hanging Tree" as its song. The hours members spent planning and working on the float were not wasted, because the float won second place.

Blue sweatshirts were purchased this year; in addition, the members bought club pins.

An annual project of Activity Klub is the Alumnae Tea, given during Christmas vacation. Alumnae from two years back are invited to the tea. Another annual project of Activity Klub is the Miss Broncette election and dance. The members are in charge of publicity, tickets, decorations, and refreshments.

Other projects this year included bake sales and sneak-preview ticket sales. The members planned to arrange a student-faculty basketball game.

AK was formerly named Alpha Kappa, but in 1920 the name was changed to Activity Klub, and the initials AK were retained.

Kinetic Creates A White Christmas

Kinetic Club lives up to its name--like kinetic energy, this club is certainly active. Kinetic Club was started in 1920 under the name "Beta Kappa." Nine years later the name was changed to Kinetic Club.

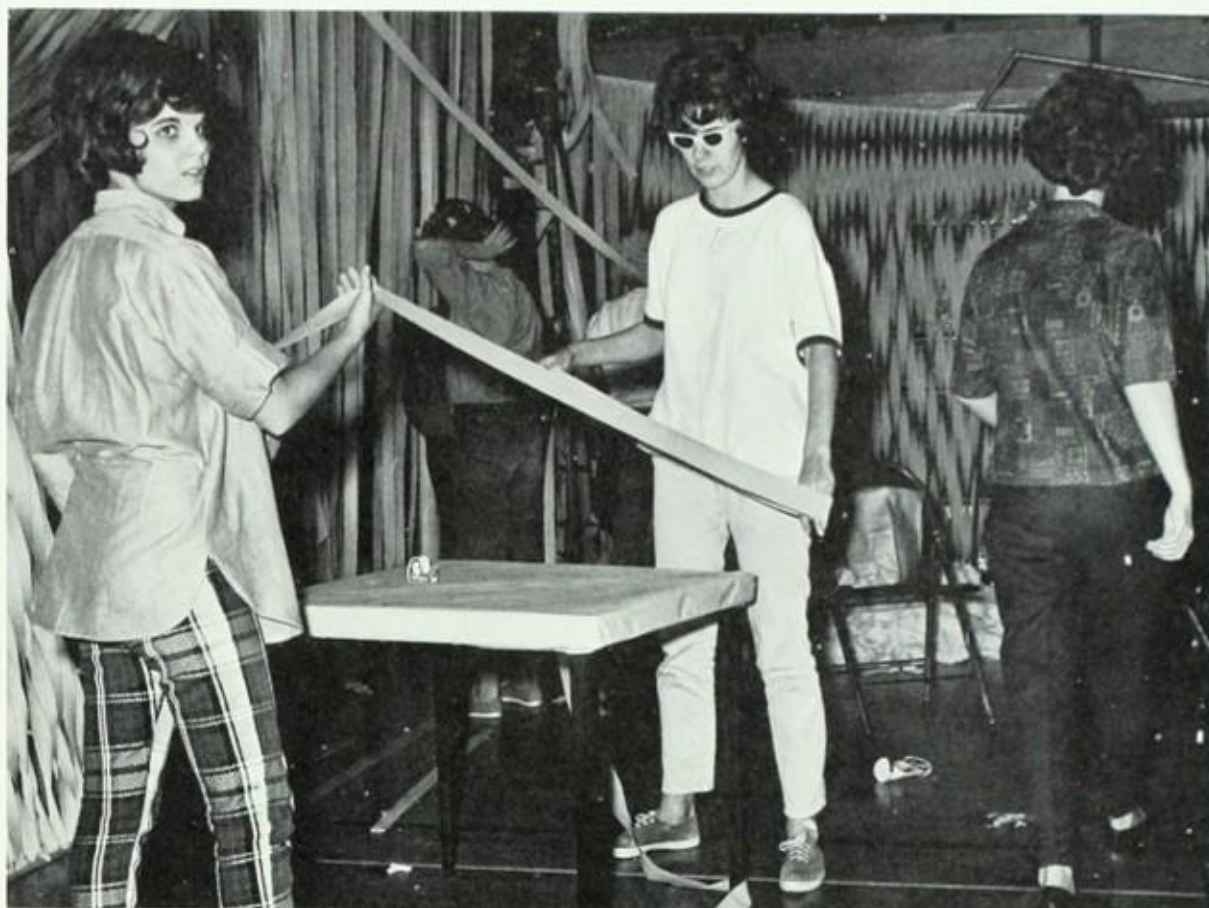

This year, besides sponsoring pep assemblies and dances, the club members planned and presented the Christmas Formal. Hours of work went into decorations which created the "White Christmas" theme.

The Kinetic float took fourth place in the B-Day parade. It was constructed of white napkins with the song "Hail to the Victors" written in gold. A red carpet led to the Bronc football player on the cab of the truck.

Rather than having the annual Christmas tea, the club sent cards to its alumnae. Sweatshirts, green with white lettering, were bought this year by new members.

Miss Kinetic, a senior girl who typifies the most active club member, was chosen at a banquet in the spring. Another honor, given to the club indirectly, was the DAR Award. This was presented to Kinetic's first semester president, Karyl Keup.

Miss Patricia Gill became the new sponsor this year. She teaches geometry and German.

Marcia Fain and Marcia Moline hang streamers for the Christmas formal.

Pep Club Promotes School Spirit

Pep Club's float carries B-Day King and Queen, Charlie Price and Betsy Brown.

Pep Club, made up this year of 120 Senior High girls, promotes school spirit and traditional activities. Besides providing ushers at every home game, Pep Club furnishes ushers for Open House and the Montana-Wyoming game. To earn her letter, a Pep Club girl must usher for at least one home game and participate in one other service project. Such things as helping on a B-Day float, marching in the Pep Club-sponsored B-Day parade, serving on a committee, and ushering, earn a girl her letter. On nearly every Friday, Pep Club girls can be found in black uniforms yelling at the game, or helping to sponsor an after-game dance. With the guidance of Miss Colosky and Mrs. Harnden, Pep Club achieved its goals of creating school spirit, carrying on traditional activities, and serving BHS during 1962-63. The Pep Club girls worked together this year in such projects as sitting in a specified section at games and assemblies, and forming "V" shaped zones for the football team.

Pep Club Leads Enthusiasm

"Who are those two boys coming in?"

"Yea, Broncs, go team go!"

"Um, this looks interesting."

"Oh, I can't bear to watch it!"

"If he makes it, I'll scream!"

"Come on Broncs, another basket!"

Sharon Humphrey shows some basketball fans to their seats while ushering at the Great Falls game.

Music Department Boasts Talent

The top vocal talent in BHS is on display when the A Cappella Choir performs. Members of the choir are selected by Mr. Brandvold, sponsor, from the entire music department to perform in special assemblies and programs.

In the Christmas Concert this year, the main attraction was the 25-foot Christmas tree, which was formed by A Cappella members carrying electric candles and pine boughs.

This vocal group assisted in The "Music Man" which was presented in February.

A Cappella went on a tour to Bismarck, North Dakota, in May.

The club's new sweaters are the same color as its robes--blue with gold trimming.

Mr. Brandvold has been directing the music department for several years. With training and guidance, he has made A Cappella a singing group to be proud of.

In A Cappella and Concert Choir

Senior High has many other vocal groups. One well-known group is the Boys' Quartet. They sing for the BHS students and faculty at assemblies throughout the year. Members in the Boys' Quartet are Charles Price, Mike Wheeler, Joe Parks, and Tom West.

For those who enjoy singing, the Concert Chorus offers opportunity for the training which Mr. Branvold gives. Concert Choir gives experience and provides a training ground for potential A Cappella members.

Dramatics Club Active In Plays

For many students, Dramatics Club is the starting point in the field of drama. In 1948 Mr. Frederick Miller and Miss Clara Strutz organized this group under the name "Apprentice Club." The purpose of the club is to help those students who are sincerely interested in earning the points necessary for admission into Thespians.

Dramatics Club does not consist solely of people having the ability to act. It also includes those who participate in such phases of dramatics as make-up, staging, publicity, properties, and costuming. Mr. Archie Elliot, art instructor, directs the students who build and erect scenery for school productions. The people who work behind the scenes are just as responsible for the success of the play as the actors and actresses.

The stage crew works hard to produce good scenery. Tom Wilkins prepares scenery for "The Night of January 16."

GAA Offers Sports For BHS Girls

Barbara Burton does a flip on the trampoline while other GAA members "spot."

Members of Girls Athletic Association, advised by Miss Phyllis Miller, meet every Monday to participate in a variety of sports from speedball to baseball. This club has greatly contributed to better understanding of sports. Members have the opportunity to perfect their skills and to practice good sportsmanship by receiving instruction and experience in both spectator and competitive sports.

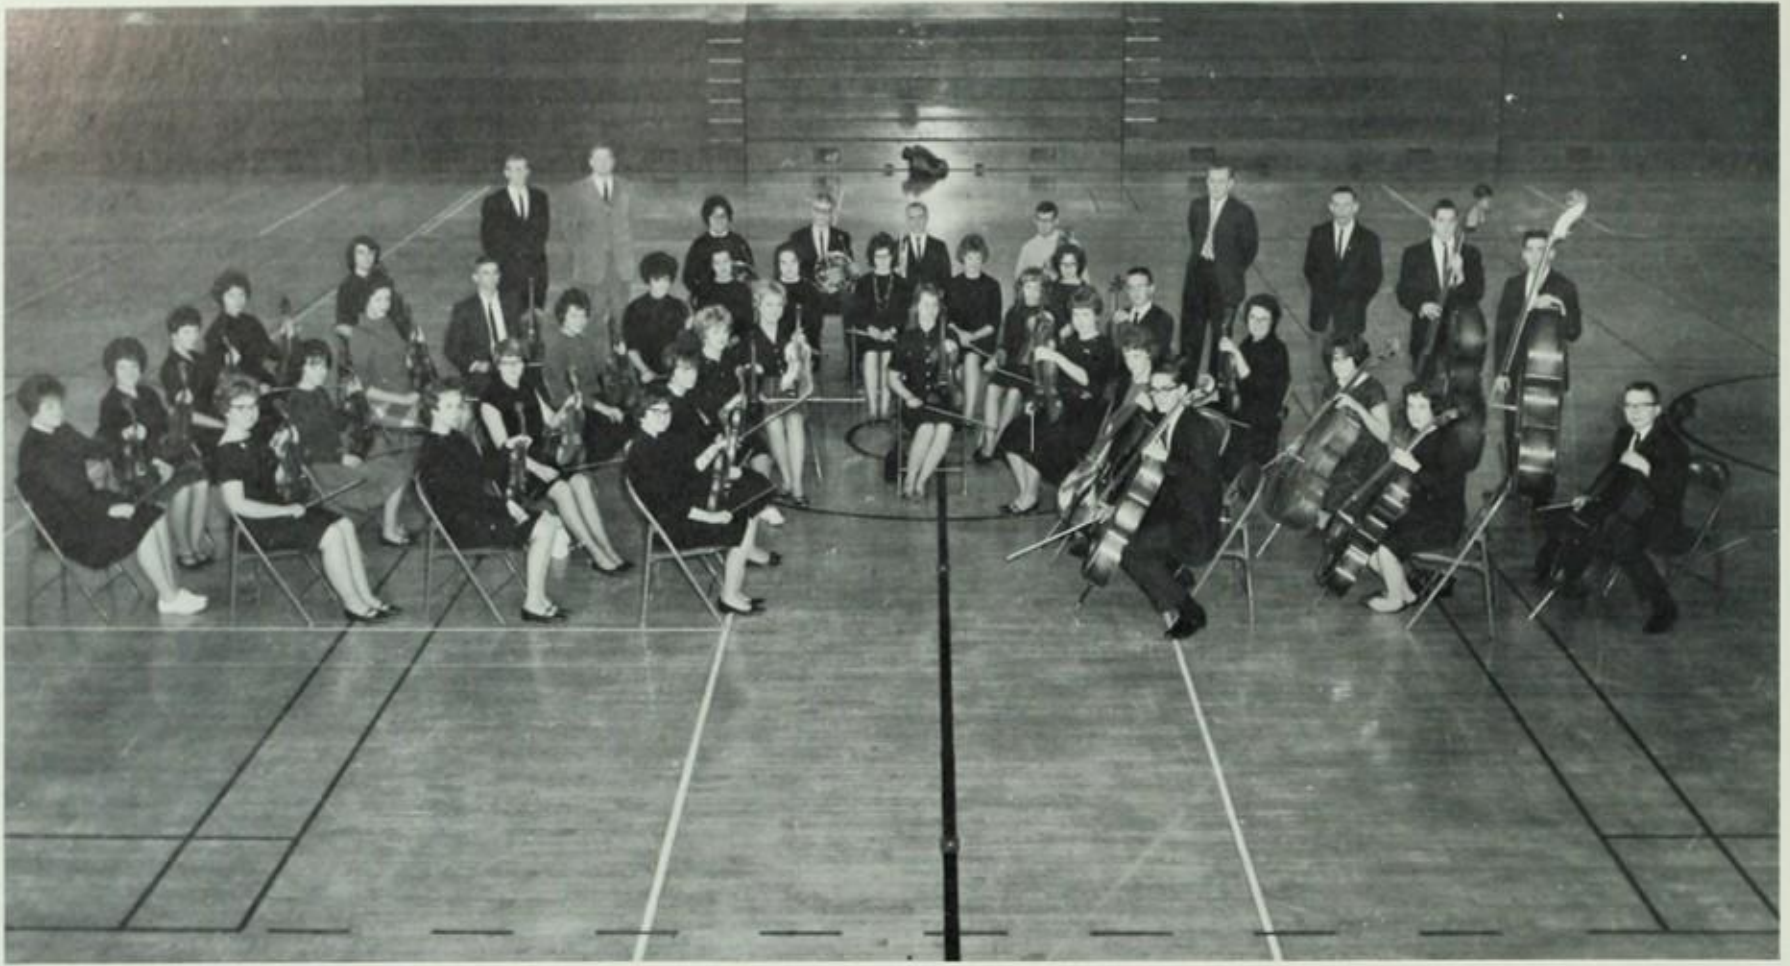

This year the club bought blue sweatshirts for new members.

Members receive club pins and letters by earning 275 and 350 points respectively. They earn these points by coming to meetings and participating in out-of-school sports.

Many of the members are on the AAU track team that was started last year for girls in grades 8 to 12.

The Billings AAU took honors in many of the events held throughout the state.

Some of the activities in 1962-63 for GAA members were a playday with West High GAA, and a playday held in the spring for out of town GAA members.

Brickley, K. Schnad, K. Tolliver, J. Jacobsen, L. Topp, H. Miller, R. Heidema, J. LaSeir, M. Anderson.

Orchestra

The orchestra this year is the largest in its history. Starting as a small string group, the orchestra has grown to a group of 45 members. Besides playing in the pit for THE MUSIC MAN, the orchestra performed for the third session of MEA Convention on October 26, 1962. They presented the Spring Concert and entered district and state music festivals.

Junior Optimist

Junior Optimists, sponsored by Mr. Glynn, tried to set an example of good citizenship by participating in school and community affairs.

Club members sold popcorn at all home games and purchased trophies for the cross-country events. At Christmas they erected Christmas trees in front of the school.

New Uniforms Boost

Joyce Martin and Margie Fulton display their new band uniforms, which they wore for the first time in the B-Day parade.

Although the new band uniforms had been displayed in the window by the main office and most BHS students had seen them, their full effect was shown when the band marched through the streets of Billings in the B-Day parade.

The suit is black with orange trimming. The coat features a reversible lapel, of which the black side is used for concert and the orange for marching. The hat, which is black and orange, bears a white plume. The uniform is completed with orange spats.

Further activities of the band for the year 1962-63 consisted of half-time performances at football and basketball games, an appreciation assembly for Rick Hutton, a record of school songs, produced in cooperation with the West High band, and a spring concert on May 9.

BAND--FIRST ROW: C. Henry, D. Turner, B. Brown, B. Persoma, M. Reedy, D. Allman. SECOND ROW: T. Ferguson, A. Sutherland, T. O'Brian, M. Bender, M. Stephenson, C. Hirning, M. Braid, J. Beiswanger. Fan and Band Morale

Mr. Richards directs the band at the Great Falls Game. Each year he teaches BHS band students to march for half-time events and to play for assemblies and concerts.

BHS Band members march in the B-Day parade, displaying new uniforms and high morale. The parade was the debut of the new uniforms.

Typing is one of the many prerequisites for journalism. Here Judy Jeffers prepares her copy for the paper while Sharon Stark looks on.

The Kyote Paper, advised by Mr. Henry Harsch, is in its forty-ninth year of production. It is published semi-monthly and is purchased with a student activity ticket.

"Letters to the Editor," something new in the Kyote Paper this year, is a column in which students of BHS express their feelings on happenings involving the school. The staff uses a locker by the paper room for a mail box.

"Alumni Notes," written by Karyl Keup, is a column about the alumni of BHS and what they have been doing since graduation.

Joy Buck has charge of "As You Wear It," a regular feature of the paper telling of BHS fashions.

"Music," the column written by Claude Scott, discusses popular and classical music.

Doug Barnes, the sports editor, writes "As I See It," in which he predicts what the Broncs will do in the future, and how they played in each week's game.

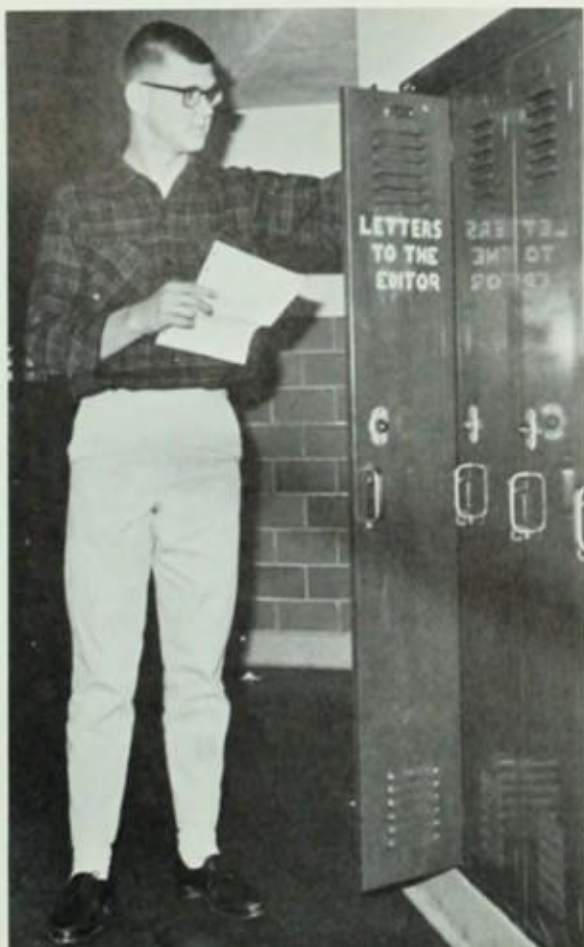

Burley Packwood, this year's Kyote editor is assisted by Gary Card, the associate editor.

Karen Johnson, associate and feature editors, checked all copy and layouts, compiled the index, and prepared feature pages.

Mrs. Steele became advisor of the annual staff in the fall. She supervised all work and okayed all pages.

Carlene Ames, Kyote Annual editor, was responsible for all deadlines and for coordinating the book.

Annual Staff Records Memories

Betty Hartung planned the opening section layouts and worked as business manager and class editor.

Marilyn Beringer, faculty editor, was also in charge of the junior class section.

Bruce McGinnis prepared the Colt football, Colt basketball, and wrestling pages.

Davey Schmidt, club editor, planned club layouts and copy, pictures, and identification.

Alma Lou Peterson and Margaret Myhre were staff artists and served as members of the ad staff. They drew the sales posters and helped with the ads by drawing and planning layouts.

Fred Murray served as sports editor, covering Bronc football and track. His assistant, Weymouth Symmes, took charge of cross-country and intramural basketball and football.

Marilyn Beringer, Betty Hartung, and Richard Roach go through the advertising dummy, planning a new sales drive.

Work on the 1963 Kyote Annual began in January of 1962 with a semester course for would-be journalists. During the first quarter, students learned fundamentals of journalism. At the beginning of the second quarter, staff positions were assigned and the new staff members started planning the 1963 annual. They decided on budget, theme, cover, endsheets, page allotments for each section.

When the 1962-1963 school year opened, students began working toward their first major deadline--32 pages to be sent to the publisher on October 18. This was the first of four mailing deadlines, each of which brought crises of unacceptable pictures, unwritten copy, too-long headlines. Nevertheless, staff members feel the new 9X12 size, the unique cover and endsheets, the (on the whole) excellent pictures compensate for frustrations and long hours.

Larry Jensen and Ginger Pensis, photographers, took, developed, and printed pictures, using the annual's three cameras, film, and chemicals. Ginger worked in the new darkroom, although Larry did most of his work at home.

Terri Barnett edited the activity section and the sophomore class section.

Richard Roach worked on the ad section and also helped as a photographer.

Betsy Brown, distribution manager, typed copy and assisted with the ads.

Rick Neill wrote copy for and finished the varsity basketball pages.

Lettermen Sell Concert Tickets

Lettermen's Club is an honorary club for boys who have lettered in some sport. The club's main activities this year pertained to the Rich Hutton Fund. Nine lettermen, for example, wrote to almost all Montana high schools informing them of the Hutton Fund and requesting support. When Carroll College presented a concert in the Lincoln Junior High auditorium with all proceeds going to the Rick Hutton Fund, lettermen sold tickets and ushered.

Members of the club can be distinguished by their letter sweaters and jackets--black with orange "B's." Sometimes a boy's "B" is almost covered with gold pins--footballs, basketballs, track shoes, gold bars. The bars symbolize the number of years the boy has lettered; other pins indicate sports in which he has participated.

Selection of officers this year was done in a rather unusual manner--the first three members to reach the stage for their Kyote Annual picture became officers. (See list below.) Football coach John Kosich sponsors the club.

Music Man Adds Thespian Hours

Marcia,
I know we are seniors and about to graduate and go our separate ways, but I don't want to say good bye. I want to be your friend for many years to come so good luck until I see you again! Dudy Fentler

Professor Harold Hill (Charles Price) and Marcellus Washburn (Paul Anderson) discuss Harold's preferences in women at a dress rehearsal of THE MUSIC MAN.

Thespians is an honorary club which requires that a student work for 100 hours on dramatic productions before he is eligible for membership. Any phase of the production, from stage work to playing a major role, can be counted.

Thespian Troupe 555 is sponsored by Mr. Mickelson, who is the state representative in the national organization.

The main activities of the troupe consist of the fall production, the musical, the class plays, and Project X, an annual dance with a secret theme. This year the troupe presented THE NIGHT OF JANUARY 16th and THE MUSIC MAN as their fall and musical productions.

In June of 1962, six Thespians were sent to the National Thespian Convention in Bloomington, Indiana. Miss Strutz accompanied the six--Jacque Allen, Marsha Bortis, Randall Hodgdon, Ramsey Miller, Judy Smalley, and Barbara Trott--as chaperon and sponsor.

Hard Work Often Pays Off

Quill and Scroll is an honorary club, a consolidation of Kyote Annual and Paper workers. To be accepted for membership, a journalism student must have done outstanding work in some phase of journalism. Each applicant must be recommended by either paper advisor Mr. Harsch or annual advisor Mrs. Steele. As an honorary club, Quill and Scroll does not plan special activities other than the work required by the members' staff positions.

SPORTS

The Broncs form another link between school and city. People of the city follow the sporting events of a school--especially during a winning season. Some come to the games, others listen to them on the radio, still others read the game results in the morning paper. Whether it is the friendly interest of most spectators, the intense fervor of BHS students, or the equally intense animosity of the opposing school and its cheering section, school sports draw attention. People can see the spirit of the school at a basketball game or a track meet; in many other school events, such as class elections, citizens can only hear secondhand what happened.

On the following pages the Kyote Annual staff pictures the games, the practices, and the players, so the reader may see the Broncs in action.

Marcia,
you can't deny it's been fun. I've gotten to know you even better this year. I am glad I did cause you're a wonderful girl.
I do wish you'd learn how to drive your car though. It would help
"Big Boy" though. I would help a lot. Of course, if you'd learn to drive some other things right you would be able to drive. I wonder if you would you're a really wonderful girl.
This isn't the beginning of our friendship though - just the beginning. See you lots & lots this summer - Be good and keep in touch -
Love

BHS Misses Title By Three Points

The Billings Broncs opened the 1962 football season with a 20-0 victory over the Sheridan Broncs at Daylis Stadium. It was a game of breaks which saw the home squad capitalize on four Sheridan fumbles for two touchdowns. Garriss scored the first two from the 18 and the 7 yard lines, respectively. In the second half, Green added the third score on the opening play from scrimmage, with Anderson running the extra point. Hutton also converted by the ground route after Garriss' first score.

Dick Brickley manages to unleash a pass despite West High's red-dogging. The Billings Broncs edged the Bears 13-12.

The Kalispell Braves bowed before the Broncs, 27-12, in a game that saw 150 yards of penalties nullify some good offensive assaults by both teams. The Broncs opened the scoring in the second quarter with three touchdowns. Rick Neill scored the first two on a 15-yard run off the left tackle and a plunge from the one-foot line. Brickley kicked both extra points and missed the third after going over from the 2-yard line on a quarterback sneak to make the score 20-6. The Bronc defense performed creditably against the Braves' ground attack, but the secondary permitted the Braves to complete 7 out of 15 passes for 110 yards and their first touchdown. Green skirted the right end for 36 yards and 6 more points with Brickley converting to complete the scoring for the evening.

Tavish proved to be the margin of victory as the Missoula Spartans tipped the Broncs 7-6. BHS led the game 6-0 from the second period when, on the Missoula 7 yard line Charles Price scored on a recovered punt blocked by Dick Brickley. After a 28-yard pass midway in the fourth quarter, the Spartans drew even with Billings. Three fumbles hurt Billings' chance for upping their point total. The Spartans gained 13 first downs and 314 yards as compared to 7 downs and 146 yards for the Broncs. However, the BHS defense dug in and forced Missoula to punt four times.

Broncs Survive Bear Scare, 13-12

The Broncs scored 13 points against a spirited West High team and wound up clinging tightly to a one-point, 13-12 victory. One word can probably best describe the main weapon used by both teams--guts. Time and time again, each team assaulted the other's goal line and was thwarted. When the Broncs scored the first touchdown of the game, the Bears came roaring back with the second as though they had been waiting for Senior High to start the fireworks. Actually, these two scores decided the final outcome of the game. A 50-yard pass play from Dick Brickley to Gary Scheafer started the scoring. Brickley ran the decisive extra point. Five plays later, West's Brad Anderson chased his own fumble into the end zone and captured it there for the Bears' first score. The Broncs were penalized 65 yards to West High's 36 yards, indicating the desire both teams had to put this game in their win column. Brickley passed to Ron Pogue in the fourth quarter from 15 yards out to complete the Broncs' scoring. Scilley answered this with a 45-yard strike to Del Wade on the 5. After losing a yard, Scilley handed off to Bob Tenney, who drove up the middle from the 6 yard line for the final counter of the day. The Broncs tightened their defense and stopped the Bears' bid for the extra point. Throughout the game, both teams hit harder than they probably ever have. Though the Broncs suffered only two casualties, one of them was the Bronc captain, Rick Hutton. The star halfback was hospitalized with a brain hemorrhage and was placed on the critical list in a coma.

Determination was the byword as the Broncs rolled up a lopsided 38-0 victory over Cody. Senior High's scoring in the first quarter consisted of a plunge from the 1 yard line by Rick Neill and a 36-yard run around the left end by Doug Green. Neill's score followed a punt, which was blocked on the Cody 6 yard line. The alert Bronc defense forced Cody to punt seven times during the game. Dick Brickley followed up the first counter by kicking the extra point. Setting up a touchdown run by Tye Hoskins, Green's brilliant 66-yard run highlighted the second quarter. A Cody punt blocked by Bob Everson rolled into the end zone where he grabbed it to make the score 25-0. Bruce Dailey upped the margin to 31-0 at the half with a 17-yard touchdown pass to Everson. Although Cody managed to hold BHS to an inaccurate field goal in the third quarter, Billings ended the scoring on a 65-yard run with an intercepted pass by Gary Scheafer in the fourth quarter.

BHS defense puts pressure on Bears' quarterback Dale Scilley forcing him to throw wildly in West High game action.

Fans witness tense moments as players pursue a loose ball in duel with West High. Doug Green finally managed to corral the slippery pigskin to keep Bronc offensive attack alive.

This is the result of a wild Bronc pass play in the Great Falls game. The pass failed, forcing Billings to punt on fourth down.

In a futile goal line stand, the Broncs manage to delay a Butte touchdown.

Butte Bursts Bronc Title Hopes

Although Billings drew first blood, they never saw their lead again as the Butte Public Bulldogs all but eliminated the Broncs' title hopes with a 27-12 victory. Early in the second period, Dick Brickley tossed 15 yards to Gary Scheafer to open the scoring. Butte retaliated with two touchdowns before the close of the first half. To add to the Broncs' frustration, both Butte conversions were successful. In the third period, the Bulldogs resumed their control of the game with an 80-yard punt return. Three plays after recovering a fumble on the Butte 35, the Broncs shoed Rick Neill across the goal line for their final score. The game was put on ice when the visitors recovered a fumble by the retreating Brickley and spilled it into the end zone.

Awaking from a first-half lethargy which produced only one touchdown, BHS swamped Butte Central, 27-0. In the initial quarter, Rick Neill plunged 2 yards for the score following a sustained 76-yard drive. Dick Brickley's perfect kick served as a pattern for the next two. Billings had to wait until the third quarter for further results in the game. Following his own 3-yard plunge for the second counter, Brickley threw 18 yards to Ron Brownlee to up the score to 21-0. In the final period, Dan Cassady raced 7 yards into the end zone to complete the scoring. Holding the Maroons to 31 total yards and 6 punts, the Bronc defense contributed two interceptions and snared a fumble.

Ron Brownlee drags a Great Falls ball carrier down on the Bronc 28 yard line, following a Bronc punt. This was one of the many fine maneuvers that earned the Broncs a 7-7 tie with the undefeated AA title-holders.

Billings scored 25 points in the second half to break a 7-7 tie and to dump Anaconda, 32-7. Early in the second quarter, a 50-yard pass play from Dick Brickley to Doug Green produced the Broncos' first marker, punctuated by Brickley's conversion. The Broncos' second score came in the third quarter when Brickley, preceded by a 70-yard march, went over from the one on a quarterback sneak. The last period was all Billings as the Broncos scored 19 points starting with a 5-yard touchdown scamper by Jim Parker. After recovering a fumble on the Bronc 43 yard line, Brickley unleashed a 41-yard scoring strike to Mack Anderson. To give the game a final dramatic touch, Dan Cassady ambushed a Copperhead desperation pass and returned it 40 yards for the Broncos' final counter. A second quarter defensive lapse by the Broncos permitted the Copperheads to strike on a one-foot plunge for the lone Anaconda score.

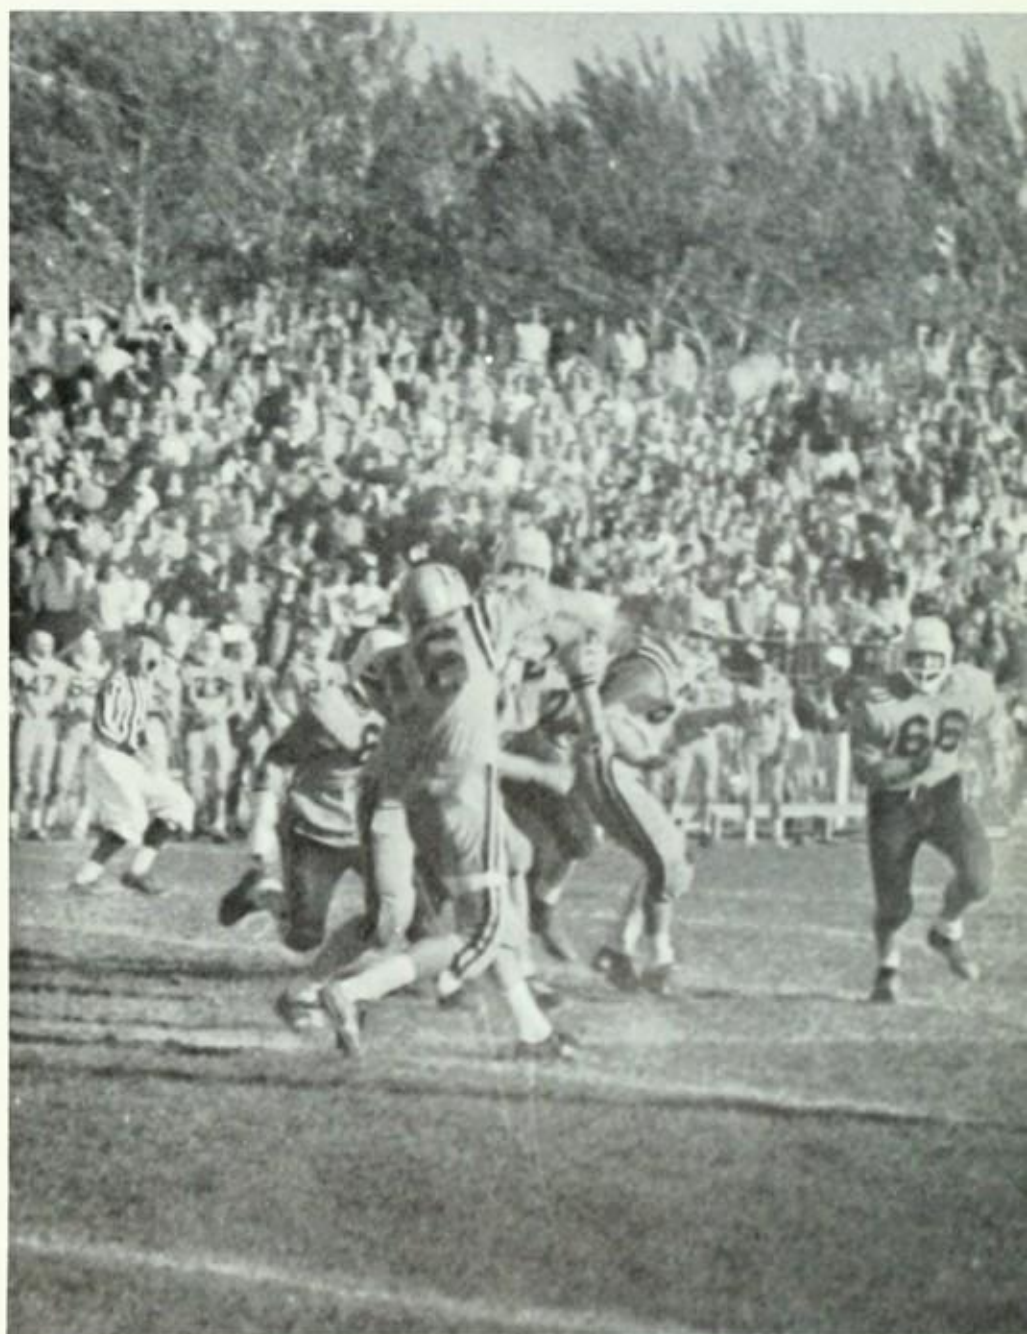

Bronc front liners aid each other in stopping a Butte back at the line of scrimmage.

Broncs Upset Bisons in 7-7 Tie

After holding Great Falls to a first-half scoreless tie, Billings managed one touchdown for a 7-7 deadlock in the annual B-Day contest. The Broncos' lone score came in the third period on a 25-yard aerial from Dick Brickley to Ron Brownlee. The play unfolded as a bootleg play, but when Brickley glimpsed Brownlee all alone in the end zone, he whipped the ball to the big right end for the score. A short, out-of-bounds punt by Renzy Cushing gave Great Falls their last opportunity. Following a series of flat passes, the Bison caught the Billings defense unaware and Fred Schafer dashed 21 yards for the Bison score. The kick for the extra point was good and Great Falls had salvaged a tie. In a desperate attempt to score, Brickley went for a long pass, which was picked off by Great Falls, who succeeded only in running out the clock. Although Great Falls gained 90 yards and 3 first downs more than the Broncos, most of them came during their concerted efforts in the second and last quarters. Five times the Bisons punted. Three times their try for the first down was hampered by a determined Bronc defensive wall led by Terry Hardy, Charlie Price, and Ken Tolliver.

Tallying at least once a quarter, the Broncos flattened hapless Helena, 45-6, to close a fruitful grid campaign. Jim Parker scored first for the boys from Billings with a 4-yard plunge following a 90-yard wave of well-engineered plays. Doug Green hoisted the score to 12-0 for the quarter with a 35-yard interception runback of a Bengal pass. On a keeper play, Brickley raced 35 yards for a touchdown and then tossed to Rick Neill for the only score in the second quarter. Neill opened the second half scoring with a one-yard plunge. Before Helena scored a single point, Billings had increased its lead to 32-0 on a 20-yard scoring scamper by Mack Anderson. The Bengals surprised a previously impenetrable BHS defense with a 52-yard touchdown pass early in the final period. In answer to this, Senior High struck twice with successive runs of 50 yards and 2 yards by Tye Hoskins and Tom West. Dick Gaines' kick for the extra point completed the rout.

The Kyote Annual

"One, two, one, two! C'mon! Step it up! All right. On your stomachs and rock!"

These are the sounds of football practice, from the opening calisthenics to the final scrimmage.

Calisthenics play a major role in the conditioning of any athlete. Therefore, about ten minutes of each practice period is devoted to limbering up. The exercises consist mainly of side-straddle hops, rocking back and forth on the stomach like a cradle, bridging, and the like. Since running is so important in practice, part of the squad, usually the linemen, devotes a good half-hour to running mock plays.

Monday's practice session is primarily devoted to reviewing errors of the previous game. Game films are shown whenever they can be developed and made available, usually on the Wednesday following each game.

Practice time each day is apportioned among calisthenics, workouts on the tackling dummy, specialist practice, and scrimmage. As head coach, Mr. Kosich has three assistants. Mr. Cox works with the linemen while Mr. Olsen and Mr. Walker tutor the ends and backs, respectively.

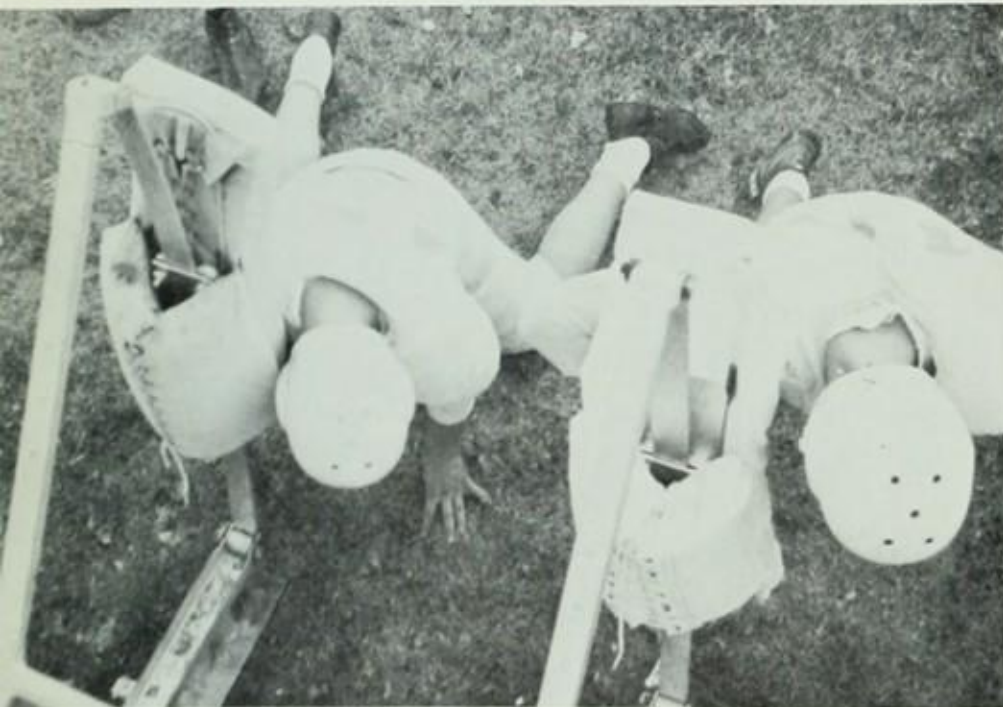

The daily scrimmages provide both offense and defense with an opportunity to mold themselves into an efficient football machine of varying degrees of power. If the game is out of town, the traveling squad is chosen during Thursday's practice. Players are given ample opportunity to display their talents.

Since Mr. Kosich usually lets the quarterback call his own plays, the players are on their own when game time arrives, at least until the few minutes during half time. First half mistakes and strategy for the second half are discussed at this half-time meeting, as well as scouting reports and statistics. Then the team takes the field again for its last licks. The results of the Bronc practice procedure described here produced a 7-2-1 record and a 7-7 deadlock with undefeated Great Falls, the league champions. These are pretty good credentials for any team.

Charlie Price was nominated All-State first team tackle, while Bob Everson, end, and Terry Hardy, guard, made the second team. 128-pound Hardy was also named the most valuable Bronc.

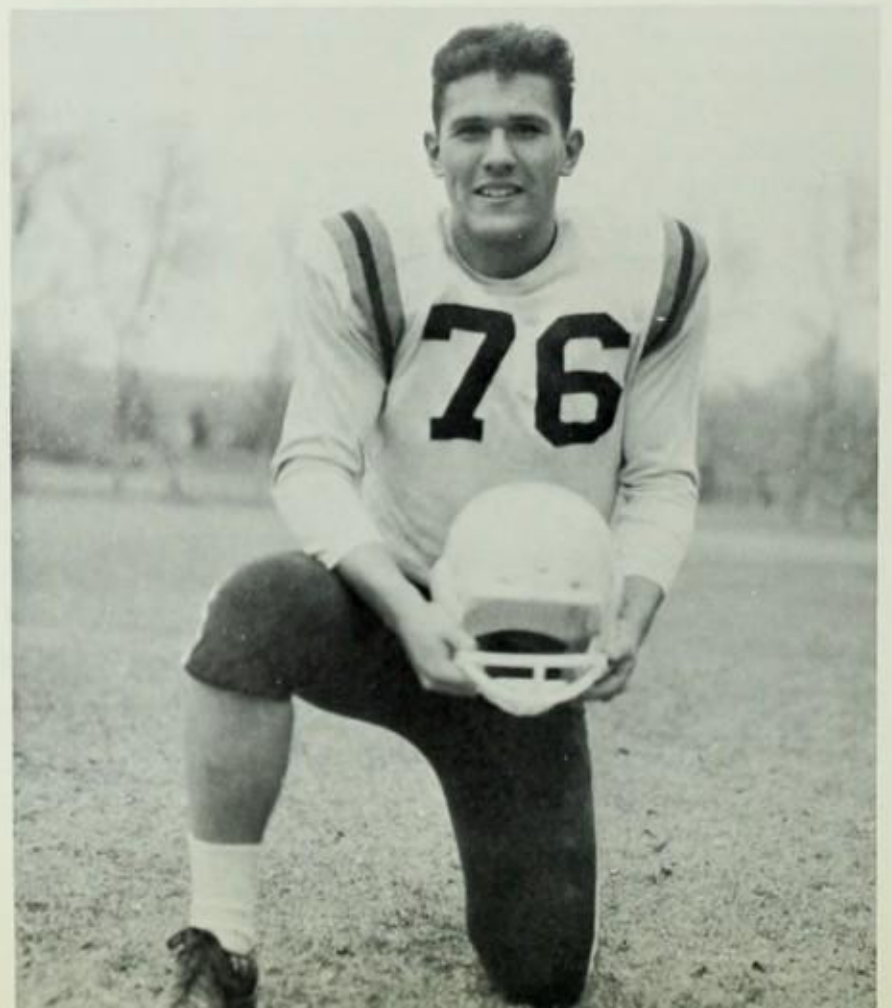

Another important calisthenic, bridging, is designed to strengthen and limber up the back muscles.

Players learn defensive fundamentals through bouts with the tackling dummy.

This is where new plays originate, strategy is discussed, and praise, admonition, and discipline are administered. This is the huddle.

Visits Practice

Leg-overs, designed to strengthen the leg muscles, are another vital part to the daily exercise period.

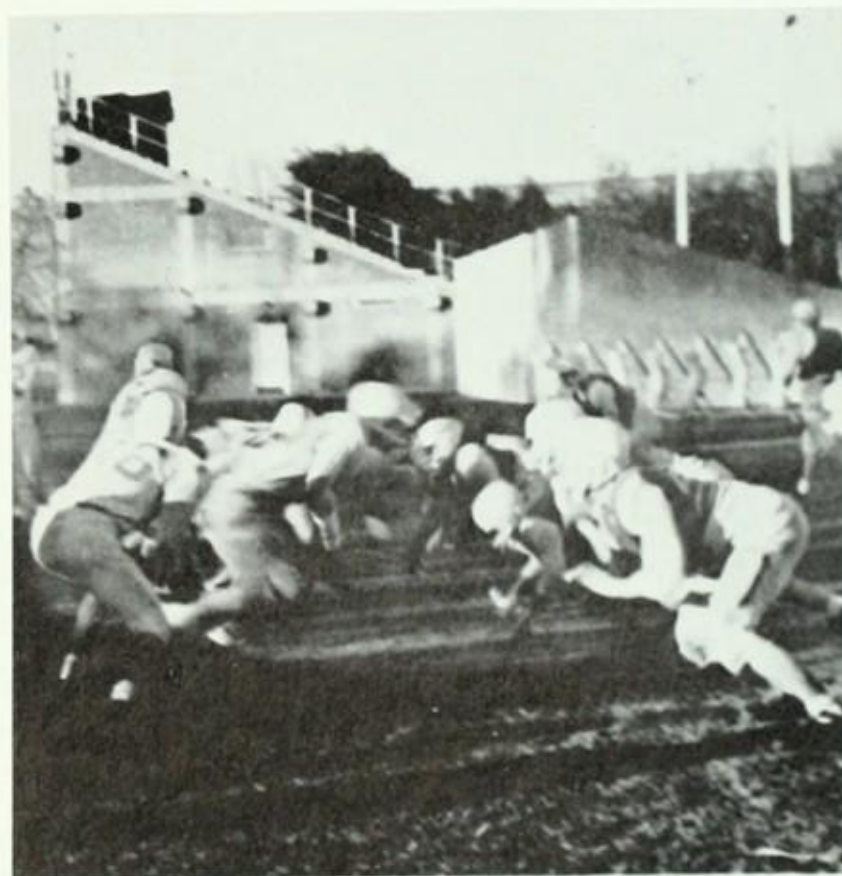

Usually the opening exercise, side-straddle hops, or "jumping jacks," as some call them, play an important part in practice.

Nitecrawlers Take Second Crown

Six teams participated in the intramural football program under the sponsorship of Mr. Duecker, a history teacher at BHS. Mr. Duecker refereed, and Fred Murray served as scorekeeper.

The intramural program gives boys who are not out for varsity sports a chance to compete in organized games. The program also provides a club activity because most of the teams are supplied by clubs.

Vern Martinez was high scorer with a total of eleven touchdowns for five games. Martinez played on BKC's team. Ken Schnad, playing for the Nitecrawlers, made seven touchdowns, and Gari Coatsworth, also playing for the Nitecrawlers, ran a close third with six touchdowns.

Green Bronc Harriers Rebuild

Although they showed good potential, the BHS cross-country team suffered an almost winless season. Their only success came at the Helena meet, when BHS scored twenty-three points to Helena's thirty-two. In this meet the Bronc runners placed three men among the first four coming in.

In all four meets with West High, the Broncs had to take a back seat to West High's runner, Fred Friesz. The closest that Senior High came to West was a four point loss in the first meet, when the Broncs polled thirty points against West's twenty-six. In cross-country the team with the lowest score wins the meet. The runner who comes in first receives one point, the second runner receives two points and so on.

In the third meet, Friesz broke the record for a two-mile course with a time of 10:20.2. This topped Bronc runner Doug Brown's state record of 10:40 for the two-mile course.

Richard Moe and Duane House finished among the top five runners in the four meets. They tied for low-scoring honors with thirteen points each.

The flying Broncs will lose four of their top seniors--Jon Thiel, Gene Sprague, Richard Moe and Dominic Sillitti--through graduation, but six underclassmen--Dean Bemis, Dave Butler, Don Cousar, Duane House, John Daly and John Crawford--should have sufficient experience to replace them. Backing them up will be several runners who, although they did not letter, should fit into Coach Myers' plans for a winning team next year.

Of the new arrivals, John Crawford improved most and is expected to bolster the orange-and-black's running next year.

Moe, one of the Broncs' top runners, comes in fifth for the inexperienced Bronc team.

BHS Opens Season With "Vigah"

Schnad fires two over the outstretched hand of Helena guard.

The Billings Senior High Bronc basketball squad got off to a good start this year by defeating four Wyoming teams in non-conference competition. In the season opener, against Sheridan, the Broncs showed typical early season jitters by posting a halftime score of only 15-14. The Broncs sharpened their shooting during the second half to prevail with 47 against 42 for Sheridan. Gary Day was the big gun and the only Billings player to hit in the double figures, totaling thirteen.

The next night the Broncs traveled to Cody, Wyoming, to take an easy 65-45 victory. Dave Konzen put on a good show for the Wyoming fans, scoring sixteen and leading the Broncs in rebounds. Brickley was hitting from out front to rack up fifteen, and reserve center Dean Barnett came off the bench to score eight vital points in the final quarter and 12 for the game.

The Broncs continued their winning ways against Powell and Lovell the next weekend. At Powell, Dailey swished the cords for fourteen and Cardwell Berg played a brilliant defensive game, letting his man get only two. As the final quarter neared the finish, tempers flared and a few lefts and rights were thrown. Luckily the punches missed their mark and no one was hurt. The score at the final buzzer showed Billings 53, Powell 37. On Saturday the Broncs traveled to Lovell, and again Dave Konzen led the team to victory with fifteen points. Play was a little ragged in the second half with most of the starters for both teams picking up four fouls. The final score tallied 59-45.

Broncs Split With West High

In the first conference test of the season, the Broncs renewed their traditional rivalry with West High in the Senior gym. The Bears had also posted impressive wins over Wyoming powers in non-conference games, and it took an all-out effort by every man on the floor for the Broncs to eke out a 57-56 victory over the Yellow Bears. The Broncs led by good margins for three quarters before, in the final quarter, the roof fell in with the lead changing hands several times. With 10 seconds left on the clock, Brickley and Berg brought the ball down the floor with West leading by one. A pass from Konzen to Brickley was deflected out of bounds by a West player. Time-out was called and the strategic mind of Coach Lazetich went to work. As play started again, 4 seconds showed on the clock. The players executed the play just the way Coach Laz had designed it and before the buzzer sounded, junior center Gary Day racked up two for the home squad. Day's total was 19, Dailey hit for 17, and the other forward, senior Dave Konzen potted 9. These three also pulled down 10 rebounds apiece.

In a holiday tournament at Great Falls, the Broncs hit in accordance with the weather--cold. A sluggish Bronc quintet lost to Great Falls 50-36 in the tournament opener, hitting only 17% of their shots. The next night they warmed up enough to defeat Butte Public in consolation play. The final score was 60-57. Dailey and Brickley hit 17, and the other starters, Konzen, Day, and Berg, hit 6, 9, and 9 respectively.

Back in Billings for the first game of the new year, the Broncs out-classed Butte Central 72-41. The two junior centers for Billings hit for a combined total of 25 points. Day had 14, Barnett, 11, and Brickley added 15 more to the cause. The Broncs played tough defense also, as the score indicates.

Dean Barnett came off the bench to score this basket and a total of 20 points in the Helena game. Brickley and Helena players look on. Billings prevailed 64 to 53.

BHS Stops Bisons

Great Falls brought a 23-game winning streak into Billings only to have the Broncos snap it with an impressive 73-55 victory. The entire first five showed the championship form that they possess. Cardwell Berg, the inspiration of last year's team, got off to a slow start this season but seemed to find himself this game. Berg hit four field goals in a row to break the Bisons' backs. Berg, Brickley, Dailey, and Konzen provided the offensive punch as Day played matchless defense and helped Konzen control the boards.

The Senior High gym was sparsely populated Saturday night as the Broncos met cellar-dweller Helena. The Broncos looked tired as they let down and only led by three at the half-way mark. It took a 20-point effort from junior reserve center Dean Barnett to keep the Broncos in the victory column. The other center, Day, also hit for fifteen to make the score 64 to 53.

The Broncos moved into the Anaconda gym for their first conference out-of-town contest. The composition that made the Broncos look like champions against the Great Falls Bisons was completely lost, as each man tried to play his own individual game. Poor refereeing, mistakes, and little teamwork united to result in the first conference loss for Billings. The raggedness of play was apparent throughout the game with the Broncos running hot and cold all the way. In the closing minutes of the fourth quarter, Barnett hit six of nine free throws to help tie up the game. At the final buzzer of regular game-time the score was knotted at 37-37. In the three-minute overtime period Berg hit a 30-foot jump shot to put the Broncos ahead by two with a minute and one-half left, but a free throw by Anaconda put them within one point. Anaconda gained control on a jump-ball with 41 seconds left and through the noise and excitement rocking the gym, an Anaconda forward hit a jump-shot with ten seconds left on the clock. The Broncos were unable to get a shot off before the buzzer. Final score: Anaconda 40, Billings 39.

The next night in the mining city of Butte, the Butte Public Purples made it two losses in a row for the Broncos, who had started the weekend with a 4-0 record for conference play.

The Butte Bulldogs caught the Broncos cold in the second quarter at the Civic Center to pick up their margin for victory. The visiting Broncos started fast to build up a nine-point lead in the first quarter. But the hot shooting of the Purples and the sluggish shooting of the Orange-and-Black made up this deficit rapidly. Butte took advantage of this break to build up a 30-19 halftime edge. In the third period the Bulldogs went five minutes with only one basket, but Billings wasn't hitting much better, closing the gap to only four points. Third period score stood 38-34 for Butte.

Broncs Score

The Broncs threw up a zone press to confuse the Bulldogs and get the break they needed, but the locals solved the press to pull away in the final period. The Broncs couldn't hit in the last period. At one point the Broncs took seven shots at the basket, but still failed to score. The final score was 56-47. Dailey was the only Bronc to hit in the double figures, totaling fifteen.

In another week of action, senior reserve guard, Ken Schnad came off the bench to spark the Broncs to a victory against Kalispell and a near-victory over Missoula. The 65-48 Class AA Conference victory over Kalispell gave the Broncs five wins and two losses in conference competition. Kalispell took a 12-11 lead at the quarter mark since the Broncs could not hit the basket. Then, with Day zeroing in, the Broncs jumped ahead 26-18 at halftime, and Coach Lazetich gave the substitutes a chance to show their skill. The subs were hot with Ken Schnad doing a terrific job both on offense and defense. Schnad hit for ten points in the third period and regularly stole the ball from the befuddled Braves. With Schnad leading the way, the Broncs had a 52-29 margin going into the final period. Bronc center Gary Day played a strong game on the boards and led the Broncs with fifteen points.

The Broncs played a tremendous defensive game against Missoula before bowing in the last two minutes of play 55-44. With two minutes remaining, the Broncs trailed by three. A tight zone defense employed by Billings kept the game close all the way with Missoula leading 14 to 9 at the quarter and 25-22 at the half. Third quarter score was 39-32, the largest margin until the final score. The game was nip and tuck all the way with Lewis, 6'-8" center for Missoula, keeping them in the game. Because the Broncs weren't hitting, Coach Lazetich tried substituting to find some scorers from the bench. Again Ken Schnad came off the bench to swish three quick baskets and a free throw to spark the offense. He also stole the ball to set up other scores. The Broncs put on a press to try to get the ball as Missoula started to stall, but the Missoula fast-break broke the game wide open. Mack Anderson did a good job on the boards and scored five points.

Anderson maneuvers for position as Brickley shoots for two points.

Dailey and Schnad hit ten apiece. The big difference was a 55% for Missoula from the field compared with 35% for Billings.

Billings West squared the count against the Broncs February 1 in the West Gym with a 71-55 Class AA Conference win. Rivalry wasn't the only thing at stake in this game. The winner gained undisputed control of third place in conference standings. With this loss, the Broncs were 5-4 for season play.

The end of the first quarter saw West leading 12 to 9 and as the Broncs went cold, percentage-wise, the lead was stretched to 34 to 21 at the half.

The first 5 minutes of the third quarter was a tough one for the Broncs. At one point the Bears' lead was stretched to 17, but the Broncs didn't quit. They kept scrapping until they had reduced the West advantage to 44-39.

As the fourth quarter opened, Brickley hit a field goal to make it 44 to 41. But West came roaring back with a wild fast break to out-pace the Broncs for the victory.

Cardwell Berg, whose beautiful, high-arching set shots, and drives for the bucket, kept the Broncs in contention for three quarters scored 16, and Brickley counted for 15.

Post-Season Review of Broncs

Dean Barnett

Cardwell Berg

Dick Brickley

Rick Neill

The Broncs got off to a rip-roaring start in the '62-'63 basketball season. They played ten straight games with only one loss. Then the roof fell in on a road-trip to Anaconda and Butte. The Broncs dropped four out of their next five starts to slip from a tie for first place to fourth. This year's team was one of the best defensive units in the state. Bronc opponents were held to an average 48.9 points a game. This defensive unit had trouble during the four-out-of-five loss period, so this is probably the reason for the losses. Along with the opponents' 48.9 average a game, the Broncs scored an average of 56 points per game. Through three-fourths of the season, the team's offense was led by senior forward Bruce Dailey, with 170, senior guard Dick Brickley, with 163, and junior center Gary Day, with 133 points. With three-fourths of the season gone, Cardwell Berg, fiery little senior guard, had scored 97 points. Even more important, he had turned in top defensive performances, week-end after week-end.

Another senior guard, Ken Schnad, came off the bench many times to spark the Broncs to victory with his hustle and fine defensive play.

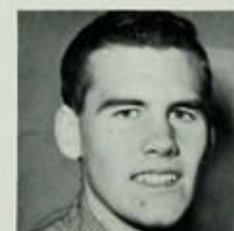

One of this year's big boys didn't do much scoring but he cleared a big path rebounding. Dave Konzen started out the season averaging 13 points a game and, when the conference got under way, started specializing in the rebound department. Many times Dave helped limit the opponents to one shot at the basket by pulling down the rebound.

Bruce Dailey did a fine job this year on both offense and defense. Bruce's highest single game total was 19 against Great Falls. He generally came through with a good defensive game and seven or eight rebounds.

Junior center Dean Barnett always seemed to be able to come off the bench to score eight or nine points. In Dean's first varsity game, he scored 12 points and pulled down almost every rebound that came his direction. Against Helena, Barnett found the hoop for a whooping 20 point total. Keep an eye on this boy next year.

Another junior center, starter Gary Day, was a big hero this year. It was Day's two points with four seconds left in the game that gave the Broncs a 57-56 win over West. Gary was an inspiring scorer and rebounder this year. Coach Laz has high hopes for this boy next year also. He has the sense, size, and ability to be an all-stater.

Dick Brickley was a steady competitor this year, especially during the second Senior-West game, when he came back strongly in the second half. It was Brickley who provided the encouragement which enabled the Broncs to finish the season strongly.

The City . . .

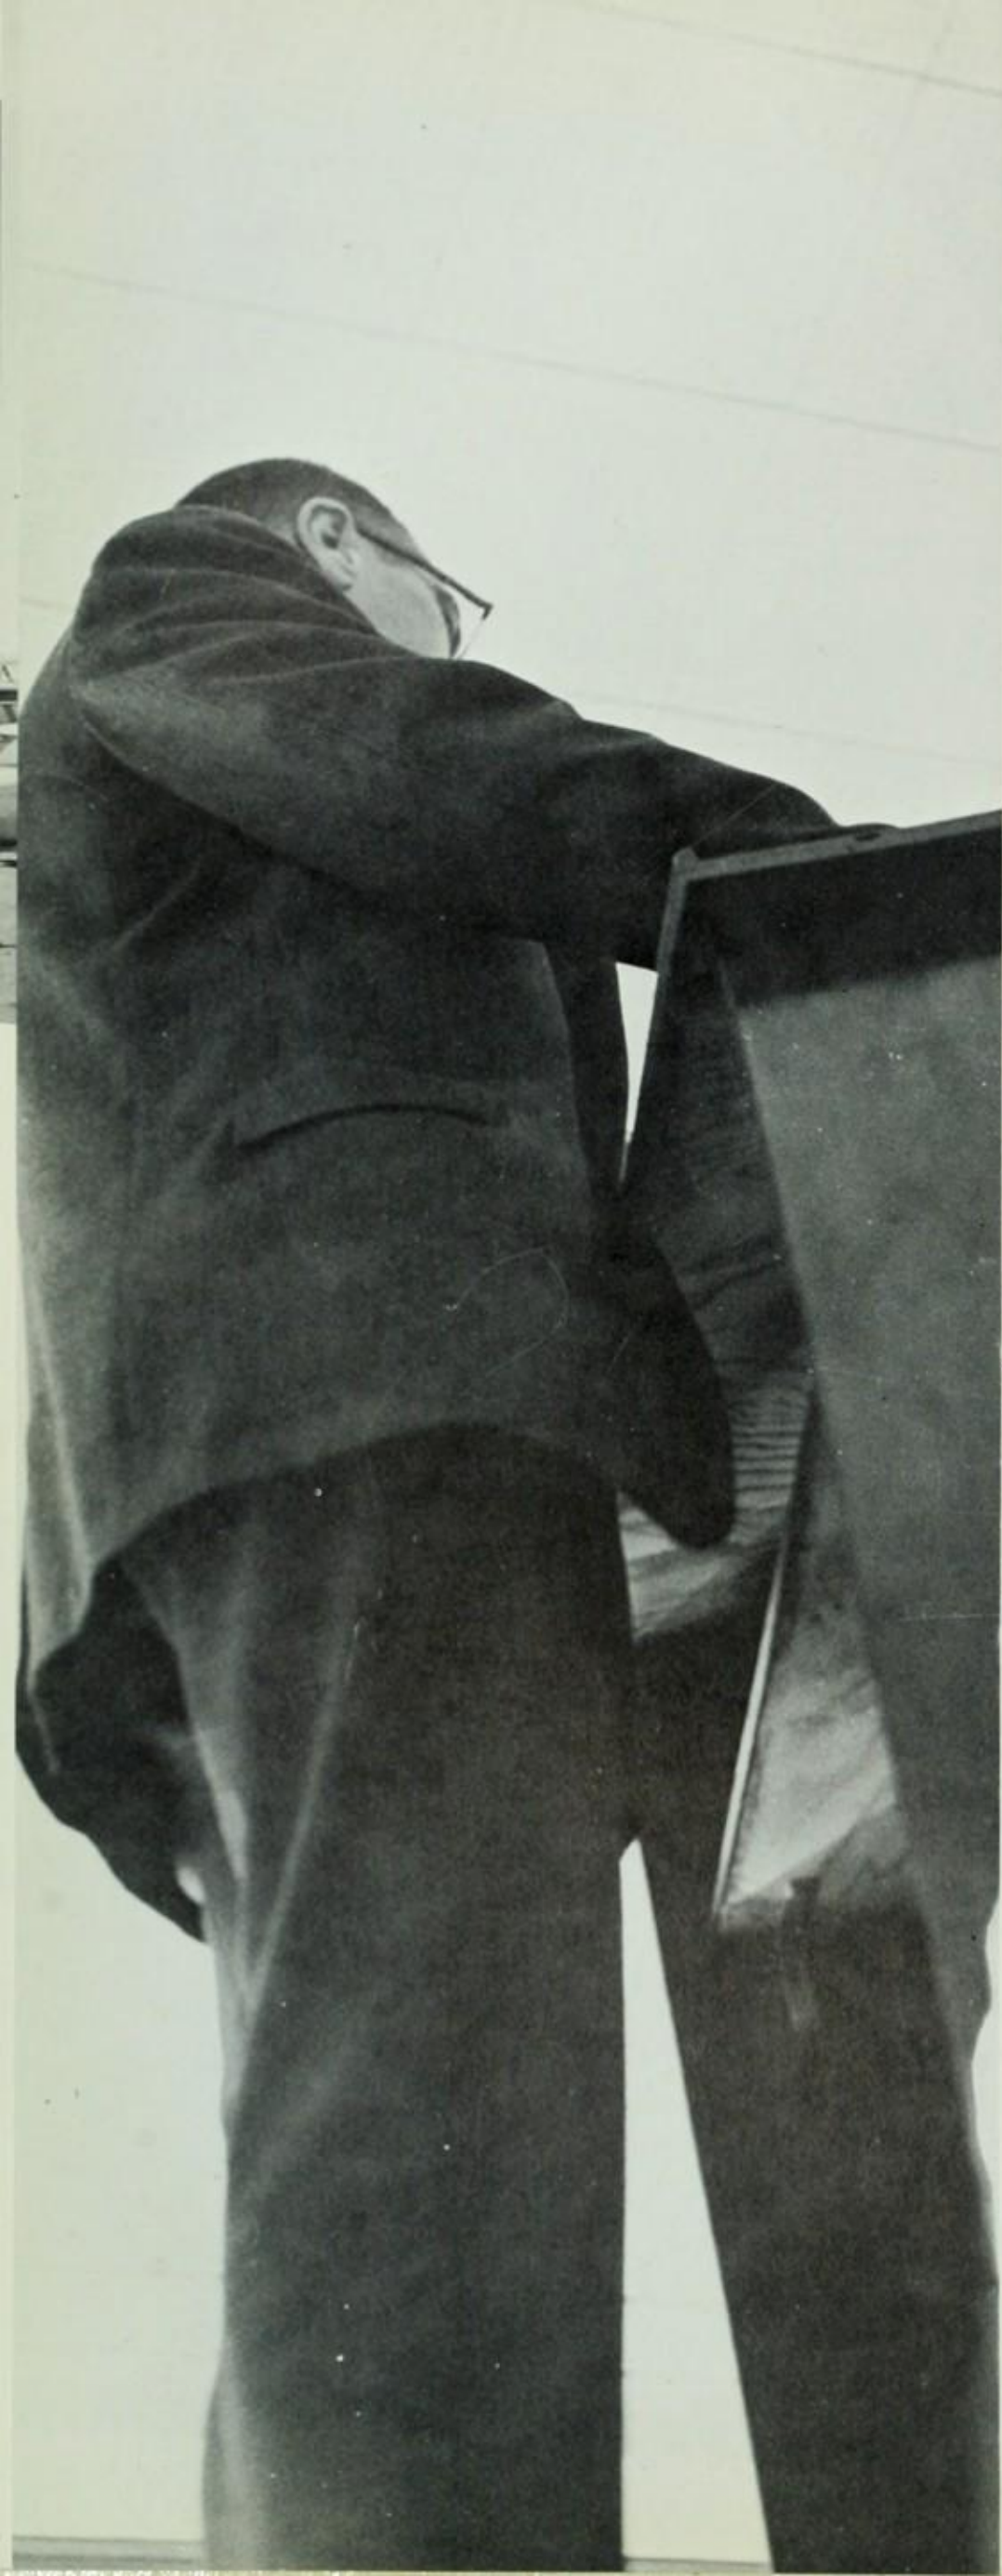

The city is composed of many kinds of people. Some are politicians, some are pilots. Some work in the refinery, some are retailers. Some sell shoes, some sweep sidewalks. Some own gas stations, others weed gardens. They differ in jobs, in methods of recreation, in preferences for food, in number of children, in amount of taxes, in height, in hair color, in make of car. They show varying degrees of interest in city politics, problems, affairs.

But they all have at least one thing in common--they went to school. Here they studied in similar classes and participated in the same activities. They formed habits and personality traits, developed interests, learned a trade. The knowledge and experience which they acquired in school determined the kind of citizen they became. The city cannot disregard the importance of schools or its need for them, for schools supply the city with citizens. The school's products form the pulse of the city.

FACULTY

The faculty serves as one of the most direct links between school and city. Teachers are part of the city---more so than students---and a basic segment of the school. They must often act as diplomats, explaining the school's actions to citizens of the city and interpreting the city's actions to students.

The faculty lives in two worlds, one dominated by adults, the other peopled with students. Faculty members form the bridge between these two worlds, between the present and the future. With their knowledge and experience they must blend the two worlds into one---the city.

Since 1953, Mr. Borberg has served as principal of BHS. His day normally begins at 8:00 a.m., when he arrives at his office, and ends at 4:00 p.m., when he finally closes the door. As a citizen of Billings and as an administrator of the school, he is responsible to the city for the functioning of BHS.

Mr. Collins, vice principal, is a familiar figure to students at BHS. Although his chief duty is assisting Mr. Borberg, he is in charge of changing schedules, supervising the office staff, and keeping attendance records.

Consisting of Mr. Gallagher and seven other members, the School Board meets every month to discuss and settle any problems that arise concerning School District No. 2. The trustees are all prominent business men and outstanding citizens of Billings. The Board hires teachers and formulates policies for the district.

Special Services Aid Students

MRS. SUE HUTTON--Dean of Girls

When she's not advising Senior Counselors or Presidents' Roundtable, our energetic Dean of Girls manages to find time to knit. Her knowledge of the needs of sophomores aids the Senior Counselors in planning activities. Mrs. Hutton is always ready to assist BHS girls with a smile or a word of encouragement. Before her appointment as Dean of Girls nine years ago, she taught biology at BHS.

MR. GUS NASH--Dean of Boys

Mr. Nash, who has been Dean of Boys for four years, is the assistant basketball coach and head track coach. At basketball games he nervously tears strips of tape, rolls them into balls, and pitches them to the floor. He is co-advisor, with Mrs. Hutton, of Senior Counselors and Presidents' Roundtable as well as the sponsor of XL, boys' pep club. Mr. Nash taught civics and history before becoming Dean of Boys.

MR. JOHN BILLS--Counselor

On Tuesday evenings Mr. Bills can be found at the Naval Reserve Center. He is a lieutenant commander in the Navy Reserve. As counselor at BHS he adjusts schedules, enrolls new students, supervises PSAT and NMSQT tests. He also helps seniors fill out college applications and advises on careers. During the spring and summer months, Mr. Bills plans classes and schedules for the coming year.

MRS. MARIETTA PETERS--Counselor

Mrs. Peters is usually found working as guidance counselor in her office. But in her spare time she collects fossils, works on a hooked rug, or mounts pictures of wild flowers. Besides sponsoring Z Club, her duties parallel those of Mr. Bills. Students may discuss their scholastic problems with her. Mrs. Peters has been a counselor at BHS for four years.

MRS. VERA SWANSON--Secretary

Vera, as Mr. Borberg's secretary, makes appointments for him and handles phone calls and written correspondence. In the spring she types and alphabetizes diplomas. All PA announcements must be given to her by 8:30 the day they are to be read. Vera is always ready to help student or teacher.

MRS. DOROTHY MORRISON--Secretary

Dorothy, new to BHS last year, assists Mr. Collins with attendance records. She also does general office work such as typing letters, filing records, answering the phone, making out call slips, typing stencils, and running the ditto and mimeograph machines. She assigns office tasks and supervises the OD's.

Teachers Have Activities Too!

MRS. SUE AUSBURN

Mrs. Ausburn, a new faculty member this year, teaches English 10. After a hard day of correcting papers, explaining prepositional phrases, or reading book reports, she relaxes by playing the piano. Mrs. Ausburn has played the piano since first grade and prefers semi-classical music.

MRS. MARY BODINE

Mrs. Bodine, also a new teacher, keeps busy reading. Because she teaches English 10 and 12, she has to keep up with the new books. She sponsors FTA; as a teacher she can give the members some practical advice and interesting discussions.

MR. CHARLES BOYD

Mr. Boyd keeps fit by golfing, which is a favorite pastime of many of the faculty members. He explains theorems and postulates to baffled geometry students; why $x = \frac{-b \pm \sqrt{b^2 - 4ac}}{2a}$ to puzzled Algebra 9 students.

MR. ARTHUR BRANDVOLD

Mr. Brandvold, director of all the choral groups, is pictured here with a tuba. It is over a hundred years old and belonged to Mrs. Brandvold's father. Since they are no longer manufactured, tubas are seldom seen today. Because of his able direction, people expect excellent choruses from BHS.

MRS. VERA BRUEGGER

Mrs. Bruegger, who teaches personal typing and transcription and sponsors FBLA, enjoys creating new dishes. In a contest held this fall by the Billings Gazette, many of her receipts received honorable mention. Fifth and sixth periods Mrs. Bruegger discusses the progress of girls taking Work Experience with their temporary employers.

MISS CATHERINE COLOSKY

Miss Colosky's coin collection consists of American and Canadian coins. Her father saved coins, and his collection formed the basis of hers. Miss Colosky teaches Latin 9 and 10. She is co-sponsor of Pep Club and sponsor of Junior Classical League.

your future!*

MR. HENRY COX

Mr. Cox devotes most of his time to teaching government. By teaching civics he instructs students in the responsibilities of local, state, and federal government. By sponsoring Student Council, he stimulates interest among students in government. He is an assistant football coach and when he finds time, he golfs.

MR. JAMES DUECKER

"All right, back at the end of the line," booms Mr. Duecker when he is on cafeteria duty. He teaches Modern World History 12 and World History 10 during the rest of the day. He is active in intramurals and is sponsor of Forensics.

Twelve Teachers Join Faculty

MR. C. A. ELIASON

When hunting season arrives, Mr. Eliason heads for his favorite area. It is well known, and Mr. Eliason admits, that hunting geese is not one of his better sports. Interested in school affairs, he sponsors Billings Key Club and teaches civics.

MR. ARCHIE ELLIOT

The sets for the school productions this year were the result of Mr. Elliot's work. Not only did he create them, but he supervised the stage crew in both assembling and tearing down the sets. He teaches Art 10, 11, and 12.

MISS PATRICIA GILL

Reading as a pastime isn't the exclusive property of English teachers. Miss Gill, a math and language teacher, verifies this. She teaches two classes of German and three of plane geometry. Besides teaching, she sponsors German and Kinetic Clubs. Her reading assists her in planning programs for both clubs.

MR. C. W. GILMORE

Anyone needing a phonograph, projector, or microphone must ask Mr. Gilmore about it. Because he is head of the AVA Department, he assigns various duties to AVA Club members. He teaches biology and physical science. Practicing marksmanship with his pistol is his favorite outside activity.

MR. DON GLYNN

Whenever he explains economics to his students, Mr. Glynn uses shoes for an example. He uses these and many other examples to aid in teaching civics and American history. Mr. Glynn, active in intramurals, coaches the basketball teams.

MR. CLARENCE GRIEP

Mr. Griep will agree that the hardest part of camping is putting the equipment away. Nevertheless, he manages to spend part of the summer camping with his family. This year his American history classes were especially interesting because of the eight weeks he spent studying at Stanford University.

Discussions Enliven Classes

MR. KEREL HAGEN

Mr. Hagen points out the general vicinity of Glacier National Park where he worked this summer as a guide. Besides giving information about the park, he directed inquisitive tourists to scenic views. Wintertime finds him guiding students through civic and American history courses five hours a day. In addition, he assists the wrestling coach.

MR. WALT HALL

Aviation is Mr. Hall's special interest. He himself is a navigator. He writes books about aviation and teaches Aviation Ground School, which covers such subjects as meteorology, navigation, and instrument flying. Here at BHS he teaches biology and chemistry.

MR. DEWEY HANSEN

In the spring Mr. Hansen, a captain in the Air Force Reserve, presents the academy appointment to a senior boy at the Awards Assembly. Along with other male members of the faculty, he supervises the cafeteria. The other periods of his day are devoted to teaching civics and Montana history.

MR. HENRY HARSCH

On Thursday Mr. Harsch can be found reading galley for the Kyote paper. The publishing of this paper consumes much of his spare time. During the remainder of the day, he teaches English 10. Outside of school he enjoys gardening, fishing, and photography.

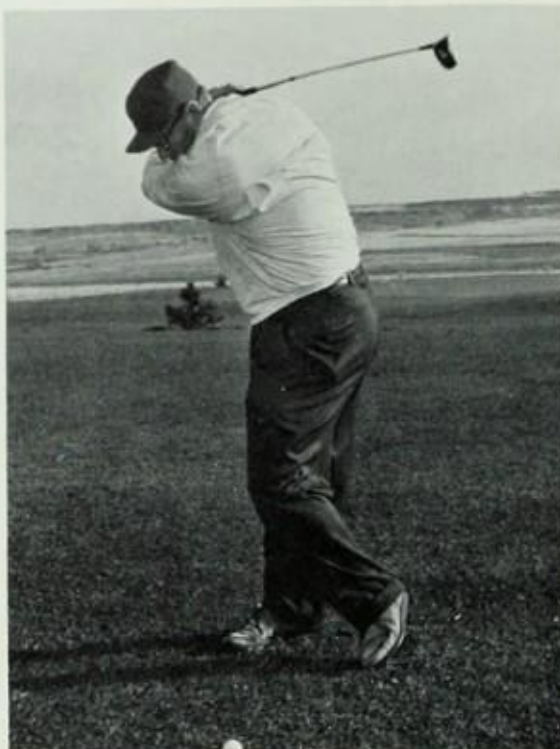

Faculty Sponsors Various Clubs

MRS. ANN HILLMAN

The smell of freshly-made bread wafts through Mrs. Hillman's house on Saturday afternoon. Her dinner guests particularly enjoy her revival of this seldom-seen custom. Monday through Friday she teaches English 10.

MR. DANIEL HOGGATT

Any strange odors on third floor come from Mr. Hoggatt's chemistry room. Here students can discover the secrets of the atom or the composition of a commercial product. Mr. Hoggatt sponsors Argon Club. Golfing, as well as swimming, hunting, and fishing, keeps him physically fit.

MR. SHERMAN HUBLEY

Boy Scouts occupy Mr. Hubley's spare time. He is scout master of Troop 201. He teaches American history, aided by the map painted on the back wall of his room. He also sponsors Yellowstone Key Club.

MR. JAMES JACKSON

Mr. Jackson is a good friend to all club treasurers. Because he is the school treasurer, all money must be turned in to him; all money paid out comes from him. He teaches typing, bookkeeping, and notehand. He is a rockhound in his spare time.

MRS. HELEN JOHNSON

To give Seniors a good background in English is Mrs. Johnson's primary goal. She not only tries to prepare the senior for graduation, but she also works exceptionally hard for his future in college. She is always striving to make a student learn to think for himself.

MISS PATRICIA JORGENSEN

Miss Jorgenson returned to teaching this year, after completing work on her Master's Degree. The first three periods, she teaches at other schools; fourth, fifth, and sixth periods she conducts biology classes at BHS. To keep informed on the latest news, she reads.

Several Teachers Coach Teams

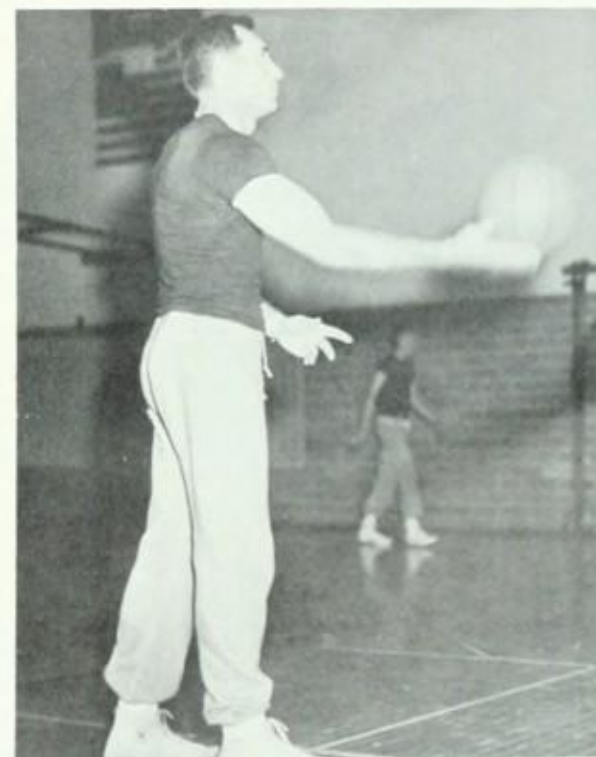

MR. FREDERICK KASER

Mr. Kaser, better known as "W7CRV" to his radio friends, is a ham radio operator. Students know him as a physics teacher. He built all of the equipment himself. BHS also has a license to operate and Mr. Kaser hopes to interest some students in this fascinating hobby.

MR. JOHN KOSICH

At the first mention of football, Mr. Kosich's name comes immediately to mind. He is both head football coach, and assistant track coach. As a coach, Mr. Kosich is sponsor of Letterman's Club. He also teaches civics and boys' gym.

MRS. MARY LARSEN

As a French teacher, Mrs. Larsen has to make sure her students learn the proper pronunciation of the language. She accomplishes this with the help of recordings. In the summer she works as a librarian at Parmlly Billings Memorial Library. Mrs. Larsen sponsors the BHS French Club.

MR. WILLIAM LAZETICH

As basketball season nears, Mr. Lazetich starts preparing the team for its first game by conducting practice every night after school. Mr. Lazetich teaches boys' gym and patrols the cafeteria fourth period. In the spring he assists Mr. Nash, head track coach, with the track team.

MR. TOM McCORMICK

An avid hunter, Mr. McCormick prepares for hunting season by cleaning and oiling his gun, and seeing that all other equipment is in good condition. Mr. McCormick teaches Vocational Agriculture 10, 11, and 12, and sponsors Future Farmers of America.

MR. VERN McDERMOTT

Snow means skiing for Mr. McDermott, Algebra 9 and plane geometry teacher at BHS. At the first sign of cold weather, he digs out his skis and begins work on them. He wants to be ready when the first snowfalls.

MR. RAY MARS

Fishing is Mr. Mars's favorite sport. To enjoy it fully, he must make the necessary preparations. He has to gather his rods, gear, bait, and most important, decide where to fish. Mr. Mars teaches English 11 when school is in session.

MR. LLOYD MICKELSON

Mr. Mickelson, English 11 teacher, can testify that producing a play is a big job. Because he is co-sponsor of Dramatics, he is responsible for casting and directing, and solving all the problems that crop up in the production of a play.

Faculty Helps Students

MISS PHYLLIS MILLER

"1,...2,...3,...4,..." echoes in the gym as Miss Miller, girls' gym teacher, puts the sophomore girls through their paces. To spark further interest in athletics, Miss Miller sponsors Girls' Athletic Association and often officiates at their games. Girls' track, started by Miss Miller, is in its second year. She also sponsors cheerleading.

MR. BERNARD MYERS

Mr. Myers, who teaches Math 12 and 13, spends much of his spare time every fall coaching cross-country boys--working them out each day after school and accompanying them to out-of-town meets. Throughout the school year he is responsible for the activities of Math Club and National Honor Society.

MISS FRANCES NEAL

The unusual marks on the board in Miss Neal's room do have meaning--to shorthand student. Besides shorthand, Miss Neal teaches the art of typing a perfect letter to her Typing 11 class. Because she sponsors majorettes, she works with them every first period.

MR. OWEN NELSON

The first spring day reminds Mr. Nelson of the garden that he planned last winter. Armed with rake, spade, fertilizer, and his "green thumb," he undertakes the task of carrying out his plans. When winter arrives, he cultivates the minds of his Algebra 11 and plane and solid geometry students.

MR. CHARLES NESBIT

"But you must learn to be parallel in construction!", stresses Mr. Nesbit. This rule for writing themes is well known by his English 12 students, as is "I cannot tolerate preciousness." He devotes himself entirely to teaching. It is his vocation as well as his avocation.

MRS. MARJORY NIELSEN

Mrs. Nielsen's hobby is easy to guess, considering the classes she teaches. Her hobby is sewing and her classes, Home Economics 10, 11, and 12, and Home-making 12. Home Ec, isn't all sewing, however. It also includes cooking, child care, and knitting.

Good Study Habits Are Encouraged

MR. NELS OLSON

Bowling, a popular sport, is a favorite of Mr. Olson. But bowling is just one of several pastimes he enjoys. He is assistant football coach and head wrestling coach. Besides sports, Mr. Olson teaches Art 10 and drivers' training.

MR. ARLISS PACKER

On week-ends, Mr. Packer prospects. He is not the old-fashioned type of prospector, with pick, shovel, and mule, but the modern kind, with car and geiger counter. He does not search just for uranium, but for any valuable minerals. During the week, Mr. Packer instructs plane geometry and Algebra 11.

MR. ROBERT PETERSON

Working with leather is Mr. Peterson's hobby. He produces a variety of leather articles---hand bags and coin purses for example---with original designs. Mr. Peterson teaches Mechanical Drawing 9 and 10 and woodshop.

MR. THOMAS POWELL

Mr. Powell, a new teacher this year, taught at BHS as a student teacher two years ago. He teaches Spanish 10, 11, 12. Spanish Club, which he sponsors, was formed to interest its members in Spain and Spanish culture. For relaxation, he plays the organ.

MR. WILLARD RAMSETT

Explaining the ups and down in world history is Mr. Ramsett's job. World History 10 is sometimes a difficult course but an enriching one. Mr. Ramsett likes to work with his power saw to create art with wood. He sponsors the BHS political club, Elphandonk.

MR. STAN RICHARDS

Mr. Richards shows here that upkeep of a house is a big job. As director of the BHS band, however, he is better known holding a baton than a paint brush. In the time remaining after school, band practices, and painting, he leads a band of his own which plays at several of the BHS dances.

Seniors Prepared for College

MR. R. G. ROBERTSON

Like many of the faculty members, Mr. Robertson keeps in tune with the times by reading everything from classical work to modern novels. As an active, outdoor avocation, Mr. Robertson enjoys horseback riding. He teaches Typing 11, business law and personal typing.

MR. WILLIAM RONEY

Mr. Roney goes where the "big ones" are. With excellent equipment and know-how he usually catches them. Fishing is his favorite sport. When winter arrives, Mr. Roney returns to teaching biology at BHS.

MRS. SHIRLEY STEELE

Mrs. Steele displays the collection of antique glasses in her home. She keeps a lookout for other antique glassware that could be added to her collection. She teaches English 11, Business English, and journalism. Her journalism class publishes the annual.

MISS MYRTLE STEEN

Evidence of Miss Steen's hobby is not hard to find. The beautiful, hand-knitted sweaters she wears are the result of hours of work. Nor does she restrict herself to plainknitting--many of her sweaters show intricate designs. Miss Steen teaches English 12.

MISS CLARA STRUTZ

"Try-outs will be in 215" is announced over the P.A. Miss Strutz, co-sponsor of Dramatics Club, judges try-outs for school productions. Any hopeful stars must talk to her. Miss Strutz's English 10 classes are enlivened by her interpretation of the plays studied.

MR. ROBERT THORSON

Spring and summer months are filled with baseball for Mr. Thorson, Little League coach. Training the future major league players brings much satisfaction to Mr. Thorson. He teaches bookkeeping and advanced bookkeeping to BHS students.

Faculty Has Varied Hobbies

MISS PEARL VANDERSLOOT

Sketching with pastels is Miss Vandersloot's favorite pastime. A new teacher this year, Miss Vandersloot teaches English 10 and French 10. She also sponsors AK, a girls' service club. She helps them initiate their projects.

MR. HOWARD VANOVER

After teaching woodshop and advanced woodshop five periods a day, it would only seem logical that Mr. Vanover's boat would be built of wood. Strangely enough it's aluminum. "Easier to care for", states Mr. Vanover, since it has to be kept in storage for three seasons of the year.

MR. JERRY WALKER

Mr. Walker, who teaches drivers' training and gym, is another faculty member active in sports. He no sooner finishes coaching the football team than he begins directing intramural basketball. Spring brings track season, and Mr. Walker once again is coaching. With all this he still finds time to hunt.

MR. FREDERICK WEBBER

Keeping a car in top running condition is a big job. Mr. Webber can testify to this. Weekends he works on his father's farm. Mr. Webber, a new teacher this year, teaches plane geometry here at BHS.

61 Teachers Staff BHS

MR. ROBERT WILSON

A cash register, rattles and money jingles in room 219 where Mr. Wilson and his students operate a DECA store. Mr. Wilson prefers reading to any other hobby. He teaches sales and sponsors DECA Club. Fifth and sixth periods, he consults with the employers of his students.

MR. ROBERT YOUNG

Mr. Young spends many hours of patient rehearsal with the orchestra for the annual musical. Each part must be timed to harmonize with all others in the final production. He teaches orchestra one period at BHS. This summer he played with a symphony orchestra.

MR. ROBERT ZUPAN

Mr. Zupan's spare time seems to be taken up entirely with sports. Colt football and basketball are activities for which he is given recognition. During the track season he assists Mr. Nash, head track coach. Mr. Zupan teaches Algebra 9 and plane geometry.

Janitors and Janitresses

BHS would be a sorry-looking place without its janitors and janitresses. Dirty drinking fountains, unwaxed and littered floors, dusty desks, and overflowing garbage cans would be a common sight. Since the janitors are also responsible for the grounds surrounding the school, the lawn would be unmowed and dry, hedges would grow untrimmed, and flower beds would not be weeded. As any janitor can say, caring for the school is a big job.

Approximately 1400 students eat in the cafeteria five days a week. The seven women who work in the cafeteria prepare lunches every day. Meals run from meat broth and potatoes to turkey dinner, from hotdogs to tomato soup and sandwiches, from chili to pizza.

Keepers of the School

Good health is essential for students. Mrs. Pfeifer, school nurse, is always available for consultation by students. In the fall, each student must fill out a health card which she keeps on file. Later in the year, she conducts hearing and sight examinations. To interest students in medical careers, she sponsors Alpha Omega.

A Story of Student Teachers

Every student teacher spends three to four weeks discovering what makes students tick before he begins teaching. Pictured: Mr. Breeden, MSC.

After becoming acquainted with the teacher's procedures, the student teacher makes plans for the day she will take control of the class. Her teacher assists her in mapping class discussions. Pictured: Mrs. Larsen and Miss Hill, RMC.

The presence of student teachers at BHS adds variety and challenge to everyday school life. With the new teaching methods and ideas they present, students are able to obtain a more rounded education. Because student teachers receive credit for the six weeks they teach, their college professor visits their classes and grades them on their teaching ability.

Finally the first day alone arrives; the class is his. Of course he is nervous, but response from the students boosts his morale, and he gains confidence. Pictured: Mr. McGrail, Eastern.

At the end of a long day of teaching, she leaves the building for home to plan tomorrow's classes, knowing that she has as much to learn as her students.

CLASSES

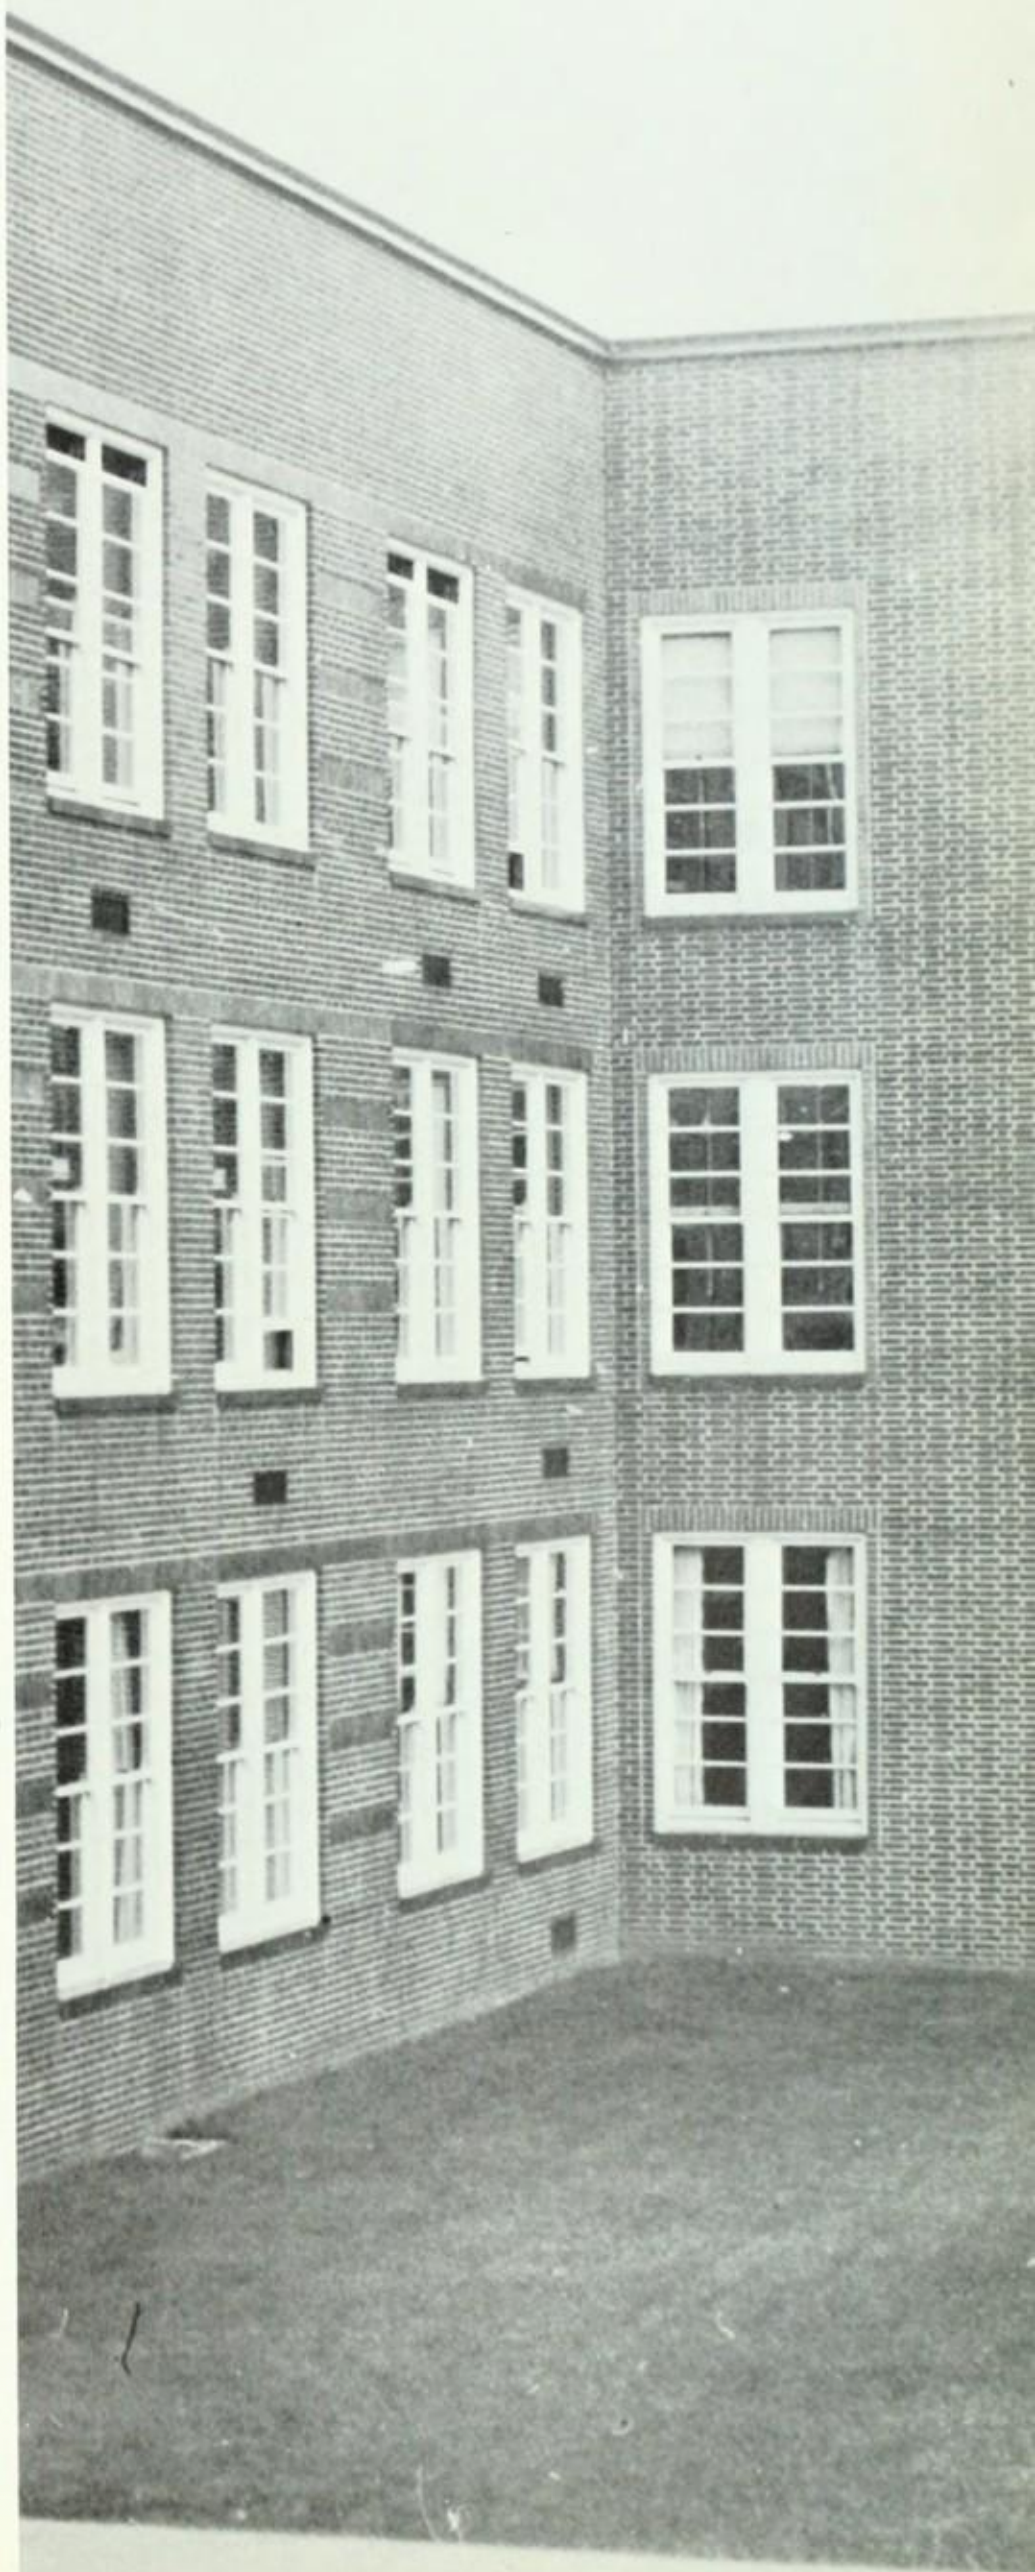

Students are the heart of any school. Sometimes creative, sometimes not, occasionally destructive, more often not---- they are an enigma even to themselves.

Eventually these students will become the heart of the city. By then they will have learned, either through classes or by experience, more about themselves and others, more about their responsibilities to and relationships with the city.

Mo Baby!

We made it! Never thought we would. This year was really cool — maybe a couple too many parties? We still have senior week and summer to look forward to! Majorettes is over at last — I don't know how I lived thru it! Well, I'll be seeing ya soon. Meanwhile, be good! (HA!!)

Love ya,
Nelsene

SENIORS

Since they are in their last year of high school, seniors try to participate in as many activities as possible. Traditionally, the senior class is the outstanding class at BHS. Although it takes the cooperation of all three classes to make a school year successful, seniors usually generate most of the functions at BHS.

The Senior Counselors acquaint sophomores with the school and try to spark interest in all types of activities.

During the '62-'63 class elections, the senior class had the highest percentage of voters. These voters chose Mike Wheeler, Bob Korns, and Donna Zink for president, vice-president and secretary respectively. The opposing candidates were Tony Jackson, Karen Johnson, and Bonnie Persoma. Class officers lead the other senior representatives at student council meetings.

Originality characterizes the students in the Class of '63. For example, instead of clinging to tradition and singing the "S-E-N-I-O-R-S" song, they composed a new one.

The senior class is not lacking in scholastic ability. The seniors claim four National Merit Finalists: Steve Hudgens, Karen Johnson, Rosanne Radford, and Donna Zink.

Senior class officers plan graduation activities: Baccalaureate, Commencement, the Senior Banquet, and the Cap and Gown Dance. They appoint and work on all graduation committees. Pictured from left to right are Bob Korns, Donna Zink, and Mike Wheeler.

12 Attend Boys' or Girls' State

These students became citizens of other states last summer. Tony Jackson, Jim Parker (both sitting on wall), Bob Korn, Charlie Price, Burley Packwood, Bruce Dailey, Luther Garis, and Rick Hutton (not pictured) moved to Boys State in Dillon for the week of August 18-26. Sandi Pierce, Karen Johnson, Betsy Brown and Rozzy Mullen (not pictured) became residents of Montana Girls State at MSC in Bozeman from June 17 to 24.

The BHS delegates set high standards for their successors. Out of the 410 Montana boys attending Boys State, Luther was elected Governor, and Charlie Secretary of State. Betsy, one of the 264 girls at MSC, was elected Girls State Secretary of State. Almost all BHS representatives held an office on either the city or county level.

At the two states, sponsored by the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary, delegates learned about democratic government through lectures and pamphlets; and exercised their knowledge at mock campaign assemblies; city, county, and state elections; city council meetings; party conventions and caucuses; and legislative sessions.

Returning from these mythical states, delegates brought a greater knowledge of the duties and responsibilities of citizens to their school and communities.

8 Boys Play Varsity Basketball

In their junior year, seniors went slightly over their budget in preparing the Junior-Senior Prom. To pay for this extravagance, they sponsored a pizza wagon at the second football game this year. This and other projects caused the deficit, $99, to fall to $45.

Because of Jim Parker's perseverance, Student Council initiated a new project this year to increase school spirit. The project was selling orange-and-black victory vests for the B-Day game with Great Falls. Homeroom representatives took orders for these vests.

When the vests arrived, the extras were sold at a table in front of the cafeteria. (left) Jim Parker displays the vests to a curious student; (right) a group of seniors discuss the vests with Jim.

Being a senior is usually an incentive to attend school dances. Seniors realize this is their last year to attend. BHS after-game dances will never be open to them again, so they make the most of their last year. Some go only to have something to do; some go to set a good example for the sophomores and juniors; some just to meet their friends. Identified are (left to right) Pam Munsen, Janet Tirrell, Dave King, Linda Eames, Bonnie Persoma, and Diane Leach.

The Kyote Paper Staff has a busy schedule. Vital deadlines must be met each week in order to have the paper come out twice a month. Joy Buck, Ellie Powers, Karyl Keup, Judy Jeffers, and Doug Barnes spend most of their time thinking.

Because members of the Annual Staff have so much work to do, each requires his own desk. These desks were procured from the typing department. Karen Johnson, Carlene Ames, and Terri Barnett race down the hall with some new furniture for the journalism room.

The one place in school a student visits most is his locker. In his sophomore year, each student receives a locker which he keeps until he graduates. Pictured: Burley Packwood.

To enliven school spirit this year, Pep Club members made pompoms. Girls in each class met at the homes of three cheerleaders. This project was undertaken previous to the West High-Senior High football game. Identified are Alma Peterson, Margie Price, Cheryl Galiardi, Debbie Smith, Kaaren Marsh, Judy Roll, and Celie Freeman.

4 Seniors Rate as National Merit Semi-Finalists

Who says boys don't dance at after-game dances? Seniors Doug McClelland and Bob Everson proved otherwise as they did the Twist together. Evidently their dates refused to Twist, and they resorted to the only course open to them.

Home Ec. 12 girls prepare for their future years as homemakers. Georgia Asp, Peggy Fisher, Georgine Mavrakis, and Diane Trenka are participating in a hobby that is fast becoming popular among women in the United States. By-products of knitting are the music of clicking needles and the gossip of rattling tongues.

Jacquie Allen, one of the majorette managers, has a most difficult job in the corps. She does all the paper work, takes roll each morning, does the recording with the band, attempts to keep the majorette room clean, and does all odd jobs.

Marcia Moline and Suzy Llewellyn can testify that Majorettes is not all drill work. Suzy and Marcia plan the formations on paper, and then introduce their ideas to the others. As practice begins, these girls must see that lines are kept straight and corners sharp.

The best way to obtain information about college is to talk with members of the administration at a college. Since there are two colleges in Billings, this is a logical and sensible thing to do.

One of the main concerns of college-bound students is their financial situation. Preparing for college means saving money. At the Awards Assembly in the spring, a number of seniors received scholarships ranging from $50 to $1800. These scholarships are given by private organizations and corporations. Students can also apply for scholarships from Eastern if they are at least B students.

In the Minds of Seniors . . .

After typing, proofreading, and re-typing applications for college, the final letter is put in the mail. The only thing left to do is wait. BOTTOM: Right, In the meantime, a student can check out books from the school library to help him further his preparation for college. TOP: Right, At last he receives the letter he has been waiting for--notification of acceptance or rejection.

Beginning in the eighth grade, students made tentative plans for college. Deans and counselors helped select subjects that the student would enjoy and benefit from the most. Everyone took tests that were given to see where his aptitudes and interest lay. In high school, parents, deans, and counselors help seniors decide which college is best for them. Mr. Bills and Mrs. Peters discuss with the students profiles from tests taken throughout their high school years.

College Preparation Is Foremost

LEFT: In their senior year, many students become confused about what profession they are interested in. At Eastern a career conference was held for senior girls. Representatives from various professions informed the girls about their work. RIGHT: Many colleges require their applicants to take certain tests for college entrance. For some these tests applications must be filled out and registration fees paid. Every student should take these tests.

When Ali is not attending school activities, doing homework, or just having fun, he finds time to write letters home. At this particular time, he was writing the names of some friends in Arabic, his native language.

Ali's Second Home and Family

RIGHT BOTTOM: Our school spirit didn't take long to envelop Ali, a faithful supporter of the Broncs. The Bronc on his wall and his victory vest are evidence of this. He is wearing his native costume. RIGHT TOP: Ali enjoys playing the piano and singing in Arabic. His favorites are hit-parade songs. When he first started collecting American records, he had trouble with the different sizes and speeds of the records. LEFT BOTTOM: Snow was something new to Ali, but he had no trouble adjusting to it. However, he makes his snowballs a little larger than we do.

The juniors are the middlemen at BHS. They have matured beyond the sophomore stage of not knowing exactly what will happen next, but they have not yet reached the senior level of initiating new ideas and leading the development of tradition. Juniors form the active followers, the support all functions must have.

In the junior class elections Dwight Fleck, Kristine Keup, and Toby Green were elected president, vice president, and secretary respectively. Also running were Bruce Baughman for president, Diane Wescott for vice president, and Susie Roesler for secretary. The main duty of the officers is planning the Junior-Senior Prom.

Four juniors, Kristine Keup, Toby Green, Gary Day, and Mack Anderson, were chosen in the fall as AFS Semi-Finalists. They may have a chance to live in and attend school in a foreign country for a period of three months to a year.

Juniors Ramsey Miller, Barbara Trott, and Dee Turner played leading roles in the fall play, The Night of January 16. Also appearing in the play were Dave Armstrong, Marcia Fain, and Randall Hodgdon.

Junior boys were active in the sports scene this year. Varsity football, basketball, and wrestling, as well as the intramural program, boasted a good junior turnout. The training they received will help make future Bronc teams the best in the state.

Junior class officers elected this fall were Kristine Keup, vice president; Dwight Fleck president; and Toby Green, secretary. These officers plan and sponsor the Junior - Senior Prom.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomores began the school year in the unfamiliar halls of BHS. On their first day they formed an idea of the harried existence of a high school student. This concept probably did not change much as the year progressed. Senior Counselors helped them get settled by explaining how to get into clubs, how to buy annuals and activity tickets, how to run for offices in class elections, and where to find any information they need. By the second week sophomores were oriented in the school; by the second month they knew approximately what to expect in the way of club meetings, football games, and homework; by the end of the year they were practised in working on club committees and budgeting their time for studies.

Considering their year's record, the Class of '65 should be an active one. One sophomore boy lettered on the varsity football team and thirteen sophomore girls performed in the majorette corps. The class as a whole took second place in voting percentages for the class elections.

In the elections, Linda Albright, Jane Roberts, and Lila Jean Weber came out on top. These officers have charge of the Awards Assembly, which is the sophomores' tribute to seniors.

PICTURED: Lila Jean Weber, secretary; Jane Roberts, vice president; and Linda Albright, president.

Ron Scott, a senior DECA student, participates in the work experience program.

Carol Frederick listens to the comments of Vicki Fulton, and Mary Dana as they discuss their colleges at the Y Teens college panel. Mary attends MSU and Vicki attends Stanford University.

BHS Students Show Civic Spirit

Mike Fraser plays the tuba in the brass section of the Billings Symphony this year.

Jim Cook plays the timpani. This is his third year in the symphony.

Carol Sirrine plays the French horn in both the symphony and the All Northwest Band.

Scott Pike and Vern Martinez attend a Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce. A few Key Club boys are excused each week to meet with their sponsoring Kiwanians.

Sandy Pierce, Laura Johnson, and Burley Packwood, Billings Senior High students, work on the City-wide Student Council project of cleaning Yellowstone Kelly's grave this fall.

BHS Serves

Billings Senior High students participate in many extra-curricular activities in the school and the community.

Several Senior High clubs are sponsored by adult clubs in the community. Since they work together on many projects, close ties exist between sponsor clubs and their high school affiliates. The Key Clubs are sponsored by the Billings Kiwanis Clubs. Boys from the Key Clubs attend the luncheon meetings of the Kiwanians each week.

City-wide Student Council, an organization made up of members from the junior high schools and two high schools, promotes all-school dances and other civic projects, such as the cleaning of Yellowstone Kelly's grave this fall.

BHS girls perform many duties in the two hospitals, acting as Candy Strippers. Their duties vary from feeding patients to assisting in the physical therapy room.

Many students, particularly those who participate in the DECA program, have jobs in the community. Student employees can be seen in almost every business establishment in the city.

Since most seniors are interested in college, Y Teens, a girls' club for Senior and West High students, presented a college panel this winter, composed of graduates of both schools who described their colleges.

The Billings Symphony boasts many student members. Students feel this participation gives them good experience in cooperating with adults.

Through their high school activities, students train for many facets of civic life.

Barbara West worked as a Candy Striper this summer at Deaconess Hospital. She assisted in the physical therapy room.

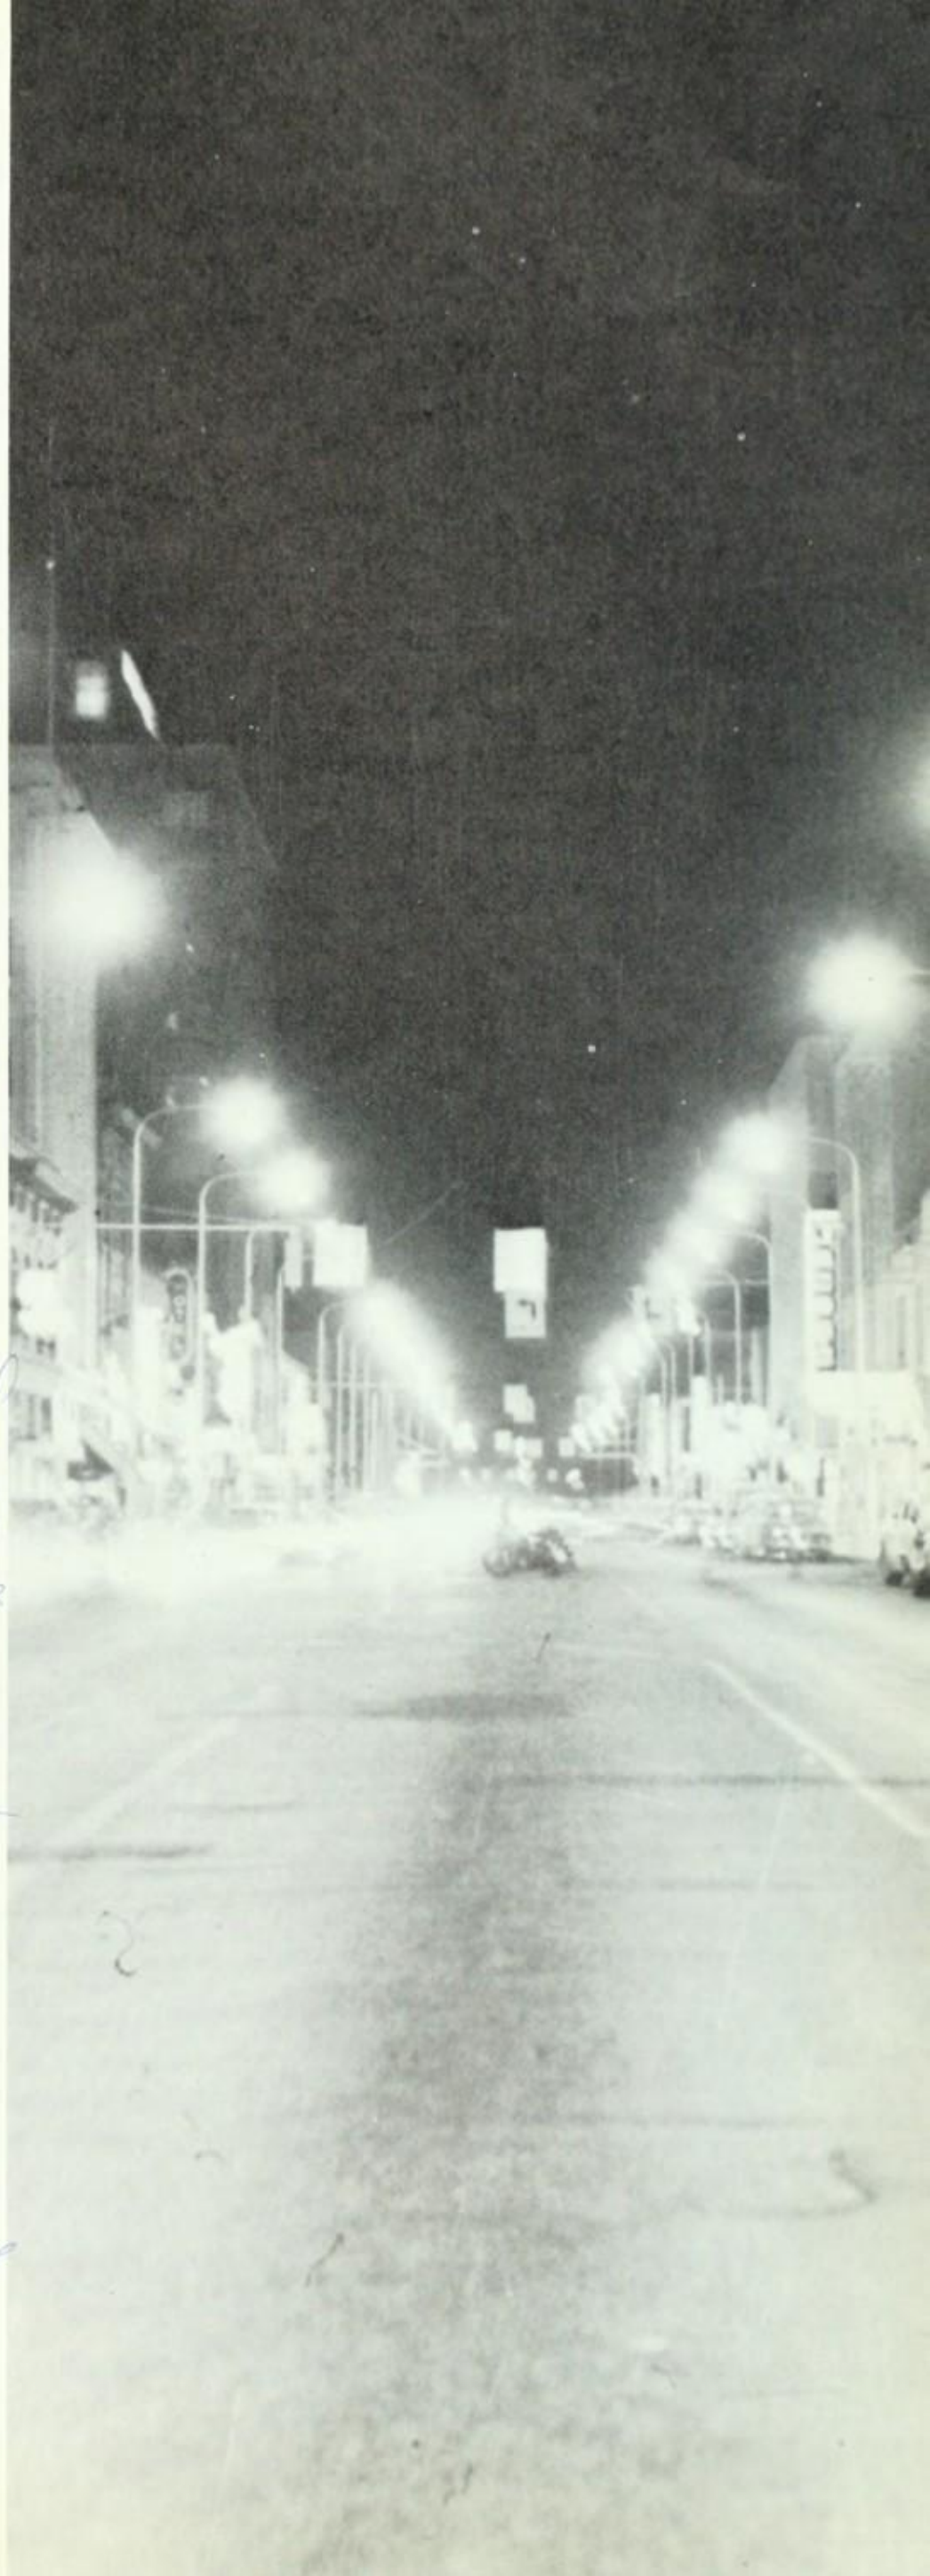

ADVERTISING

These merchants form a direct link between city and school. Students buy clothes, food, school supplies, equipment from them. In turn, merchants help support many of the schools projects by advertising in school publications, donating space for advertisements in their buildings, lending equipment for various functions--trucks for B-Day floats, stage props for plays, or decorations for dances.

The Kyote staff would like to thank its advertisers, who helped make this book possible. Special thanks go to Policeman Harry Svela and Charles Hensley for protecting the photographer who took this picture and to the mayor and members of the city council for permitting the picture to be taken.

Dear Mole—
My god— Have we had a year! That's about all I can say about it — We've sure had our troubles like B-Day and our good times like last Saturday and our "Be good" times like Tournament and our crying times and break up times etc., etc —
We'll have to do really a lot this summer and write letters next year cuz I think it might be a little bit lonesome
at Stanford & Wash State
specially with Lou, Pete,
Phyl etc all at Eastern.

Well mon (something I picked up from reading animals) - How could this year possibly have amounted to anything without you. I was so happy when I found out that you & I have the same thing in common. (Let's have that old A.A. "smirk")
 (A.A. = Alcoholics Anonymous). I'll always remember the days of Wine & Roses. - (all the parties etc. at B.N.S.). M Remember B-day (how could you forget it) & my house & Betsy's house & my car and the bowling tourney at 3:00. & Betsy's cabin &
 Conney Dan & just everything - the C. stralitta

"Schnaps house" (maybe even better than B-day) I can't remember

God, mo we'll show them how to have a real party - OK? - OK!
 You Smalley Betsy & I have to get together & make the all master plan. Don't forget that wonderful breakfast I cooked for you. This is B.B.
 I'll never forget the great times. Love you both

Marsha,

Autographs

Marsha,

They called this a study hall but I sure never got much done. We really had the fun though. Got any more notes I can read? Boy!! You'd better settle down! Take good care of yourself this summer. Best of luck to you always.

With all my love
& devotion
Frodo

It has been lots of fun knowing you this year. You are a wonderful person with a personality to match. You are also a good majolette, too. Good Luck in the future.

Luther Davis

Marsha,

Civics has been a lot of fun. Remember Mr. Cox's "wise" sayings? Best of luck always to a really great gal. Joyce Martin

Marcia,

This sure has been some year, hasn't it? Doesn't seem possible that it's almost over. I hope that you'll like Washington and find a real swell guy there for you. None of the boys in this town are good enough for you. I'm not kidding either. Hope I see you some this summer and also during the next few years - Doug McCalland

Dear Modestine Mae, (true)

I am so glad for you for your not having dates all the time cuz if not, man, I don't think I could have made it. Actually, I haven't had as much fun with anyone as this year as I have had with you. I hope summer will find us without having fun or about all else - and I hope you'll have lots of fun & everything in life as well. Love, Zany (Stuck)

Autographs

Marsha,
English has been my worst class this year but at least I could talk to you during "newspaper weeks" which helped considerably. If you go to Washington for 4 years I will probably see you the last 2. Play w/ cool this summer.

Marcia -
you know though
I've bothered and became very perturbed with me at times during practice, I wanted to say I thought you leader was outstanding!
I guess by the time I'm a senior maybets will be a bad word too. I just hope I can hear with it as well as you name.
Best of everything -
Larry Hoffman

Marsha -
Good luck at W.S. O.
Maybe I'll see you at a football game or some thing when we meet
you. Better be careful this summer or you won't make it, though
Dave Yager

Well - we were all just getting started - we've got a lot of summer nights ahead of that need a few girls to brighten 'em up. This year has really been great fun for all of us in spite of all the trouble we've had. The BIG trouble is get to come on Daryl for me - when I not with him - when I don't to his house - but,
make sure he's in it.
See ya lots this summer and you're a real great friend.
Love
Linda

(sorry I can't be serious and wish you luck
but we're just not the serious type)

Autographs

Marcia,
Well it's your last year and I bet
you're glad in a way.
Kinetic Club was a lot of fun with you guys. I pity the club next year. Remember
Ron Scott (big)? and Don and Kathy's wedding.
Have fun next year wherever you are going to school and best of luck always.
Julie
Christensen

Moe -

We've really had many kicks this year haven't we - with tournament, parties & all. it's been quite the senior year.

We're really gonna have to have fun this summer since neither of us have a job.

Marcia, you've been a really good friend &
I know we will always be friends & have fun.

Lots of Luck always &
I see ya lots this summer

Much Love
Linda "Pete"

Moe, Gues what kid - we've finally made it!! It got kind of rough now and then but all in all we've had many picks!! Too bad I've had to work all the time cause I messed out on some swingin' parties. Oh well I'll make up for it I prom I'll rap and gown night fight? Have lots of fun this summer and good luck at Washington State.
See ya,
Jacque

Marcia
I must really sign in your annual to be able to me not always a bum ok.
and get to sign a major letter to go on lots of good work this summer all right?
Ken Schmidt

Hey, Moe!

It looks like this page is reserved for me — since I am your true lover & great friend. We're almost through now forever & ever and I can't believe it — its too great! Its even kind of sad if you think about it real hard!

This has been a great year, though (and for rockin' good times!) and we have actively participated — especially you. I can't tell you to remember them all 'cause you couldn't if you tried — they were great, though. I missed the best one, though — B-DAY — but that just goes to show what a ~~quiet~~ quiet young lady I am (was?) (If I could have only found the house!) Oh, well, we've had our share of equally fun times & a few terrible one's, too. Smalley's slumber party & Betsy's house were great — even if the dog barked loud those nights (fate!) I know you'll be great at Wsu — just like our friend "will be" I'm going to have fun at big C.M.C., too, o.k.? Don't forget I'm your "specialist" friend, Moe, & come home beautiful (if you can!)

Now I'm getting chocked up so I'll say bye! bye!
& I'll see you much, much, much, much, much, much, much, much this summer — we'll rock — checkmate?

Love ya,
Lock

Marcia,

You lucky dog — out in four days — its just isn't fair!! You and Surry did a terrific job with the cops this year. I hope Dian and I can do half as well. See ya this summer and have fun SENIOR WEEK

Judy Sparks

Marcia,
 Oh and I even going to miss you when you leave.
 don't know how I will ever see you. Say Marcia can you really drink I will see. That was for your parents benefit. Really you are a nice girl (every once in a while) be a good girl this summer and maybe next year you can go to college.
 If you don't I'll write you a letter up at your school in Helena every now and then.

Marcia,
 You were a great leader this year. Maybe
 I'll see you this summer.
 I hope next year the corps will be good like it was this year. Good luck in college!
 Margie Page

Marcia,
 I hope you are having a great summer. I'll see you next year.
 Good luck in college!
 (sob! sob!)
 Love,

Marcia,

I've really learned a lot from you this year since you are intelligent and scholar (But try to break the habit of cheating). Also, ~~not that much~~ ~~on the way to~~ ~~the~~ ~~place~~, then you ~~will~~ ~~be~~ ~~gone~~. Remember candy is dandy but liquor will do it quicker.

your Intellectual friend,
Duck Dine

maria,

We've gotten acquainted much better this year since we've been in the same civics and Trig classes.
 Your jokes are great and I'm glad you like and get some of ours.
 Hope I pull out of this class with at least a C-.
 Good Luck

Sony C.

Dear Marcia,
I'm glad now that I went to PHS instead of Kendall. The former broadwater kids are so nice!
Good luck next year
I had fun with that Gen. guy!
Last of week to a silly nice kid (was good went down the agency of one R.S.)
I hope you're nice
Love, Rick
Frank

[illegible]

Suzy

I really wish you (the best of luck always in college) and after. I'll see you maybe this summer & definitely during vacations when you come back.
 H.B. Maybe we'll come on the same day! Love you all more from knowing cool year. Don't the way to this we have

Marcia I've been real fun knowing you this school year. Don't be so hard on the boy's this summer; be sure to have fun (Ho-Ho) at Washington next year
